Long wins beef banner

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Two brothers from southern Lancaster County combined their skills and efforts to win the 1979 Baby Beef Show, which was held here during the Farm Show on Thursday afternoon. The victorious young men were Steve and Sam Long, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Long, Peach Bottom R2.

Although the younger of the two boys, Steve, 15, was the owner of the animal, it was exhibited by Sam, 18. The reason for the switch was that Steve had to stay home due to asthma. "I helped out quite a bit, especially during the last couple of weeks, but Steve did most of the work, and it is his steer," Sam said modestly while cameras and floodlights were still focusing on him in the cavernous Large Arena. The Baby Beef Show is probably the most competitive and electrifying event of all the activities that take place during Farm Show week. As such, it attracts a sizable crowd of onlookers and an "army" of news media representatives. Glory runs high in this event.

"My brother used to joke about it being his steer and yet I'd probably end up taking him to the show to get all the glory," Sam laughed. "It came true!" the smiling young man exclaimed. It wasn't by any means the first time that he has won recognition. Although he has never shown a grand champion of his own at the Farm Show, Sam has on several occasions picked up

Egg entries score high

By KENDACE BORRY

HARRISBURG — R. W. Sauder, Lititz, won five of the ten top awards given to egg exhibitors at the Pa. Farm Show.

The egg producers took home the top placings for the best dozen white eggs, the best dozen brown eggs, best five dozen white eggs, best dozen eggs in commercial class, and best dozen eggs in carton class. In all, they won seven blue ribbons and five plaques.

Other Lancaster County entries which were named winners of special awards included Plain and Fancy Egg Ranch, Elizabethtwon R3, which had the best five dozen brown eggs; Dutchland Farms, Rheems, which had the best entry in the commercial pack class, and Kreider Poultry Farms, Manheim R5, which had the best dozen eggs in broken out quality.

The best dozen eggs in the farmer's class was awarded to Joseph W. Bistline, Landisburg R1. Redwing FArms, Fleetwood R1, had the best five dozen eggs in commercial class; and the best dozen eggs in the junior class was awarded to Duane Stine, Dillsburg R2.

The plaque for the largest and best display of eggs was given to Lancaster County.

All awards were given for eggs of superior quality.

Calling it their "best year ever", Glenn Sauder, processing manager for R. W. Sauder, Inc. told that the work of choosing the eggs for the Farm Show competition really starts about two

Kuzemchak wins again

By KENDACE BORRY

HARRISBURG — This was Julie Kuzemchak's second trip to the Farm Show, and for the second year in a row, the young lady from Pleasant Gap, Centre County, took home the championship in the junior market lamb competition.

The 13 year old miss showed a Hampshire wether named "Hillipkie". Weighing 125 pounds, the lamb competed in the heavyweight division, where the wether was first named that division champion.

Julie reported that the lamb was born in March, and that her uncle brought the animal in for her. She is a member of the Centre County 4-H Club.

The reserve champion market lamb was the reserve champion heavyweight, exhibited by Angela Fought, Carlisle R6. Two years ago, this 4-H'er, also 13 years of age, had the grand champion market lamb.

She showed a 124 pound Hampshire wether, known as "Macho Lamb". She is a member of the Cumberland County Condoquinit 4-H Sheep Club.

The title grand champion showman of the show was awarded to Nancy MacCauley, Atglen R2. The 11 year old girl showed her Suffolk to first win the 11 year old and under showmanship division. Then, using what the judge

Bishop has best hog

By JOAN LIESAU

HARRISBURG - Robert Bishop of Homer City R2, Indiana County, captured grand championship honors with his champion lightheavyweight hog in the junior market swine classes at the 63rd Pa. Farm Show on January 11.

The 17 year old youth is the son of Robert and Dolores Bishop. This was Robert's first time to show at the Farm Show. He said he thought he had a "slim chance" when he came to the show. Comparing his hog with others in the ring, Robert said that he thought there was "no way" he would win. Robert showed a 222 pound Duroc Berkshire cross bred hog. He raised the hog himself. Robert raises about 40 hogs at home as 4-H and FFA projects with his brothers, Donald, 14, and Richard, 16.

The only winning secret that Robert would tell was that they chop their own chop. When asked for more comments he said "I'll never tell."

In the reserve grand champion spotlight was a purebred Duroc owned by Mike Niebauer. Mike is the nine year old son of Paul and Marian Niebauer, Ebensburg R1, Cambria County. He also won his mediumweight class.

Mike is a first year 4-H'er, but he has shown at various fairs in the open shows before, placing high in his classes. Mike raised his winning Duroc at home. Mike said he thought he would do "a little better."

Your horse's feet may need either trimming or shoeing. If toe or heel is too long, the proper slope of the pastern changes. This places undue strain on the tendons that control his foot and hoof, says James P. Gallagher, Extension animal scientist at Penn State.

PACMA Fowl

PACMA-FACTS

The following market is supplied by PACMA-FACTS, a direct marketing organization affiliated with the Pennsylvania Farmers' Association. Participating poultrymen are members of PACMA, which employs a fowl marketing agent, The Farmers' Agricultural Cooperative Trading Society (FACT) - to sell members' fowl. PACMA works directly with the PFA poultrymen in the program.

Farm point prices prevailing for fowl to be marketed by members during the week of January 8 were 15 at plant, 12½ to 13 at the farm.

Eastern Pa. & N.J. Poultry

January 10, 1979

Market steady on light type hens. Offerings moderate and not sufficient to maintain slaughter schedules. Supplies of heavy type limited but interest less aggressive also.

Prices paid at farm: light hen types 12-13, mostly 12½-13.

F.O.B. Plant: 15-16, mostly 15.

Philadelphia Eggs

January 10, 1979

EGGS: Trade sentiment is generally steady with prices holding at unchanged levels. Current egg demand is about moderate. Floor stocks are usually adequate to handle current buying interest.

Prices to retailers - sales to volume buyers, consumer grades white eggs in carton delivered: store door:

A Extra Large 68-73; A Large 67-71; A Medium 63-67.

Delmarva Poultry

January 10, 1979

The market is firm with ready-to-cook demand exceeding available supply. Slaughter is heavy. Asking prices are mostly 48-49 cents for Plant Grade, 49-50 cents for U.S. Grade A. Live supplies are adequate at desirable weights.

Current broiler/fryer negotiated prices for immediate delivery includes mostly multiple-drop shipments to New York City from Delmarva.

RANGE: US Grade A 48-50; Plant Grade 46-48½; Premium X US Grade A 54; Premium X Plant Grade 52.

WTD. AVG.: US Grade A 48.63; Plant Grade 47.51; Premium X US Grade A 54.00; Premium X Plant Grade 52.00.

X - includes special selected competive brands, etc.

U.S. agricultural exports in fiscal year 1979 are expected to rise about 6 per cent from last year's total of $27.3 billion to about $29 billion, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Remember to check the lint trap or filter on your clothes dryer after each load, say Extension home management specialists at Penn State. Keeping the filter clean is a good way to keep the dryer from being an "energy hog." It is a good idea to keep a close check on the outside exhaust and make sure it remains clean. If your dryer can't "breathe" it has to work harder and uses more energy.

From calf to cow, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Are you in the dairy business to stay?

Are you ready to devote an hour or so of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop custom feeding programs for each individual dairy.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your total operation with you. Your goals. Your records. The health and overall condition of your milking cows and young stock. Your management practices. Your roughage feeding program. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

We also conduct laboratory analysis of the roughages you feed to determine their nutrient content.

With the aid of computers, we then design a balanced feeding program specifically tailored to your operation and goals—a program that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, increasing production, or both.

For example, while using a Pennfield customized feeding program, 30 herds this past year averaged 1,688 lbs. more milk and 64 lbs. more fat per cow than the previous year.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

Pennfield Feeds, 711 Rohrerstown Rd., Lancaster, PA 17604. Local calls: Lancaster 299-2561, Red Lion 244-4511. In 717 and 215 areas dial toll free 800-732-0467.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS By DIETER KRIEG, EDITOR

Pennsylvania agriculture deserves a better deal

This year's Farm Show may have marked a turning point in the history of the event. For the past several years the aging complex has been the subject of debates and conversations as to whether it should be torn down and replaced. The official decision, of course, was to spend millions of dollars on renovations. With that, the old facility is bulging at the seams more than ever before.

A number of exhibitors are very disappointed with the new arrangements, to say the least Said one York County Holstein exhibitor "I hate it, and you can quote me on that."

Dairy exhibitors weren't the only showmen who were upset with the new schedule and floor plan The beef people didn't particularly like it, and there were even a number of visitors who disapproved. One visiting family, I was told, stopped in Wednesday to see a certain herd of Holsteins, only to find out that they had gone home Monday evening.

Although not everyone who was directly affected by the changes is expressing displeasure, the majority of them are. According to many of the comments, it wouldn't be so bad if the Farm Show schedule wouldn't be so rushed Understanding that something had to be done with the Farm Show due to the perennial space and revenue problem, livestock exhibitors say they might be willing to go along with the new plan if they don't have come in one day and show the next.

Some dairy cattle exhibitors said they weren't given enough time to display their cattle, and some beef cattle showmen , said they weren't given enough time to prepare for their respective ring events The end result was dissatisfaction. Anticipating just that, a number of exhibitors - especially dairymen - boycotted the show this year in order to protest the new arrangements

It's easy to see why there was so much unhappiness this year, and it's hoped that by next year the planners of the show will have taken grievances into consideration. The way the show was layed out this year just doesn't make much sense.

Let's begin with the large area which for years was known as the dairy barn. It has easy access to the Large Arena, where the shows take place Reason would dictate then that this would be the best place to keep cattle. However, this year it was filled with chickens, ducks, geese, horses, a number of commercial exhibits, and a few cows Most all of the dairy cows were stabled in the beef barn this year.

Dairy cattle came in Saturday before the Farm Show was officially open to the public; they were in ring competition on Monday, and had to be out of the building by Tuesday to make room for the incoming beef cattle Dairy cattle, then, were displayed during the actual Farm Show for just one day Dairymen felt slighted, and rightfully so Said one in a mild-mannered way. "The number 2 industry in the state should reserve more consideration "

Another factor which is indicative of poor planning is that a fine milking parlor was recently added at one end of the dairy barn Except for a few cows, however, the closest animals to it were horses and chickens

As might be expected, milk receivals in the dairy room adjacent to the parlor were down considerably Also, the annual Pennsylvania Dairymen's banquet, held Tuesday, noted a sizable drop in attendance. In past years the banquet fell on the same night as the dairy shows But this year that wasn't the case, and by Tuesday afternoon quite a few exhibitors were home or on their way home.

The new schedule has another serious flaw· What happens when the weather really gets bad? Not only will it cause havoc in transportation, it will bring about some severe situations in caring for them A number of beef cattle entries were kept in vans and trucks this year because of having to wait to get into the building. One bolted from the scene when he was fianlly released from his cramped quarters and led onlookers, including policemen, on a wild chase through town

Another sorry fact of the Farm Show is that so many commercial exhibits have to be outside in the cold Granted, it can't be helped because the present facilities just plain aren't adequate for what Pennsylvania farmers and agribusiness people need

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

ARE YOU GROWING?

Lesson for January 14, 1979

Background Scripture:
Phillippians 3:12-16;
1 John 4:13-21.
Devotional Reading:
Colossians 3:12-17.

A young man in one of my confirmation classes once confessed that he was looking forward to joining the church because it meant he'd no longer have to come to Sunday school. I couldn't fault him for his reasoning, since apparently lots of adults think pretty much the same way.

It is evident that many people believe that Christian growth and nurture are for children and youth who have not yet "arrived." Joining the church for many people signifies that we have reached the goal.

I Press On

It is interesting that so great an Apostle as Paul never felt that he had "arrived." In fact, his concept of being a disciple of Jesus Christ was not one of "arriving" at some point, but of continuing to grow toward a goal always just out of reach. If any man was respected in the early church, he was. Yet it was not false modesty, but conviction that caused him to write to the Philippians: "Not that I have already obtained this or am already perfect; but I press on..." (3:12).

Paul at times likened life to running a race: "I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus" (3:14). Lift was a continual "upward call," not the attainment of a high point upon which to rest and retire. "Let those of us who are mature be thus minded" (3:15). If we are mature, we will keep moving, not stop.

Straining Forward

There are many of us who really are quite satisfied with what we are. We feel no need to grow, to change or to set new goals for ourselves. We are about as loving, committed, generous, faithful, devout, understanding, and so forth as we were two years ago – and as we are likely to be ten years from now. We expect little more of ourselves than we do the youth who is just beginning his or her Christian life. In fact, in many congregations, we expect more of the young than of the elders!

Others grow, but not by desire. Many of us grow through experiences that we cannot avoid. Our growth is undesired, unplanned and accidental. Paul's attitude presents a glaring contrast: "... one thing I do, forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead..." (3:13). Paul doesn't fall into growth accidentally, he "strains" forward to find it.

Like the runner, who should not look back, Paul tells us to keep our eye on the "prize" waiting for us at the end of the race. Perhaps that is why we have stopped growing: we've taken our eyes off the prize. Like the hare who raced the tortoise, we tend to get distracted along the way.

So: are YOU growing?

TO USE FARMER'S TAX GUIDE

It's Income Tax reporting time when all of us must file a report on our financial condition. For farmers, this gets quite complicated and usually they confront a number of changes.

The Farmer's Tax Guide is published by the Internal Revenue Service and should be of great help to farmers, and to others who are filing for agricultural concerns. We have a supply at our Extension Office, as do other Extension Agents. These booklets are also available from the Internal Revenue Office.

We recommend these guides in order to help with the tax filing process.

TO PROTECT SMALL FEEDER PIGS

For the past two winters there have been a number of small pigs hurt or lost by being too cold in the finishing house. In the farrowing house there is usually supplemental heat; however, when these small pigs are put into the finishing house without heat, they get chilled and often come down with scours or respiratory infection.

We suggest that hovers, such as boards or boards covered with straw or hay, be put over their sleeping quarters. This will help hold body heat and keep them from getting chilled. When the pigs pile up in cold weather, they are not comfortable and some warmth is needed. After they reach 75 to 100 pounds, they can stand more cold weather without a set-back.

TO TRANSFER SILAGE

Livestock and dairy producers who have stored some silage in temporary structures might be planning to move this silage into the tower silos before warm weather arrives. When this is done during the cold winter months there is less danger of heating and molding. Some producers want to put this feed through the permanent silos in order to make use of their mechanical feeding devices.

Don't wait until warm Spring weather to make the transfer.

TO EXERCISE DAILY

Dairy cows that are kept in stanchion or comfort stalls should have access to a paddock or exercise lot everyday. Regular exercise is just as important to a milking cow as it is to a horse, or any other animal. When cows are turned out daily it provides an opportunity for the owner to detect heat periods. This is very important in order to have the cows freshen each year. Cows that are confined in stalls all the time are difficult to breed at the proper time.

Weather should not prevent outside exercise, but may shorten the length of time outside in severe storms. While the cows are outside, they should be closely observed for the first 10 to 15 minutes for standing heat. When this is done breeding efficiency will usually be improved.

Omaha Cattle

Weekly 51 – cattle – compared with previous week's close –

Slaughter steers and heifers closed 3.50-4.50 higher. Cows were mostly steady and bulls firm to 1.00 higher.

Four day receipts 16,700 compared 10,500 last week's holiday shortened period and 15,100 a year ago.

The slaughter steer and heifer trade was active under a good demand each session and sharp daily price upturns were strongly supported by a rapidly advancing carcass trade. There was a fairly liberal percentage choice steers and heifers included and a few loads choice and prime each day. Grade and weight were sometimes not a major price determining factor as good and choice beef carcasses often sold at virtually the same price. Major buyer consideration was usually aimed at yield grade and the likely dressing percentage of cattle which often carried a moderate to heavy coating of mud; loadlots carrying a sizable percentage of yield grade 4 usually found least inquiry. Steers made up approximately 45 pct. of week's total and heifers 31 pct. cows comprised 12 pct. and feeders 8 pct.

STEERS: At midweek, three loads choice and prime 3, few 4 1200-1250 lbs. 61.50, load Thursday choice with end prime predominately 3 1200 lbs. 61.75. Choice 2-4 1000-1325 lbs. Wednesday 59.50-61.00, limited test Thursday 60.00-61 50. Two loads Wednesday choice and prime 3-5 1368 lbs. 58.75. Mixed good and choice 2-3 1000-1250 lb. 58.00-59.50, few good 54.00-58.50.

Average of LS-214, detailed quotations for choice 900-1100 lb. steers this week 59.58; Choice 1100-1300 lbs. 59.80. Average weight steers for three days 1148 lbs. as compared 1185 previous week. Average weight heifers for three days 1014 lbs. as compared 1012 lb. previous week.

HEIFERS: Thursday, load choice and prime 3-4 1050 lbs. 60.25, several loads Wednesday 1000-1075 lbs. 60.00. Choice 2-4 850-1050 lbs. Wednesday 58.00-59.50, limited test Thursday 59.00-60.00. Mixed Good and choice 2-3 875-1000 lbs. 56.50-58.50. Few good 2-3 53.00-57.00.

COWS: Utility and commercial 2-4 46.00-49.00, high-dressing 49.50-50.00, to 50.50 early. Cutter 43.50-47.00, high-dressing to 48.00 early canner and low-cutter 41.00-43.50.

BULLS: 1-2 1400-2000 lbs. 52.00-58.00, individual 1 59.00-60.50, instances 61.00-62.00.

FEEDERS: Choice fleshy 950-1050 lbs. steers 57.00-60.00, closed 59.00-60.00.

Hogs & cows give this 4-H'er show experience

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

HAMBURG - Nineteen-seventy-nine is beginning as an exciting year for many Berks County 4-H'ers. This year several 4-H'ers from this area went to Harrisburg to show their livestock, for the first time, at the Farm Show. One such lucky exhibitor was Charles Seidel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Seidel, Hamburg.

Charles has been to the Farm Show many times before, but never as an exhibitor. This year he showed two hogs selected as one of three pens permitted to enter from Berks County.

At 12 years of age this eager young 4-H'er has already made quite a "mark" for himself, but suprisingly not with hogs, but with dairy cattle.

Charles has proved his skill as a judge of dairy cattle this Summer as he won first place in the Southeast 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging Contest. He has shown dairy cows several years earlier but temporarily gave them up for market hogs.

Presently Charles and his younger brother, Henry, age 10, enjoy raising market hogs and showing them at area fairs. This past year the brothers have shown their hogs at local fairs and the County swine club round-up. Charles plan to show dairy cattle again, maybe starting next year, but still enjoys exhibiting hogs.

The hogs are just a sideline of the Seidel's farming operation. They are raised in small numbers for the primary reason of consuming by-products of the family dairy herd which would otherwise go to waste. It was from this that got Charles interested in showing hogs and because he and his parents felt he was too small to handle the larger animals properly at first.

This year the young man will be taking two market hogs to the Farm Show, a Hampshire gilt and Yorkshire barrow which were previously purchased as feeders.

Charles is anxiously looking forward to his trip to Harrisburg. He is primarily interested in seeing the other livestock which will be shown, for his own comparisons. By seeing the other animals he hopes to become a better judge.

This 4-H'er shares many of the duties of the family dairy. Presently they include feeding the hogs and young calves, giving the cows hay, and helping to keep the record books on the dairy herd. The Seidels are DHIA owner-samplers and are milking 37 cows, and farm 126 acres.

If asked, Charles is quick to answer almost any question about the herd including the rolling herd average which consists almost entirely of Registered Holsteins. The average he said is about 14,000 pounds milk and 500 pounds fat.

Charles has a cow of his own which he hopes will soon begin to increase in female numbers. So far his luck hasn't held to his wishes since she has been producing bull calves since her first breeding. His cow, a four year old named Rob-Nan-Lisa Elevation Lillian, is classified at 83 points and projected at 15,000 pounds of milk and 500 pounds of fat.

This dairyman takes pride in keeping the records on the herd which may be why he enjoys his seventh grade math class more than any other subject. Charles attends the Hamburg Area School District, and is also involved in the Virginville Community 4-H Club and the Berks County 4-H Swine Club. His interests also include collecting beer cans. And he has another brother besides Henry, named Leslie, age 3.

Other members of the County swine club who took hogs to the Farm Show are Allen Rohrbach, Shoemakersville and Gregg Stricker, Bernville.

Smith has high corn yield

LEBANON - Lester Smith of Lebanon, has placed high in the local Project: 200 corn growing program with a yield of 156.9 bushels per acre.

Smith used Funk's G-4321A in his high yielding plot. His fertility program consisted of 115 pounds nitrogen, 130 pounds phosphorous and 65 pounds potash. He used Lasso/atrazine for weed control. The crop was planted on April 28 in 30-inch rows. The yield was adjusted to 15.5 per cent moisture.

Project: 200 is a regional corn growing program sponsored by The Producers of Funk's G-Hybrids.

Announcing stainless steel dinnerware for hogs.

Shenandoah's stainless steel feeder is the next best thing to teaching your hogs table manners. They can stomp it, bang it, crowd it and abuse it, but it's virtually indestructible. It won't rust out, it won't wear out And it will still be there, long after the hogs have moved on Stainless steel feeders are also easier to clean and disinfect than the old kind Shenandoah makes 'em with a high grade of steel, and we make 'em tough Because we want 'em to take anything your hogs can dish out

Farmers Union to hold convention Monday

HARRISBURG - Keynote speaker for the 7th Annual Pennsylvania Farmers Union Convention will be the first woman ever elected president of a State Farmers Union. She is Donna Cootware of Ralph, Michigan. Also slated as speakers are Tony Dechant and Keister Adams.

Cootware was elected president of the Michigan Farmers Union last fall and now serves on the board of directors of the National Farmers Union. She is an outspoken advocate of family farms and 100 per cent of parity for agriculture.

With her husband, John, Cootware operates a 360 acre potato and beef cattle farm on Michigan's upper peninsula. She is now devoting full time to the cause of family farmers.

Cootware, the mother of six children, is a township supervisor and is a director of the Michigan Townships Association. She has served on a school board and on a regional development commission. She attended Northern Michigan University and taught elementary school for six years.

Cootware will deliver the keynote address at the Pennsylvania Farmers Union Convention at 10:15 a.m. on Monday, January 15 in the Penn Harris Motor Inn. Her speech is open to the public.

Tony T. Dechant, National President of the Farmers Union, Denver, will be the banquet speaker.

Dechant is an internationally known farm leader who grew up on a family farm in Kansas. He has served as President of the National Farmers Union since 1966. The NFU now has over 300,000 members throughout the Nation's farm states.

In 1975, Dechant was elected President of the International Federation of Agricultural Producers (IFAP). The IFAP is composed of 60 farm groups from 45 nations which represents 35 million producers and is headquartered in Paris, France.

Dechant has steadfastly championed the cause of the independent family farm and 100 per cent of parity.

An an international farm leader, Dechant is an advocate of minimum price agreements among nations to guarantee farmers profitable prices for exports.

A milk marketing expert for the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C., will address the Pennsylvania Farmers Union Convention here. He is Keister Adams, Assistant Deputy Administrator for Commodity Operations for USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Adams is a native of Winchester, Va., and a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He holds a Master's Degree from the University of Maryland. He joined USDA in 1958.

"Milk is an extremely important farm product in Pennsylvania. We are pleased to have a high-ranking official from the U.S. Department of Agriculture on our program to explain current trends affecting farmers in the milk industry," Leonard Zemaitis of the Pennsylvania Farmers Union said.

Adams is scheduled to speak at 11:15 a.m. on Monday.

Penn Manor FFA wins egg banner

HARRISBURG – Penn Manor FFA Chapter, Millersville, won the School Egg Banner at the Pennsylvania State Farm Show for the second year in a row.

They received the most points in the scoring for entries from their school.

The Best Dozen White Eggs in the junior class was exhibited by Wayne Hess, Conestoga R1, Penn Manor Chapter, Lancaster.

The Best Dozen Brown Eggs was exhibited by Duane Stine, Dillsburg R2, Northern York FFA Chapter, York County.

called "smoothness of motion and action", she won over the 12 to 14 year division champion, who was her brother Bill MacCauley, and the senior division, Laurie Dobrosky, Glen Rock.

Other champions in the market lamb classes were: Julie Kuzemchak, lightheavyweight champion; Christian Herr, Narvon R2; champion mediumweight and reserve lightheavyweight champion; Jay Bauer, Scottdale, champion lightweight; Cindy Donough, Chambersburg R6, reserve champion lightweight; and Kenneth Brubaker, reserve champion mediumweight market lamb.

In the junior breeding sheep classes, several champions were chosen.

Teresa Fink, Slatington, showed both he champion and the reserve champion in the Cheviot classes. She showed a yearling ewe, known as "81",which had been named the reserve champion in the Farm show open show held earlier in the week.

Barbara Herr, 15, Narvon R2, had both the champion and the reserve champion Dorset ewes. Both lambs born last October, the animals were "home grown". This is her third FArm Show championship, and the first time she captured both of the top awards.

Sarah Brubaker, Lancaster, showed her yearling Hampshire ewe "Angie" to be named the top animal in that division. This is her second year in showing a Farm Show champion. David Lytle, New London, showed the reserve champion Hampshire ewe.

In the Shropshire competition, Bill MacCauley, Atglen R2, showed the champion ewe. His entry competed in the lamb class, and was an animal that he won through his 4-H club. The reserve champion was shown by Barbara Short, New Brighton.

Gary Kwisnek, Clarksburg, exhibited the champion Southdown ewe and David Hifff, Lafayette Hill, showed the reserve champion.

In the Suffolk competition, Bill MacCauley exhibited the champion Suffolk, a yearling, and James Stauffer, Lancaster, showed the reserve champion animal.

In the sheep blocking contest, Barbara Herr won the top honors, a first for her in that contest at the Farm Show. Laurie Dobrosky, Glen Rock, placed second, Bethann Nehoda, Doylestown was third, Ann Baroni, Downingtown; was fourth; and Bill MacCauley placed fifth.

state and even national honors in livestock judging. He is a graduate of Solanco High School and a member of the school's FFA Chapter.

Steve Long, who will find himself thousands of dollars richer when he gets the check for the sale of his steer, named his champion entry "Moose." A 1210-pound Angus-Chianina crossbred, he purchased the animal from Fred Frey of Quarryville R2, who had bought it from Walbridge Farms of Millbrook, N.Y.

Before being named grand champion, Steve's steer had won the light heavyweight division. The victory marked the second year in a row that a Lancaster County animal was chosen for the top honor. Taking a technicality into consideration, it was the fifth year in succession that a Lancaster Countian won the honor. Last year Brett Holzhauer had the top steer. In 1977 it was Janice Kaylor, who lives near Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, but is a member of the Dauphin County 4-H organization. She also keeps her steer on a Dauphin County farm. The 1976 winner was Jim Greider of Columbia R1 and in 1975 the champion belonged to Robert Hess of Lancaster.

The reserve grand champion steer was shown by York Countian Robert Livingston. His steer, named "Fire," weighed 1160 pounds and doubled as middleweight champ. At home in the Dover area of York County, Livingston is a member of the York County 4-H Baby Beef Club.

Janice Kaylor, the winner of the coveted grand championship banner in 1977, and runner-up in last year's contest, came close to the top laurels again this year. She exhibited the lightweight champion of the show. Named "Caesar," her entry was said to be blind, which makes the task of training and leading particularly difficult.

The reserve champion among lightweights was a crossbred shown by Harris Wright of Abbottstown R1.

The heavyweight champion, "Phoo," was shown by Stacie Kline of Greencastle R1, Franklin County. The reserve banner went to "Wildfire" and his owner, Ernie Frey of Quarryville R2.

The reserve middleweight champion was "Bounce," shown by Ed Wylie, 17, the grand champion showman of the event. His older brother, David, 19, was named reserve grand champion showman of the entire contest. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wylie of Nottingham. Incidentally, it was another Wylie, Jim, who was the most recent non-Lancaster Countian to win the baby beef banner. He brought the honor to Chester County in 1974.

In light heavyweight competition, the reserve champion honor was won by Steve Upperman of Chambersburg R3.

In an interview with Sam Long following the show, the blonde-haired young man revealed that "Just keeping at it is the main key" towards winning. He noted that his brother purchased the steer a year ago and that he has worked with it regularly "We started out by putting a halter on him and just tying him up. Then we'd brush him and scratch him to let him know we'd be his friend," Sam explained By late June or July we were walking and exercising him every day.

The champion steer was fed primarily with a ration of ground ear corn and supplement. A little hay was fed when he first came to the Longs' farm. Sam estimates that the total expenses for the steer, counting his initial cost and feed for a year would not exceed $450. He was sold Friday afternoon for a price which was not available to Lancaster Farming by presstime.

Judge of the show, Dr. Roger Hunsley from the Animal Science Department of Purdue University, described the champion as being trim, upstanding, and long. The judge particularly liked the way the steer handled, Sam remembered.

Following are placings of the weight divisions·

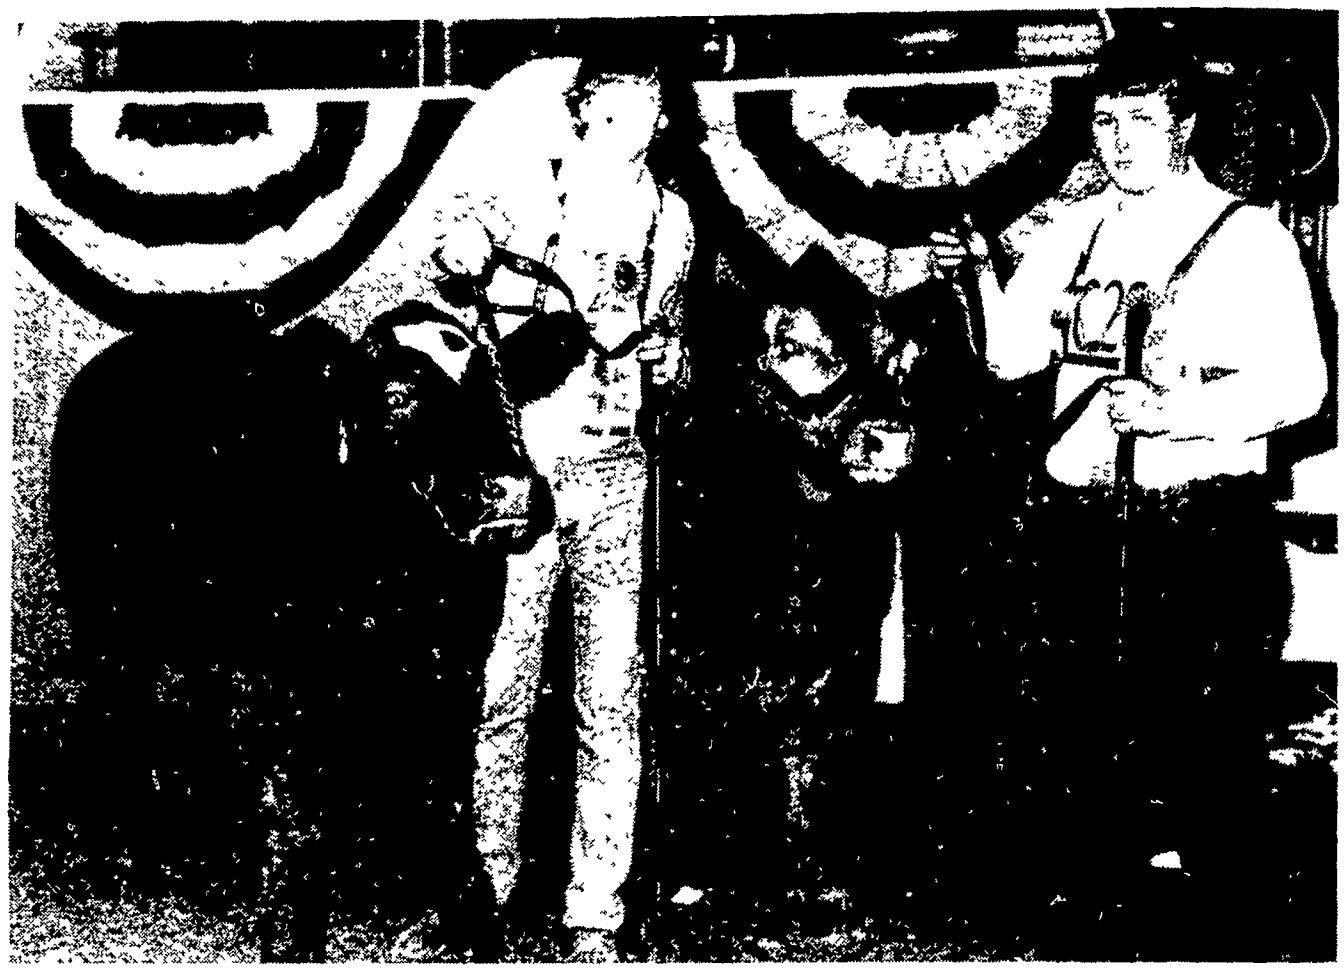
1. Harris Wright, York County; 2. George Wilson, Lebanon County; 3. Monique Sweigard, Dauphin County; 4. Trudi Marsh, Chester County; 5. Kathy Miller, York County.

(Turn to Page 25)



Ed and David Wylie were named grand champion showman and reserve grand champion showman, respectively, at the conclusion of the Baby Beef Show. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wylie, Nottingham, and members of a family which has consistently excelled in competitive events involving beef cattle.

Robert Livingston, Dover, had the honor Thursday of showing the reserve grand champion steer at the Farm Show.

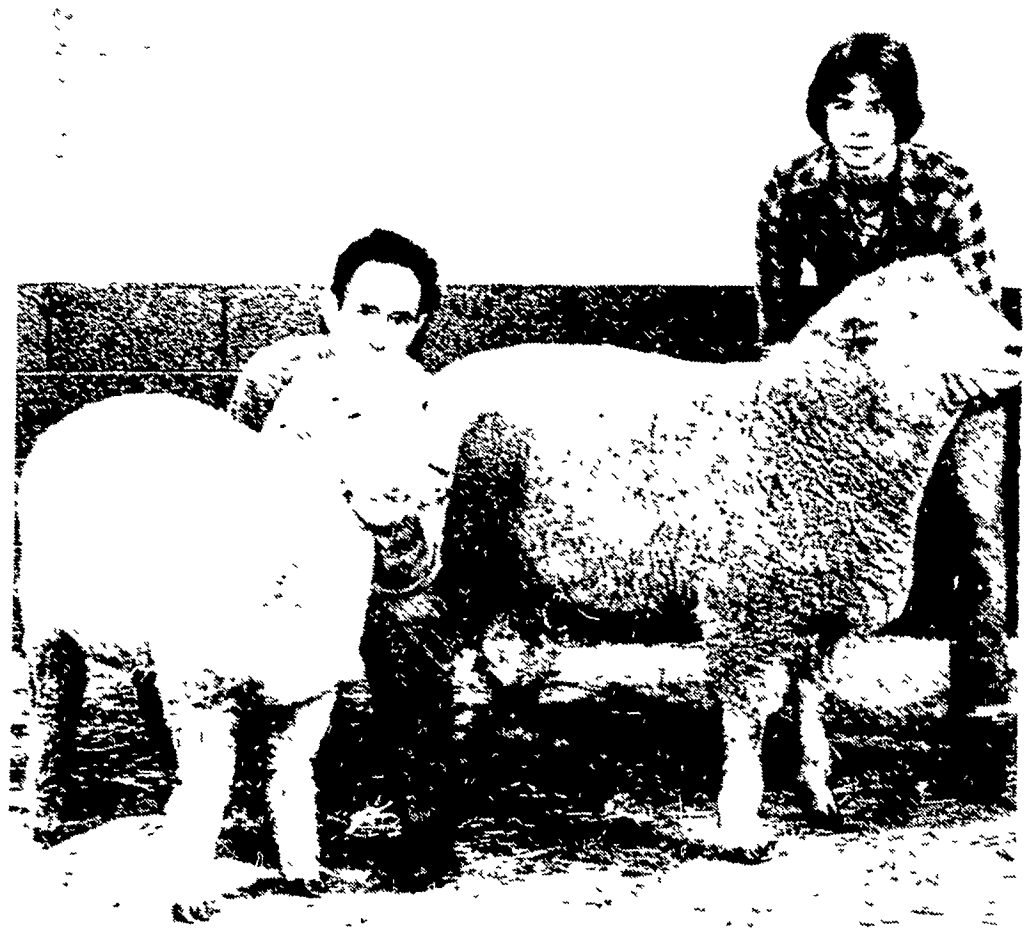
Mellot has champion Corriedale sheep



Emil Mellot and Son, Needmore R1, Fulton County, exhibited the champion and reserve champion Corriedale ram, along with the champion Corriedale ewe, January 8, at the 63rd Pennsylvania Farm Show. Mellot and Son placed first in all their classes except the yearling ewe class. The champion ram, a yearling, is being held by Jeff Mellot (right), while Emil Mellot holds the champion ewe which is a lamb. Jay H. and Thomas Runkle of Spring Mills, Centre County, exhibited the reserve champion Corriedale ewe, a yearling.

Swine management meeting slated

NEW HOLLAND - The Garden Spot Adult Farmer Program will sponsor a swine management meeting on Tuesday evening, January 16, 1979, at 7:30 p.m. in the agriculture classroom of the Garden Spot High School, New Holland. The emphasis for the meeting will be on raised deck nurseries and gestation housing management.

The main speaker for the session will be Mr. Gene Hubbard, territorial manager from Ralston Purina. He will discuss sow management in different housing setups with emphasis on individual pens and the use of raised decks and other weaned pig facilities.

Representatives from companies distributing equipment for raised decks and individual sow pens will also be there to answer questions pertaining to equipment.

Since these types of facilities are fairly new to our area, not many producers have them in operation. Some producers who are using these ideas have been invited to share their experiences.

This meeting is open to all interested producers and should be a good introduction to some of the program offerings at the Keystone Pork Congress on February 16. Any questions regarding the meeting should be directed to Donald Robinson, Adult Farmer Advisor, Eastern Lancaster County School District, 717-354-0787.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting. The agriculture classroom is located on the west side of the Garden Spot High School complex near the school bus parking lot.

Lifeguard applications close Jan. 15

HARRISBURG – Rep. Don Dorr, R-York, urged qualified lifeguard and lifeguard supervisors in the State who want to work in one of 40 State parks during the summer of 1979 to immediately apply to the State Civil Service Commission before the January 15, 1979 deadline.

Dorr said the Civil Service Commission will have several lifeguard and lifeguard supervisor positions to fill for the period from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Applications, examination announcements, and further information on salary and qualifications may be obtained from the State Civil Service Commision offices in Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia, from the Park Superintendent's office of any State park, or Bureau of Employment Security offices throughout the Commonwealth, or by contacting Rep. Don Dorr at 305 Charles Street, Hanover, Pa. 17331.

Yohe represents equipment dealers

INTERCOURSE – Tom Yohe of C. B. Hoober and Son, Inc., International Harvester (IH) ag equipment dealer in Intercourse, was elected by IH dealers in Pennsylvania and New Jersey to represent them at the 1978 Dealer Council meeting in Columbus, Ohio on December 11-12, 1978.

Yohe joined other IH dealers in the Northeast AE Region which covers 16 states in the northeastern part of the U.S. This year's Council met at the Hospitality Inn was hosted by IH Regional Management.

The Dealer Council has been meeting annually for several years to discuss subjects pertinent to dealer/company functions. Yohe and other dealer representatives met earlier with their district level dealers compiling the subjects for discussion in Columbus.

Yohe stated these meetings have kept the Company and dealers on common ground in the very flexing business of agricultural. "Customer needs are changing and we must respond to those needs. We must do it together."

The National Council, made up of 12 selected dealers from six IH Ag Equipment Regions, will meet in Chicago in February with IH Executive Management.

Meat Thoughts

Hamburger and other ground meat should be cooked thoroughly because it is handled often during preparation and germs can get involved in the process Check the label when you're buying ham. Some need cooking, others don't When in doubt, cook it! The proper method of thawing frozen meat is in the refrigerator If you insist on thawing outside, place the meat in a sealed plastic bag under cold running water

Mike said his dad and uncle have helped him out a lot in selection of his pigs, along with giving a lot of pointers in shaving his pig.

At home on the Niebauer Farm, they raise about 200 purebred Durocs. Mike said he feeds his market hog an 18 per cent protein feed. Along with exercising them every day. Mike said he had another one at home, a spotted one, but she was bred.

The champion heavyweight market hog was shown by Liz Champman of Manheim. Reserve champion in the heavy weight class went to Connie Stull of Waynesboro in Franklin County.

The Champion light weight hog was shown by Robert Hall of Julian, Centre County. Allan Rohrbach of Shoemakersville, Berks County, showed the reserve lightweight champion.

The reserve champion in medium weight was owned by Robert Hall of Julian and the reserve champion lightheavyweight was shown by Steve Trostle of Red Lion.

Steve Trostle was also declared champion in the Swine Showmanship Contest. Melissa Trostle, Steve's sister, was the winner in the 11 year old division. Leslie Lazarus of Germansville R1, Lehigh Count, won the contests 12-14 year old division.

We May Not Solve ALL Of Your Feed Problems (But We'll Come Close!)

You know the complexities of feeding better than anyone, right? Feeds change. Values change. Nutritional needs change. There are different ages to work with, different production levels and ever-changing cycles. Enough to boggle the mind at times. That's why you'll profit by having your Young's Feed Management Consultant on your team. He'll work with you to get every ounce of value out of your home-grown feeds, to squeeze every drop of production out of your herd. And that's what you want, isn't it?

Warm-Up to Northco

With Zone Heating ■ Efficient Gas Heating

★ ECONOMY - Northco Pig Brooders operate on just pennies a day because they use two small burners rather than one large gas eating burner. Its operating cost is over 75% lower than that of heat lamps.

★ SIMPLICITY - One simple needle valve provides positive heat control. Burners can be easily removed for cleaning. Chain suspension allows simple, quick height adjustment for added temperature control.

★ SAFETY - Northco Pig Brooders can be safely used over straw or litter. There is no need to worry about pigs being cut by broken lamps or loss by bedding fire. It works with any ventilation system

★ Safe, Dependable "Zone Heating"
Northco Pig Brooders are excellent for brooding little pigs because they provide "zone-heat". Ideal temperatures for little pigs may be 25 to 30 degrees warmer than needed for the sow. With "zone-heating" temperatures are directed only to the little pig area, while sows remain cooler If more heat is needed in extremely cold weather the brooders can be raised to heat the entire house .. eliminating the need for furnaces or costly unit heaters

Charolais champions named

HARRISBURG - J. C. Enterprises, Ringgold, exhibited the grand champion Charolais cow at the 63rd Farm Show, "J C Ladymont 732," a Summer yearling heifer. The same animal was the show's senior champion.

J. C. Enterprises also showed the reserve grand and reserve senior champion, "J C Ladymont 718," a Spring yearling heifer.

Two other J. C. Enterprises entries won championships: "J C Ladymont 825," the senior champion, a Spring heifer calf; and "J C Ladymont 803," the reserve calf champion, a Spring heifer calf.

J.C. Enterprises also captured the grand championship in Charolais bull classes at the Farm Show. The bull, "J C Enterprise 485-738," a Summer yearling, also was the show's junior champion.

Reserve grand and reserve junior champion was "J C Enterprise 495-728," a Summer yearling, shown by J. C. Enterprises.

Another J. C. Enterprises entrant was the calf champion, "J C Mr. Enterprise 495-801," a junior calf.

Reserve senior champion, "Mr. Ayaralla Libertin," a Summer yearling bull, was shown by Double H Ranch Mt. Pleasant Hills R1.

Flying M Ranch of Morris R1, exhibited the reserve champion, calf, "J C M Enterprises 495728," A Summer yearling bull.

In the Spring heifer calf classes, Walter E. Heistand, Manheim R4, showed a fourth place animal. Other Lancaster County placings included Janice Kaylor, Elizabethtown R3, who placed second in the Summer yearling class.

In the Winter heifer calf class, Gordon R. Smith, Landenberg R1, won first place and George Wilson, Lebanon R4, placed second.

Jeffrey L. Kerr, Wellsville R1, placed third in the senior heifer class.

J.C. Enterprises, Ringgold, had the grand champion Charolais cow at the Pa. Farm Show, J C Ladymont 732, a Summer yearling heifer.

The grand champion bull was also shown by J.C. Enterprises. The bull, J C Enterprises 485-738, a Summer yearling, had been named the show's junior champion.

Roast beef supper announced

NORRISTOWN - The annual Montgomery County 4-H Roast Beef Supper will be held at the Northern Montgomery County Vo-tech School, Saturday, January 27, serving from 4 p.m. until 8 p.m. The supper is open to the public and features beef from prize-winning 4-H steers.

The meal is served country style and includes beef, vegetables, potatoes, rolls, beverage and dessert. Proceeds from the dinner go to help the 4-H program. The Vo-tech school is located on Sumneytown Pike, north of route 363 near Lansdale.

Tickets can be obtained in advance by contacting the 4-H Office at 400 Markley Street, Norristown, or by calling 215-277-0574. Tickets are $4.50 for adults and $2.25 for children six to 12 years of age. A limit of 1500 tickets will be sold.

Chairman for the Supper is Warren Landis of Souderton with Debbie Rohr of Hatfield serving as chairperson of the dining hall. Volunteer leaders and teens will be waiters, waitresses and hostesses for the evening. Everyone is invited to attend.

FARM SAFETY

The difference is dramatic. You save half the cost of a commercial pre-starter when you build your own with Vigortone's Creep Wean No. 3.

Your figures will prove it.

First, you save because you use feedstuffs grown on your own farm; no need to purchase someone else's grain.

Next, you fortify these feedstuffs with Vigortone's Creep Wean Pre-Mix No. 3, a potent combination of all the vitamins, minerals and amino acids needed for optimum nutrition.

Finally, you do the grinding and mixing yourself - FRESH - adding the right amount of soybean meal for proper protein levels. And if a health problem does arise, you can medicate immediately.

There you have it: a highly fortified pre-starter that saves you half the cost of a commercial brand.

Vigortone swine feeding programs offer cost savings in your starter, growing and finishing rations as well.

You'll save substantially over commercial starters with Vigortone 16% starter using your own grain - no fillers. And Vigortone's corn-soy growing and finishing programs combine economy and quick-to-market-weight nutrition.

Now is the time to compare.
See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's low-cost swine feeding programs with any other you name.

STABILIZED NITROGEN

It's 8 bushels better.

You can get four dollars back for every dollar you invest in N-Serve* nitrogen stabilizer.

Because N-Serve stabilizes nitrogen. And stabilized nitrogen increases corn yields an average of 8 bushels per acre over regular nitrogen.

How do we know? Because stabilized nitrogen has been used on farms like yours throughout the U.S. And over several years, under varying weather, soil and moisture conditions, the yields prove it.

Stabilized nitrogen is, on the average, 8 bushels better than regular nitrogen.

So this spring, ask your dealer to add N-Serve to your anhydrous, liquid or dry nitrogen. Your nitrogen will be stabilized, and your yield improved.

N-Serve stabilizes nitrogen. And stabilized nitrogen is better.

Top-O-Hill Farm wins award

HARRISBURG — Top-O-Hill Farm, Downingtown, won the Good Housekeeping Award at the Pennsylvania Farm Show this year, edging Rutter Bros. Dairy of York. The recogniton is based on points received for cleanliness and neatness of exhibitors' displays. This year, due to the curtailed show, points were awarded on Sunday and Monday only.

In Sunday's contest, Top-O-Hill finished first, followed by Mowry Farms of Roaring Springs and Rutter Bros. On Monday it was Windmill Farm, Pine Grove, in first place, followed by Top-O-Hill and Rutter.

Top-O-Hill Farm is a registered Jersey enterprise owned and operated by Mildred Seeds.

YOU NEED MORE THAN FERTILIZER

Soil "fertility balance" is becoming more important to local farmers every day. Your fertilizer must be tailored to meet the needs of your soil and cropping program in order to return maximum profits per acre. Improper fertilization can actually lower your yields and profits.

Past winners reclaim titles with champion sheep

By JOAN LIESAU

HARRISBURG - Sheep breeders continued their winning ways on January 7, at the 63rd Pa. Farm Show, repeating championship performances from past years, with only a few new exhibitors working their way into the winning spotlight.

In the Hampshire sheep division, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Brubaker, Blu-Acre Hampshires, Lancaster, exhibited the champion ewe and reserve champion Hampshire ram. They captured the same titles as last year, except one, the reserve champion ewe which was won by their daughter, Sarah Lynn's entry. Marc Paden Golsmith of Greenville, Mercer County, a veteran Farm Show exhibitor, showed the champion Hampshire ram.

Mr. and Mrs. William MacCauley of Atglen R1, with a strong showing in their ewes, exhibited the champion and reserve champion ewes in the Suffolk show. Milton Morgan of Lancaster out did last year's reserve champion ram entry, by exhibiting this year's champion Suffolk ram. Lynn Burger of Kunkletown R2 in Monroe County showed the champion Suffolk ram.

The champion Dorset ram, which has proved to be stiff competition up and down the east coast, was owned by Barbara Herr of Narvon R2. Kenneth Moore of Nichols, N.Y., Bradford County, had the championship entry with his Dorset ewe. The reserve champion ram was shown by Bryan Shober of Berlin R4, in Somerset County. The reserve champion Dorset ewe was exhibited by Kenneth Staver of Palmyra R1 in Dauphin County.

Henry Kukendall of Lebanon R2, Va. was the open show judge.

The following is a list of results for the Hampshire, Suffolk and Dorset open sheep show.

OTHER REASONS

Since the Therma•Stor completely eliminates fan-cooled condensers, these additional advantages are yours, too. ☐ NO COLD WEATHER STARTING PROBLEMS—Because now you can locate your compressors indoors. ☐ FASTER HOT-WEATHER COOLING AND LONGER COMPRESSOR LIFE — Because using cold water for condensing instead of hot summer air reduces and stabilizes compressor head pressure ☐ NO COSTLY COMPRESSOR FAILURES CAUSED BY BURNED-OUT FAN MOTORS. ☐ NO DIRTY CONDENSER FINS TO UNCLOG.

If you're interested in increased cooling-system reliability, better performance, less maintenance and repair—and FREE HOT WATER—you can get it all by owning a Therma•Stor. And it all adds up to lower expenses and higher profits months before the actual dateof the competition.

At that time, Richard Moore, quality control supervisor starts doing breakouts, measuring the white of the eggs; how high and thick it is. Moore explained that eggs with high 'haugh' units are wanted, for the higher the haugh unit, the firmer the white of the egg.

So every week, information is gathered, and the quality of the eggs are checked constantly. Since a detailed report of all egg producers is kept year round, Sauder told that basically the search for the right eggs for the Farm Show can be narrowed down to a few producers.

An ideal egg, he continued, is not only high in haugh units, but also had an ideal shell, one that is "good, thick, and strong". It has a chalk white color to its shell, and there are no rough surfaces, no stains, and no shiny spots.

Under the candling light, the golden yellow yolk is centered in the eggs, and there are no blood spots or cracks.

About three weeks before the Farm Show, five top egg producers are chosen. Their eggs are checked three times a week.

But each dozen of eggs shown must come from one producer, so the Saturday morning before the Farm, Show, three flocks eggs are brought into the plant, about 45 cases of eggs from each flock.

Holding the plaques they earned at the Pa. Farm Show this year for R. W. Sauder, Inc. are Richard Moore, quality control supervisor; Guy Martin, service manager for the flocks; and Glenn Sauder, processing manager.

Floyd W. Hicks, poultry specialist for the 1979 Pennsylvania Farm Show from Pennsylvania State University is shown congratulating Claude D. Keefer, marketing manager, Plain and Fancy Egg Ranch Inc., Elizabethtown R3, on their 36 Blue Ribbons this year. Thirty-two were for single carton white eggs and best of show for their 5 dozen brown eggs. Looking on and holding the first prize, one dozen white eggs, is the 1978 Lancaster County Poultry Queen, Kathy Martin.

All the eggs are candled, weighed, and washed, and a few are chosen to check for haugh units.

And from these eggs the winning entries were taken.

The method must work for them, for in 1976, they received two perfect scores of 100 per cent in the Commercial Class, which was the first time that the perfect score was awarded.

And in 1978, they received a perfect score in the Packers Carton and Pack Class.

This year their winning scores varied from 98.75 to 99.50 per cent. There were no perfect scores awarded at the show.

FARMALL

Below Mr Lawson's example of cost-cutting efficiency is one among many we have on file, dealing with the 10-20, the 15-30, and the FARMALL, applying to all major crops.

With FARMALL Power and Equipment
Mr. Elza C. Lawson, Steward, Illinois, keeps corn production costs on his 100 acres down to 14.5 cents a bushel

Land worth about $150 per acre — Yield per acre, 50 bushels

Days	OPERATION	Tract. Cost at $4 55 Per Day	Labor Cost at $3 00 Per Day	Total
15	Plowing	$ 68 25	$ 45 00	$113 25
8	Disking (Twice)	36 40	24 00	60 40
2	Harrowing (Twice)	9 10	6 00	15 10
3	Planting (4-row)	13 65	9 00	22 65
3	Rotary Hoe	13 65	9 00	22 65
20	Cultivating (4 times)	91 00	60 00	151 00
10	Harvesting (1 row)	45 50	30 00	75 50
		$277 55	$183 00	$460 55

Other Costs

Seed, 17 bushels at $3 50 per bushel	59 50
Share of general farm overhead	4 00
Team and man, 10 days (hauling)	60 00
Machinery other than tractor	139 23
†Total Crop Cost	$723 28

Yield 5,000 bushels—Cost per bushel, 14.5 cents
Mr. Lawson's Cost per Acre, $7.23
Government Average Cost per Acre on Corn Belt Farms with Similar Yields, $16 33

†Land rental, interest on investment in land, and land taxes are not included in these costs If Mr. Lawson had sold his corn at 62 cents a bushel (the Government's Average Illinois Farm Price on Dec 15, 1930, which is considerably lower than prices prevailing in the early fall) and had allowed himself 3 cents a bushel to cover marketing cost and $200 00 to cover amount paid out for taxes on land, his corn would have paid him a profit amounting to $2026 72, or a return of 13 5 per cent on his land investment This return could be greatly increased and the 3-cents per-bushel marketing cost saved by converting the corn into marketable livestock

Virginville Grange meets

VIRGINVILLE - At a recent meeting of the Virginville Grange, John Benninger received the four degrees. The Grange draped the charter for Elmer Sonon and balloted for Anna Heinly.

It was reported the fifth degree will be presented here on September 28, and the sixth degree will be presented in Williamsport on October 24. A special sixth degree is to be scheduled in this area, possibly Schuylkill Valley High School. The seventh degree will be presented in Lancaster on November 17.

The Womens Activities meeting was held on January 9, where they made twine wreaths.

The youth and young marrieds met on January 10 to take down Christmas decorations from the Grange Hall. The group will go on a bus trip March 31, to see a hockey game at Hershey. The tickets are $8.50 and the contact person is Jane Hill.

The youth presented a check to the Grange to help pay some expenses of a needy family. The County youth play meeting was held on January 8.

Calendars for 1979 are now available from Jane Treichler The juniors are also selling two year calendars for $2.

WEEU radio station will be handling any cancellations of Grange activities due to bad weather.

A program of the Pennsylvania Dutch was presented to the Grange by Dorothy Miller.

The next meeting will be a Ladies Night. Committee members include Lila Newhard, Mildred Wessner, Pat Schlegel and Grace Henninger. Refreshment committee includes Lester Wessner, Kirk Dreibelbis, Werner Miller and Dennis Wagner.

ARE YOU BOTHERED BY PROFIT-ROBBING STARLINGS?

Starlings cost you big money in terms of feed wastage. 1,000 starlings consume at least $100 worth of feed (in addition to what they spoil) in a single winter. Flocks of many thousand birds are common.

Starlings are known carriers of a number of profit-robbing diseases including TGE (Transmissible gastroenteritis).

JOIN A STARLING CONTROL PROGRAM IN LANCASTER COUNTY USING

PURINA STARLICIDE COMPLETE

STARLICIDE ADVANTAGES:

- Pellet size is selective to starlings.
- Contains a painless, slow acting poison.
- Proven effective.
- Dead starlings are not dangerous to other animals. Only 10% of the lethal compound is retained in the starling body.
- Use levels of the product are low.

SUGGESTED CONTROL PROGRAM:

- Order Starlicide now for delivery in early January.
- Bait with Starlicide on the 2nd day following a snow on frozen ground. Best results are obtained when all producers in an area bait on the same day.

R.S. Brubaker shows best tobacco

HARRISBURG - Raymond S. Brubaker, of 206 Rohrerstown Road, Lancaster, captured all championships in open tobacco judging competition at the 63rd Farm Show. He exhibited the grand champion wrapper and filler samples.

In 4-H competition, Jerry Myer of 1150 Village Road, Lancaster, exhibited both the champion filler and wrapper exhibits.

Donald Dohner of Elizabethtown R1, showed the champion wrapper sample in vocational classes. Jere Neff of RD1, Millersville, showed the champion vocational filler exhibit.

Placings follow:

The competition, which is always heavily dominated by Lancaster Countians, had a number of growers who were consistently among the top five in wrapper placings. Among them, other than R.S. Brubaker, were Gary Neff of Millersville, Raymond A. Brubaker of Lancaster, and Jere Neff of Millersville. J. Marlin Hershey of Lancaster scored a second place with his short wrappers.

In filler competition, Raymond S. and Raymond A. Brubaker finished 1-2 in the long entries, followed by Jay Rohrer of Manheim, and Eugene and Michael Rohrer, both of Strasburg. The short filler contest was won by R.S. Brubaker, followed by Kevin Zurin of Mount Joy, Terri Rohrer of Lancaster, Eugene Rohrer of Strasburg and Jay Neff of Millersville.

The long binder placings were as follows: 1. J.M. Hershey, 2. Jay Neff, 3. Jere Neff, 4. Terri Rohrer, 5. Lois Rohrer. In short binders it was Raymond Brubaker in first place, followed by Gail Rohrer, Jere Neff, Jay Neff, and Eugene Rohrer.

Other livestock exhibitors were also shortchanged. In one sheep show, for example, an entry was disqualified because of entry restrictions. The exhibitor was reportedly entered in the open show, but could not show in the junior division, even though she was a 4-H'er.

With the quotas and entry limitations imposed on Farm Show exhibitors and individual animal breeds, Pennsylvania farmers can hardly put their best foot forward in an event which is drummed up to be the biggest and best agricultural exhibition in the East. Clearly, it leaves a lot to be desired.

The case for abandoning the 1979 Farm Show arrangements is strong. There is no doubt that breed associations, farmers' groups, and individual farmers will make their complaints known to the proper officials.

The bottom line is that Pennsylvania agriculture deserves a better deal.

Lamb born at Farm Show

HARRISBURG - New animal babies at the Pa. Farm Show are always a special attraction, and this year the attention was focused in the sheep barn. There, on Wednesday, while over a hundred spectators watched, a single lamb was born to a registered Hampshire ewe.

The purebred lamb, which was thought due at the end of January, was an accident in the first place, according to owner Don Witt, Champion. The ewe, a January 1978 lamb herself, was shown at several shows throughout the Summer and Fall, and as Witt explained it, "The ram got to her on the truck on the way to a fair."

The ewe was shown on Sunday's competition at the Farm Show, where she placed sixth in her class.

Born about mid-afternoon, the lamb was a ram. Throughout the rest of the week, the black wiry-wooled animal drew attention from all who wandered near.

Comments from passerbys varied from exclamations over the lamb's small size to remarks about his dark color.

The Owner said that the lamb would probably be shown next year, if it was of good quality.

One of the special attractions at the Pa. Farm Show this year was this baby lamb, born Wednesday afternoon to a purebred Hampshire ewe.

PYFA attends nat. institute

KANSAS CITY, Mo. - A delegation of 60 Pennsylvania Young Farmers and wives attended the 15th National Young Farmer Educational Institute in Kansas City, Mo. The Pennsylvania group presented a 10 minute slide presentation to the Institute showing what the Young Farmers will see when they hold their Institute in Pennsylvania in 1981. The Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association (PYFA) also held a hospitality party, offering Pennsylvania farm products which they took along.

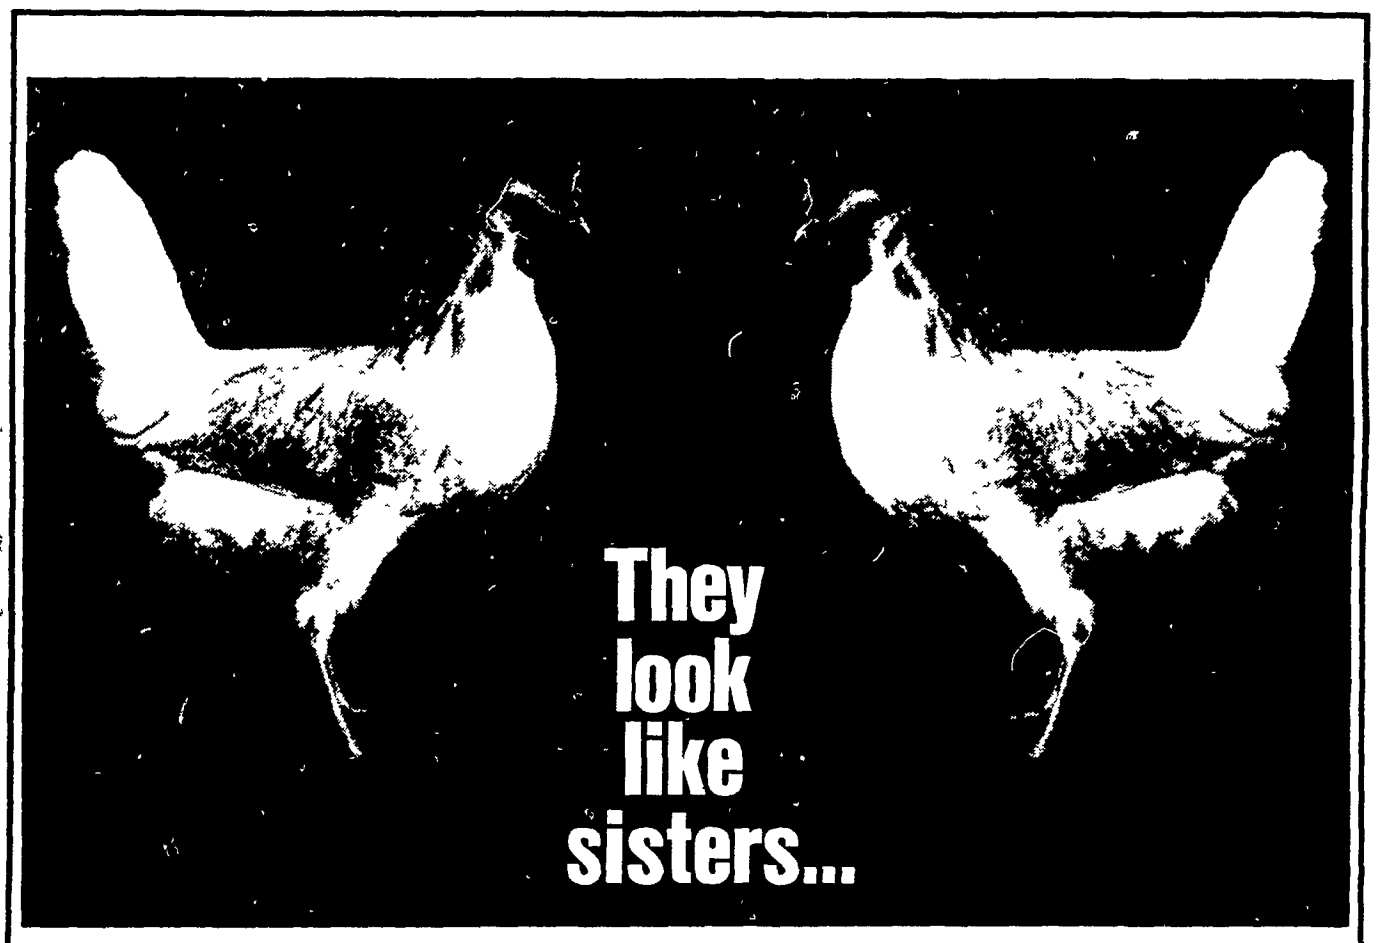
There were 1150 Young Farmers and wives representing 23 states attending the Institute. Serving as delegates to help in keeping the institute growing were Richard Hoppes, past presidnt, and Nelson Stoltzfus, president of the PYFA.

Some of the highlights of the Institute were the Spokesman For Agriculture (where 18 contestants participated) sponsored by Elanco Company with Caleb Williams of Wellsboro, representing Pennsylvania. The top three winners will meet with news media, TV stations and consumers in New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. Other highlights throughout the week were farm tours, industry tours, highlights of Kansas City, and many exhibits representing agribusiness throughout the United States. Washington, D.C. was on the line with Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland. He was asked questions concerning farm situation from a panel of six people from different states. Nelson Stoltzfus served on the panel representing Pennsylvania.

Throughout the week the delegates were entertained with top billed groups such as the Foggy River Boys, Tom T. Hall, and Billy Thunderkloud.

The Institute was held at the Crown Center in Kansas City.

On November 26 to 30, 1979, the Institute will be held in Toldeo, Ohio; 1980 Omaha, Neb., and in 1981 PYFA will be hosting the National Institute at the Hershey Convention Center, Hershey, with Stanley Wolf Orrtanna R1, serving as chairman.



but Agway research has shown that their nutrient requirements may vary significantly

Agway can now offer feeding programs tailored to many commercial layer strains.
It has been well established that meat birds have different nutrient requirements than layers *Now, Agway research has gone a step farther It has demonstrated that different strains of the same breed of commercial layers have different nutrient requirements The trials show that production can be improved with a feeding program that's tailored to the needs of a particular strain,

When three commercial strains of the same breed were tested on two Agway feeding programs, here's what happened

PERCENT HEN-DAY PRODUCTION DURING A 392-DAY LAYING TRIAL

Agway Feeding Program	Same Breed, Commercial Strain
	A	B	C
I	67 3	65 5	72 3
II	71 5	70 7	70 0

*National Academy of Sciences, Nutrient Requirements for Chickens

A little pencil work makes it apparent that the difference in total production in one of today's large commercial houses can add up to thousands of dozens of eggs during the laying period of a given strain

Agway research is continuing to develop feeding programs that provide, without excesses, the nutrients your favorite strain needs for optimum production Such research will help you, as a commercial producer, bring more eggs to market at a cost that will provide you a greater return

If you would like to know more about the possibilities of increased production through a tailored Agway feeding program, contact your Agway Poultry Enterprise Serviceperson As a first step, call your local Agway store

LINCOMIX® (lincomycin)
THE HEAVYWEIGHT

The feed additive for the treatment and control of bloody scours (swine dysentery) from birth to market.

A number of feed additives for bloody scours are on the market: But until today, few could offer such high performance and so few feeding restrictions as Lincomix.

On-farm trials have demonstrated the efficacy of Lincomix. By controlling bloody scours, Lincomix has proven its superior performance in maintaining rate of gain and feed efficiency while reducing death losses.

And Lincomix can be fed in any ration, from starter to finishing — just withdraw six days prior to slaughter. It's available in both complete feeds and supplements for on-farm mixing.

Master Farmers named

HARRISBURG – The coveted title of Master Farmer was conferred Tuesday to six farmers from Pennsylvania and one from Maryland during a special Farm Show Week luncheon of agricultural leaders at the Penn Harris Motor Inn. See detailed stories elsewhere in this issue of Lancaster Farming.

The new Master Farmers, representing six different farm operations, won recognition for their leadership in farm and civic organizations as well as outstanding achievements in agricultural production.

Those Pennsylvanians receiving the award were: Abram G. and John E. Barley, Conestoga R2, Lancaster County; Charles C. Brosius, West Grove R2, Chester County; Lowell R. Koch, Tamaqua R1, Schuylkill County; Donald V. Seipt, Easton R4, Northampton County; and Christian F. Wolff, Jr., of Millville R1, Columbia County. The Maryland farmer receiving the award C. Rodman Myers, Thurmont R2, Maryland, Frederick County.

The annual Master Farmer Awards Program is co-sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and the state Cooperative Extension Services of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Judges for this year's program were: James M. Beattie, dean of agriculture, Pennsylvania State University; Y. D. Hance, Maryland secretary of agriculture; and Gene L. Swackhamer, president of the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore.

Winners in this year's class of Master Farmers were selected from more than 300 nominations.

Not many little boys would be brave enough to be at the halter of a big cow. But 4-year old Mark Evans tackles the task with pleasure. He is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Charles C. Evans, Jr. of Pine Grove.

EVER HEAR OF 4½ FT. TO 5 FT. ALFALFA WITHOUT LODGING AND 100 BU. SOYBEANS PER ACRE? WE DID ON THE REAMS PROGRAM. AND OTHER CROPS ACCORDINGLY

It is a special way of balancing NPK & major minerals, calling for high phosphorus through natural soft rock phosphate mined in Fla. It is loaded with many precious minerals & trace elements which are transmitted into the crop & from the crop into the consumer. It costs only $80 per ton plus spreading. $100 per ton in bags. Good for everything that grows & the crop is extremely high in food value. Most livestock farmers have enough Potash for this proven program & a large percentage or all of your nitrogen can be acquired out of the air by that super strain of nitrogen fixing bacteria - BX, which also keeps up phosphorus & Potash levels from spring to fall - excellent crops for 3 yrs. without fertilizer, maybe longer - time will tell. Our Agrispon bacteria are also good but not as tough as BX.

THE REAMS PROGRAM IS TERRIFIC WITHOUT BX. THE BX IS TERRIFIC WITHOUT THE REAMS PROGRAM. Combine them & enter a contest. It is going to get interesting. Even half BX & half phosphate recommendations should drive you happy. $10 BX will cut your fertilizer bill in half, give a superior crop in QUANTITY & QUALITY, leave your soil in better condition for next year & for drought. Avoid the spring rush apply the phosphorus this winter if weather is fit to spread. It bonds to the soil, practically no loss. We get bulk ears frequently. Good discount for dumping at the barn for mixing with manure. It greatly increases the value of both manure & phosphorus & helps dry up liquid manure. We are going to get speakers for both. The Reams program by Rick Bishop of N.Y. State for the following Meeting.

VALUABLE CROPS (Quantity & Quality) MEETING

Liberty Fire Hall, East Main St., New Holland, Pa. Thurs., Feb. 1, 1979 - 12:30 sharp, lasting till bedtime except a supper break of a simple health snack, the same offered at noon so you come early. Ask us for a program schedule. The Reams program calls for soil bacteria & we believe the combination with BX will cause a green revolution that will startle the country. It produces healthy crops without spraying. BX with RPA (root protecting agent) revives sick asparagus & fruit trees & prevents nemetodes in root crops. Bring your friends, neighbors & relatives. Everybody ought to know. It takes us all to solve the water pollution problem. Read Prov. 15:7. Wholesale vegetable buyers invited at 4:00 to present their needs for the year. HARVESTORE AUTOMATION EQUIPMENT

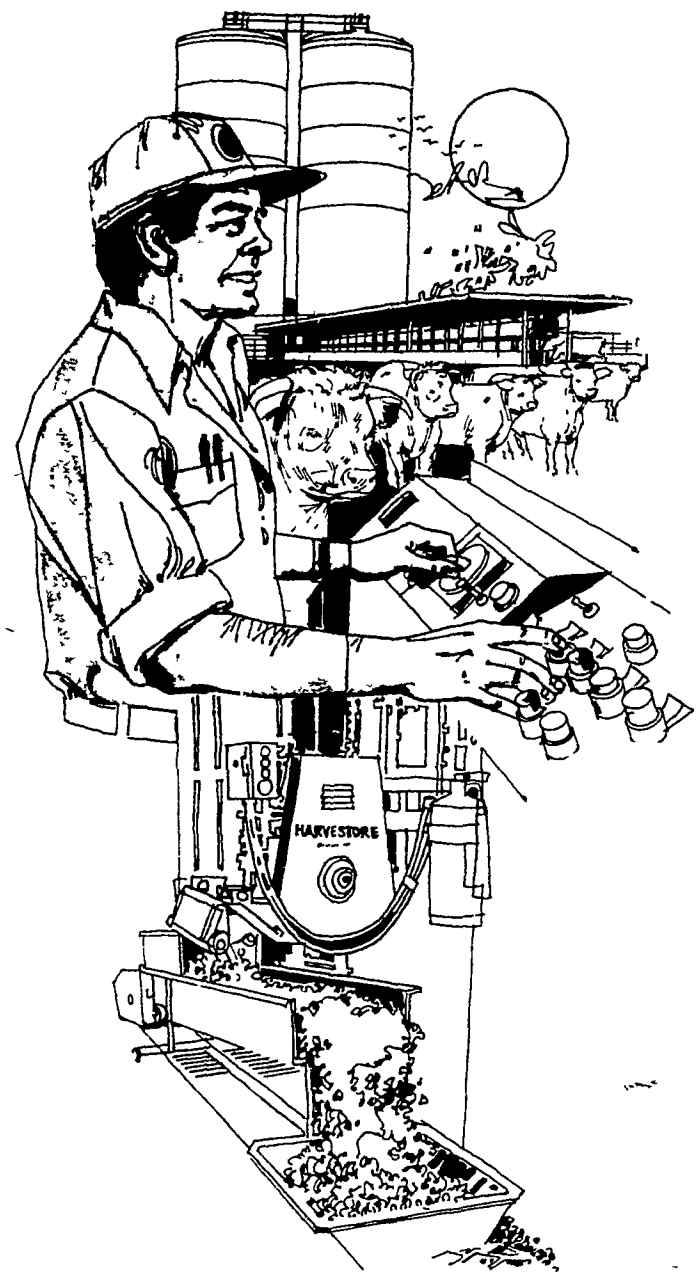
The 'systems' approach to profitable livestock production



"Harvestore farming: efficiency is the whole idea." That's more than just a catchy phrase — because the Harvestore products shown here can become elements in a complete system to help make any livestock farm more efficient, more profitable. A Harvestore system can let you carry more animals per acre . . . give you more production per animal . . . reduce labor requirements . . . and help you cut costs. Your Harvestore dealer can help you design a system that's just right for your farm.

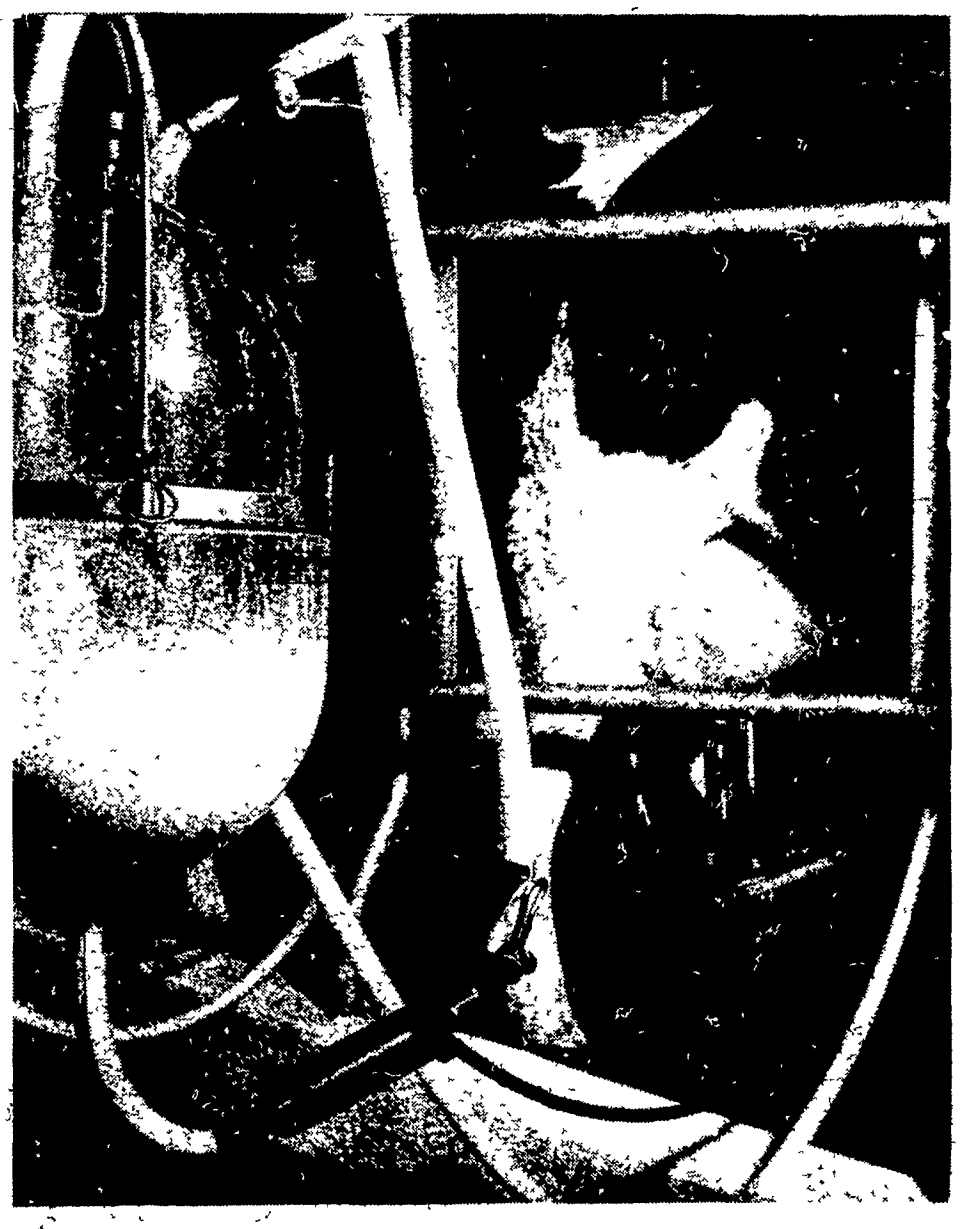
Increase the check your milking string delivers with WAYNE 38% DARI-BLEN



Your milking string can deliver a bigger check - with the help of Wayne 38% Dari-Blen.

To make milk, a cow needs protein. After each feeding, she keeps working on milk production only as long as the nutrients keep working for her. And protein is the key.

With Wayne Dari-Blen 38 percent supplement, you get protein from as many as eight different sources. As one source is used up the next carries on, like a relay team. Result: Dari-Blen feeding has boosted production in many herds as much as 20%.

State Farm Women Society president is an active lady

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

Mrs. John N. Hess, Mountville, was elected to a three-year term as president of the Pennsylvania Society of Farm Women at their annual meeting this week at the Farm Show. She is the first countian to serve in that post since 1949, despite the fact that Lancaster County boasts nearly one fourth of the total state membership. A by-laws quirk has prevented a president from this county since Mrs. Richard Edwards' three-year term in the late forties.

Helen, a member of Lancaster County Society 18, has been a Farm Women member for 28 years. Interviewed just prior to her election she said, "I feel it's a terrible responsibility, but I'm looking forward to it. Farm Women are the most wholesome, wonderful people I know. They are so real."

Helen just cannot say enough nice things about Farm Women members, and her enthusiasm is genuine because she was born and raised in a suburb of Wilkes Barre, far from any farms. However, after moving to Lancaster to work for Armstrong during the World War II she met her future husband on a blind date. Eventually she became a very hard working, dedicated farm wife, a role which she still relishes.

"It was really a transition for me. I loved it here and really liked the people. I found it difficult to break into, but once you were accepted, you were really in." In her early days on the farm, Helen carried milk and "did everything on the farm," including hoeing, cutting and stripping tobacco. Now that the dairy cows are gone, the pace of farm life has slowed.

Helen recalls that she joined Farm Women "through going to church with some of the girls." In her 28 years she said the Societies have changed a lot. "When I first belonged they were principally farm-related. Now they are so much more fulfilling. There is much more interest in the arts and their programs reflect this. They have programs on fine music, world affairs and enviromental things. They have really branced out socially and economically."

She theorizes that with farms more mechanized, farm women have more free time to pursue efforts which they once were too busy for. "Women are much more fashion-conscious and more decorating-conscious than they once were."

Becoming state president, Helen states, is "really a labor of love. Most people don't realize all the time, effort and money that's involved." She said her family is "very understanding. My husband is very proud but he kids a lot about it. I definitely would not have agreed to this without his approval."

While the state association is primarily organized to give a feeling of cohesiveness to the various county Societies, the state president does have responsibilities. The largest, of course, is presiding over the state convention, held each year during Farm Show. This is a highlight for many Farm Women, but Helen, who is in charge of tickets for this year's affair, said that the "unfortunate weather" of the past two years has kept ticket numbers lower than usual. Helen will also conduct two state board meetings during the year, to be held at the Department of Agricultural building across from the Farm Show Buildings.

One of the most fun - and most strenuous - activities of the state president is attending county conventions. Helen says, "I plan to go to all that I can. It keeps you busy, especially in the Fall."

State and county get-togethers, Helen asserts, offer "a good exchange of ideas. People do things differently in different parts of the state." She said she has enjoyed each convention she has gone to usually for different reason. Chester County always has outstanding entertainment, she said, while in Somerset County, "We always have a great time." York, she says, has excellent programs and Lancaster's is the most formal. She explained that Lancaster's formality is somewhat of a necessity, since it is the largest in numbers. "With 350 people you have to be formal and keep things going. It can't be haphazard or informal."

One of Helen's goals as state President will be to organize Farm Women groups in counties where there are none. Presently justs 19 of these 67 Pennsylvania counties have Societies. "If possible I would like to get a county or two organized." She added that the organization is scattered across the state, but almost totally excluded from some areas. Noting that Grange and homemakers groups are very strong in some areas, Helen said, "It all depends on who got there first."

Since the state has no moneymaking projects, it depends upon dues to help pay expenses. The four scholarships awarded annually are supported through donations.

Tabulating ticket sales for the state convention is no small job, with 500 tickets to be sold and seats to be assigned. Mrs. John N. Hess spent many hours working on her books prior to the convention.

In the past there have been various state sponsored projects, mostly for the purpose of honoring those Societies which made individual efforts on behalf of people in their communities. Last year's project was called "Happiness for Others", and Helen's Society, for instance, got every member participation in stripping a tobacco crop for an ill member. They also sponsored a wedding shower for the daughter of a deceased member. The State Society also strongly suggests that each local Society hold one program each year on safety. The Farm Women motto is "For Happines."

Helen served as county president about ten years ago, and says she has run the gamut of local and county offices. She also served as second vice-president and first vice-president of the state organization before taking over the reigns of the presidency.

If her experiences in other offices can be taken as a guide, there may be some interesting times ahead for the State organization. Helen says wryly, "Such humorous things happen to me as I travel with Farm Women." She related one of her experiences in presiding over a county convention. Evelyn Ay Sempier, former Miss America from Ephrata, was the featured speaker, and Helen had to introduce the music that preceded her. When Helen sat down following the introduction, the long runner on her chair fell through a small separation in the portable stage; Helen disappeared from view. When she recovered, she stepped to the microphone and brought down the house by saying, "Sometimes people say they feel like falling through the floor - well I just did!"

Her introduction to the County Board when she was president of her Society was also memorable. She recalls walking down a staircase which had curtains hanging beside it. When her name was announced, her handbag caught the curtains and down they came - all around and over her. "I wanted to die. I shall never forget my introduction to the executive board - it was quite an entrance."

Being active in Farm Women can be time-consuming, but Helen has many other projects to which she gives time. She is very active in the Rohrerstown United Church of Christ where she has served on the finance and building committees. She added, "John and I both taught Sunday School and I have sung in the church choir for 25 years."

When her only son, John, was in Cub Scouts, she was den mother, something about which she says, "I loved being a den mother. The boys were so appreciative."

Serving her third term as inspector of elections, Helen has also just completed a term on the Board of Directors of the Farm and Home Foundation.

One of Helen's well-known talents is decorating eggs. Her eggs are exquisite, and she has eggs scattered from Alaska to Hawaii to Japan. While she has given many away and sold some, her own collection is extensive.

She says she progressed slowly from decorating bowls of eggs to making an egg tree. "I never took a class. I just went from one thing to another. It is a fascinating hobby." Her husband once bought her a gosling for Easter just so she could have goose eggs to work on. She admits that her hobby becomes expensive because she has stopped using old jewelry and purchases new materials for the decorating. She economizes, though, but improvising bases for them.

She has decorated an ostrich and a rhea egg, and has made a necklace from pigeon eggs. One of her most fascinating creations is a hand painted tea set fashioned from quail eggs, pullet eggs and a large chicken egg. The egg she most prizes is a rhea egg which features three hinged openings, each with a tiny surprise inside. Helen comments that the eggs, when completed, are quite durable. She also said that she designs the egg completely in her head before starting the work. She said they make a very special gift for "someone who has everything."

Ceramics is another interest of Helen's, but she says emphatically. "I like to do things that I can use, like compotes and soup tureens." Included in her Chistmas decorations are a group of carolers and some handsomely-made nativity figures.

Dried flower arrangements were once a great interest for Helen, and she said she would always stop by the roadside to collect dried weeds and flowers.

The Hesses live in a lovely old farm house just outside Mountville. Helen says, modestly, "It has a lot of charm." A hand molded plaster ceiling in the living room is part of its charm as is the interesting moulding which differs from room to room.

As most farm wives, Helen says she enjoys canning and freezing, but does a lot more freezing. She adds, "I like to entertain. I use any excuse for entertaining. I enjoy making a fancy buffet." She said she feels most farm wives get used to cooking good, but plain food, and welcome the chance to be fancy. She is also justifiably proud of her recently remodeled kitchen, with many well-thought out features.

As Helen's year as state president begins to unfold, she may not be spending so much time on her hobbies. She said, "We have had such marvelous officers that I hope to carry on that tradition. It's a difficult tradition to follow."

With her past experience, her dedication to rural living and her sense of humor, she is sure to create her own tradition at the state level.

3 tablespoons butter

Scald and cool milk. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Combine milk, yeast mixture, flour, sugar, lard, salt and eggs. Mix well until dough does not stick to the sides. Put in a greased bowl and cover with a towel. Place in a warm place and let the dough rise until double in bulk. Punch down dough after it has risen. Roll dough in a rectangle, about ¼ inch thick. Spread one tablespoon butter over the dough. If desired, raisins, and a cinamon-sugar mixture can be sprinkled over the rolled-out dough at this time. Starting from the long side of the rectangle, roll the dough to the other long side. Cut the rolled dough into ½ to one inch slices. Boil the brown sugar, 1 cup of water, syrup and 2 tablespoons of butter for five minutes. Put half of this mixture in cake pans. Put the slices of rolled dough into the pans, leaving a space between each. Cover and let dough rise again. When the dough has doubled in size, pour the remaining syrup mixture over the top of the buns and bake at 375°F for 15 to 20 minutes. Turn out on pan as soon as you remove from oven.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Co. Society 1

Claude Young of the Rothsville Fire Company presented a program on "Safety, Fire Prevention and Smoke Detectors" during a recent meeting of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 1. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Newcomer, with 29 members and four visitors in attendance. Viola Wolf served as co-hostess.

Martha Jane Brubaker, Marion Fuhrman and Mary Clark represented the group at the state convention held in Harrisburg January 8 and 9. Members voted to give $10 to the Porcine Heart Valve Research Fund. Plans were announced to hold the Spring Rally May 16 at Elizabethtown College.

The next meeting of the Society will be at the home of Anne Shreiner. Roll call will be answered by describing a favorite toy.

Lancaster Co. Society 6

Sixteen members of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 6 held their first meeting of the new year on January 6 at the home of Mrs. Bernard. Mrs. Sarah Halisberg and Anna Geyer served as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Saylor presided at the meeting. Two members were planning to attend the state convention. It was reported that three fruit baskets were given out in December.

Paul Goss, a drivers education teacher, gave safety tips and described the new code. He also explained alcoholic tests, radar, and other things. Goss has been a teacher at the Elizabethtown Area High for 20 years.

The next meeting will be held on February 3, at 2 p.m. in the parlor of the Church of the Brethren.

Lancaster Co. Society 26

Joan Summy hosted the December meeting of the Lancaster County Farm Women Society 26.

Farm Show delegates chosen were Janet Buchen and Jannet Erb. Erma Esbenshde installed Polly Kreider as president and Judy Esbenshade as the first vice president for 1979.

The program was a slide presentation by outgoing president Erma Esbenshade.

Christmas gifts were exchanged and secret sisters were revealed. Refreshments were served by the hostess and the co-hostess, Lucille Buckwalter.

York Co. Society 1

Evelyn Paige hosted the York County Society of Farm Women 1 on January 3. Seventeen members and 1 guest were present.

The Society made donations to the York rescue mision and gifts to the York County Mental Health for guests at the Harrisburg State Hospital.

It was announced that the Spring rally of Farm Women will be held in May at Elizabethtown College.

Pearl Best spoke of her work in Farm Women Activities in the Lancaster County area.

Readings and games followed.

York Co. Society 29

The York County Farm Women Society 29 will meet on January 16 at the Laurer-Chanceford township building along route 74. Jan Flaharty will serve as hostess.

A Sara Coventry demonstration will be the program of the evening.

Pork recipes to please any palate

Today Home on the Range features pork recipes, with entries ranging from Pork Chop Supreme to Dill Sauce Tenderloin. Many of the recipes have been provided by the National Pork Producers Council, from Des Moines, Iowa.

Beef recipes will be featured next week in the recipe column, with lamb recipes finishing out the month of January.

February will begin with cheese, cheese balls, and cheese spreads. And to help celebrate Valentine's Day, special recipes with a valentine theme will be featured February 10. Cherry desserts will be seen in the Home on the Range on the following week and eggs as you like them will round out the month.

Check the Recipe Theme Calendar for the deadlines for the different weeks and send your recipes into Home on the Range, Lancaster Farming, Box 366, Lititz, Pa. 17543.

Among the recipes listed in today's Home on the Range is Pork Risotto. The main dish features pork shoulder, rice, and peas.

PORK CHOPS SUPREME

4 lean pork chops, one inch thick
4 thin onion slices
4 thin lemon slices
¼ cup brown sugar, packed
¼ cup catsup

Heat oven to 350 Degrees F. Season well with salt. Place in 13 x 9½ x 2 inch pan or large baking dish. Top each pork chop with an onion slice and a lemon slice. Place one tablespoon of brown sugar and one tablespoon of catsup on top of each. Cover and bake for one hour. Uncover and bake for 30 minutes longer, basting occasionally. Serves four.

Mrs. Ruth E. Ruoss
Blain, Pa.

PORK CHOPS WITH TOMATO RICE SOUP

8 pork chops, sliced thin
2 large onions, sliced
3 cans tomato rice soup (10¾ ounce size)
salt and pepper
2 tablespoons pepper

Brown pork chops and onions in a large skillet or heavy pot, with butter. Add tomato rice soup, diluted with two cans of water. Add salt and pepper. Cook for one hour or until meat is done.

PICNIC SHOULDER STUFFED WITH SAUERKRAUT

4 to 5 pounds fresh picnic shoulder (boned) sauerkraut
dried rosemary (crumbled)

Make a pocket in the shoulder, sprinkle the inside with salt and pepper, and fill the pocket with sauerkraut. Sew the opening. Sprinkle dried rosemary, to your taste, and salt and pepper over meat. Dredge flour all over the meat. Place in roaster with eight ounces of water and roast in slow oven, 325 Degrees F. for four hours, or until well done. Serves six people.

Mrs. Eva S. Rubinosky
Upper Gwynedd, Pa.

PORK RISOTTO

2 pounds pork shoulder steak cut ¼ to ¾ inch-thick
1 tablespoon shortening
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup water
1 cup long grain rice (not quick cook)
½ cup chopped onion
1 can (13¾ ounces) chicken broth
½ teaspon leaf thyme, optional
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas defrosted
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives

Trim meat from bones; cut into serving pieces. Brown meat on both sides in shortening in 10 or 12-inch skillet. Sprinkle in 1 teaspoon salt over meat. Add ¼ cup water; cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes or until meat is almost tender Remove meat from skillet; keep warm Stir rice and onion into pan drippings. Add chicken broth, remaining ¼ cup water, 1 teaspoon salt and thyme, if used Bring to simmering stage Top with reserved pork Cover, cook over low heat until meat and rice are tender and liquid absorbed Stir in peas and olives Cover and heat until peas are tender, about 8 minutes. Yield 6 servings.

HAM AND POTATO PLATTERS

2 slices (½-inch each) fully cooked ham
1 package (10 ounces) frozen broccoli with cheese sauce
1 can (2-½ ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
¼ cup packed brown sugar
1 tablespoons apple cider vinegar
1 tablespoons prepared mustard
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
5 tablespoons butter or margarine
1¼ cups instant mashed potato flakes
½ cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon prepared horseradish
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Place ham on rack in broiler pan. Broil at moderate temperature three to four inches from heat for eight minutes, turning once.

Meanwhile, cook broccoli according to package directions; stir in mushrooms. In small bowl, combine brown sugar, vinegar, mustard, and ½ teaspoon horseradish. Brush brown sugar mixture on ham. In medium saucepan, combine 1-¼ cups water, two tablespoons butter, and ½ teaspoon salt; bring to boiling. Remove from heat; stir in potato flakes, sour cream, and ½ teaspoon horseradish. Place on two ovenproof platters. Pipe a border of potato around ham slices. Drizzle potato with three tablespoons melted butter. Spoon broccoli onto platter. Broil at moderate temperature three to four inches from heat till potatoes are browned, about four minutes. Makes 2 servings.

BROILED PORK CHOP SWEET POTATO DINNER

4 pork rib or loin chops, cut 1 to 1¼ inches thick
1 can (1 pound) peach halves
1 can (1 pound) vacuum-packed sweet potatoes
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons light brown sugar, packed
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt

Place pork chops on one side of broiler pan. Drain peach halves; save ¼ cup syrup. Arrange sweet potatoes and peach halves in shallow 1½-quart baking dish or aluminum foil pan. Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in remaining ingredients; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Drizzle syrup over potatoes and peaches. Broil chops about 4 to 5 inches from heat source 10 to 13 minutes. Turn chops; place baking dish on broiler pan with chops. Broil 10 to 12 minutes or until chops are done Spoon syrup over sweet potatoes and peach halves 2 or 3 times during heating. Yield· 4 servings.

SPICED PINEAPPLE PORK ROAST

4 pound bone-in pork loin roast
1 jar (12 ounces) pineapple preserves
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 can (8 ounces) pineapple slices, drained

Place roast on rack in shallow roasting pan Insert meat thermometer into thickest part of roast, not touching bone Roast, uncovered, in a 325°F oven till meat thermometer registers 170°F , about 2-¾ hours Meanwhile, in small saucepan, combine pineapple preserves, honey, vinegar, mustard, salt, cinnamon, and cloves Cook, stirring constantly, over low heat till preserves melt. During last 20 minutes of roasting time, garnish roast with pineapple slices and brush with pineapple glaze several times. Serve remaining glaze warm with roast. Makes six servings.

GERMAN BRATWURST SUPPER

3 smoked bratwurst, cut in thirds
4 slices bacon
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (8 ounces) potatoes, sliced
1 tablespoons all-purpose flour
½ cup water
2 to 3 tablespoons cider vinegar
1 tablespoon sugar
1 tablespoon snipped fresh parsley

In medium skillet, cook bacon over moderate heat till crisp. Crumble bacon and set aside; reserve drippings in skillet. Cook onion in reserved drippings till tender, stirring occasionally. Stir in crumbled bacon, bratwurst, potatoes, and pimiento. Cook, stirring occasionally, over moderate heat till mixture is heated through, about five minutes. Stir in flour. Add water, vinegar, sugar, and parsley. Cook, stirring constantly, over moderate heat till mixture is thickened and bubbly. Cook one minute longer Makes two servings.

HUNGRYMAN'S SPECIAL STUFFED CHOPS

2 double-rib pork chops, cut 2-½ to 3-½ inches thick
1 teaspoon dried rosemary
¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms, drained
½ cup herb seasoned stuffing
2 tablespoons dry white wine
½ cup dry white wine
½ cup chicken broth

Cut a pocket in each chop by cutting into center of chop from rib side, parallel to rib bone and surface of chop Sprinkle with rosemary, salt, and pepper In medium skillet, melt butter Cook onion in melted butter over moderate heat till onion is tender, stirring occasionally Remove from heat. Stir in mushrooms, stuffing, and two tablespoons wine Stuff half the stuffing mixture into each chop Place in 8x8x2-inch baking dish. Pour ½ cup wine and broth over chops Bake, covered, in a 350°F. oven till chops are done, about 1¼ to ½ hours. Makes two servings

DILL SAUCED TENDERLOIN

2 pork tenderloins, 4 ounces each
1 egg
1 tablespoon water
1 cup Swiss cheese cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon dried dillweed
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup chicken broth
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Pound tenderloins to 1/8-inch thickness. In pie plate, beat egg and water. Combine cracker crumbs, paprika, and dillweed in a second pie plate. Dip tenderloins in crumbs, then in egg, then back in crumbs. In medium skillet, melt butter. Cook tenderloins in melted butter over moderate heat till brown, about four minutes. Turn and cook till done, about four minutes. Remove; keep warm. Stir cornstarch into drippings. Add broth; cook and stir till thickened and bubbly. Stir in lemon juice. Cook one minute longer. Spoon sauce atop tenderloins. Makes two servings.

Top home-ec exhibits chosen

HARRISBURG – Juniata-Mifflin Area Vocational Technical School, Lewistown, Mifflin County, won the top award in the 56th annual School Home Economics Window Exhibit Contest. The exhibit entitled "Raise Your Calorie IQ", was made of cloth and depicted various foods and caloric content. Also included in the exhibit was information to identify the calorie, its value to the body and why some foods are better than others.

The next highest award went to Mifflinburg Area High School, Mifflinburg, Union County, for the exhibit entitled "When It Comes To Buying Furniture." A platform rocker of wood and fabric and an end table of maple, both in Early American Design, were displayed with points for the consumer to consider prior to purchase.

The exhibit entitled, "Be Wide - Immunize" won the next placement for Central Columbia High School, Bloomsburg, Columbia County. The exhibit encouraged parents to immunize their children against diseases such as measles, polio and diptheria to prevent crippling and other impairments to the body. The exhibit also emphasized Pennsylvania's School Immunization Law.

East Juniata High School, Cocolamus, Juniata County, placed fifty with the exhibit entitled "Healthy Babies". Important do's and dont's were given to practice before and after a baby's birth to ensure good health.

The exhibit entitled "Don't Buzz Around - Dress Up Those Plain Windows", won a prize for Harrisburg High School, Harrisburg, Dauphin County. The exhibit illustrated various types of window treatments such as cafe and shirred curtains, drapes combined with sheers, pleated draperies and draperies with a valence added.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

January and February are usually my time to relax a bit. When the wind howls and bangs the rolling door at the barn, then I really appreciate our warm home. The cat has been allowed in for a short nap on the chair and the grandfather's clock chimes the hours away.

My many flower plants need to be moved off the window sills occasionally when the temperature drops to zero as their leaves would freeze to the panes. I'm trying to force tulips to bloom indoors after storing then in the refrigerator for a few months. A Christmas gift from my son was an amaryllis lily which now has four nine-inch blossoms on it. It really should have its picture taken! Speaking of Christmas gifts, my daughter gave me a beautiful white knitted afghan which she made for me. Another son gave his time and repaired my magazine rack. And we got so many kinds of cheese that I've decided to freeze some of them.

The holiday season was a bit hectic as we entertained both sides of our family again on two different days. Just adding boards from the attic to our tables and washing and ironing enormous white tablecloths takes time. We had a sit-down meal for almost 70 people. This year I was prepared and moved breakable items out of reach of tiny fingers. In their place we put gum drop candy trees which were edible.

So this Winter, I shall try to write a few extra letters and maybe embroider a sampler. Of course, the new seed catalogs which the mailman brings can't be completely ignored. And then, at least in my mind, I'm off and running as I plan which new vegetables and flowers I'll try this Spring.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

"Don't be so overly concerned about this area's loss of farmland We can always purchase food that's been grown elsewhere."

That, my friends, is the theme being sung by supposedly responsible land planning officials, according to news articles I read recently.

Forces beyond our mere individual taxpayer-voter control seem bound and determined to smother southcentral Pennsylvania's rich, fertile first-class soils with a sprawling megalopolis: look-alike high-rancher developments, industry fleeing from crime-ridden cities, neon-flashing shopping centers and malls.

With the bustle of the bright lights and the mortgage money comes increased business. Higher tax bases. Increased federal funds and grants.

And people. People seeking a slower, more meaningful way of life. People running from the pressures of a hostile crammed population. People longing for fresh air, green grass, pure sweet water.

People, lest we forget, need to eat. And they demand food that's high-quality, plentiful and inexpensive.

Food crops that can be raised both here at home and in a variety of other parts of the country spread out the marketing season and safeguard against total failures due to weather or disease or insects. Remember lettuce prices of last year—or the current raisin shortage—both due to disastrous harvest weather?

Food produced close to where it's eaten is more tasty and nutritious because it can be left on the tree or plant to ripen to the fullest potential of vitamins and flavor. Remember how shipped tomatoes, peaches or sweet corn taste compared to that just picked and put on the table?

Food produced within miles of our homes and sold fresh is cheaper, more dependable in supply, not so easily manipulated by shipping strikes, commodity speculation, or senseless political maneuvering. Remember the wheeling-dealing, hoarding and wild price rumors of coffee stocks the past two years?

Sure, we can pave over our farmland, watch our farmers retire or flee to less productive land and economically survive without the millions of dollars generated here annually through agriculture-related businesses.

Certainly we can purchase and ship in food from other states and even countries from the other side of world.

Someone like Iran, the Arabs, or OPEC perhaps?

GETTING THE MOST OUT OF POTATOES

Potatoes haven't become one of the world's favorite foods without good reason. They are always low in cost and are an excellent nutritional buy. One dollar spent on potatoes provides more thiamine (vitamin B1) than a dollar spent on any other food. Also, potatoes are second after citrus fruits in vitamin C per dollar; second in niacin; and second in iron yield per dollar.

Now is a particularly good time to take advantage of the nutritional benefits of potatotes, since they are coming to markets in plentiful supply. For best results in preserving the potato's valuable nutrients, I recommend the following tips on preparation:

* Gently scrub potatoes under running water with a vegetable brush or cellulose sponge to clean.
* When boiling potatoes, use as little water as possible to prevent loss of important nutrients.
* Steaming potatoes is an excellent way to conserve their nutrients.
* Leaving skin on potatoes during cooking is also recommended to help prevent loss of nutrients.
* If the potatoes are peeled before cooking, use a vegetable parer, keeping peelings as thin as possible; since many of the potato's nutrients are found close to the skin.
* Cook peeled potatoes right away or they will become discolored.
* To protect their whiteness, toss them with ascorbic acid mixture or a little lemon juice. Soaking potatoes in a bowl of cold water to protect their whiteness is not recommended; it can result in some vitamin loss.
* To retain nutrients better cook potatoes whole. However, they may be halved, sliced or diced before cooking if a shorter cooking time is desired.

Potato salad is an All-American favorite. For an interesting variation try...

Hot Sweet-and-Sour Potato Salad

8 medium potatoes
salt
4 slices bacon diced
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
½ cup chopped bread-and-butter pickles
1 cup sliced celery

About 1 hour and 15 minutes before serving.

BEFORE SERVING

In 5-quart Dutch oven or saucepot, over high heat, in 1 inch of boiling water, heat unpeeled potatoes and 2 teaspoons salt to boiling. Reduce heat to low; cover and simmer 30 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Drain; peel and cut potatoes in cubes.

In 3-quart saucepan over medium-low heat; cook bacon until browned. Meanwhile, in a small bowl, combine eggs, sugar, vinegar, pepper, mustard and 2 teaspoons salt. Mix well, using a spoon.

With slotted spoon, remove bacon to paper towels. Into bacon drippings in saucepan, stir egg mixture; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is just thickened, but not boiling. Add potatoes, pickles, celery and bacon; gently toss to coat well. Makes 6 servings.

Agway Insurance announces

•A new health plan providing a million-dollar maximum benefit

The skyrocketing cost of medical care is a bitter pill to swallow.

Make sure you and your family have protection against a potential financial disaster due to accident or illness by investigating Agway's new health/life insurance plan. It provides a $1 million maximum benefit intended to keep pace with inflation. This plan is designed exclusively for agricultural people and their families who are not eligible for Medicare. It includes co-insurance and a deductible to help limit the cost to participants.

Here are some features you should examine:

- Coverage for second opinion on surgery paid at 100%
- Automatic inflation adjustment for the expense of semiprivate hospital room
- Full coverage up to $100 for minor accidents
- 100% of covered expenses above the "stop loss"
- Basic life and accidental death and dismemberment benefits, double for farm-related accidental death

Strong medicine you can afford

The cost of this group health-insurance plan reflects the economics of mass purchasing. There are approximately 75,000 persons participating. Covered medical expenses include all those prescribed by a doctor for an accident or sickness, and this new plan pays 100% of covered expenses after you reach the "stop loss" of $2450.00, including the deductible.

You make the decision

Take a few minutes to review your current medical insurance. Then compare it against this new Agway plan. We believe the new plan from Agway Insurance may improve your coverage. Just clip and mail this coupon for the full facts.

There is one little nuisance of Winter weather that occasionally gets under my skin Frozen water buckets in the horse stalls have the power of absolutely driving me crazy

I've come to the conclusion that there is just no graceful way to remove the ice from a water bucket. The only way to drive it out of its happy home is to get nasty with it

So, on many a bitterly cold Winter day, you will see Kendy down at the barn, attacking the stubborn ice.

My first move is to strike at the offending ice with my trusty four foot long metal pole If the ice is less than an inch thick, I come away an easy victor, and I will depart from the barn shortly after with a smile on my face.

But if the ice is that solid-to-the-bottom-of-the-container variety, all out war is declared and drastic action is taken.

The traitorous water bucket is scooped off of its niche in the barn and dragged outside where it is promptly dropped on its top. Muttering dire threats under my breath, the bucket is kicked and pounded vigorously.

If the ice persists yet, in desperation I pick it up, swing with all my might, and slam it against the barn wall. In shock, the ice will usually fall to the ground, dazed and bewildered.

At last happy, I pick up the bucket and go to the spicket to refill them, only to find that the pipes have frozen too.

Let's face it. There are some aspects of Winter that do make it hard to live with.

Ladies Have You Heard?

in selecting a blanket, because it contributes to warmth. Air and heat from the body are trapped by the air cells in the nap of the blanket to provide a layer of warmth next to your skin. A densely-napped blanket will be warmer.

You can test the quality of the blanket by taking a tiny pinch of the blanket, catching only the nap. Then lift the blanket slightly. If the nap doesn't pull loose, the blanket should be durable.

Check the blanket binding. Nylon is usually recommended because it's colorfast and wears well. Raw edges of binding ends should be turned to prevent raveling. Binding is usually more durable if attached with a zig-zag stitch.

Many fibers are used for blankets. The most common and their general characteristics are:

* Acrylic–mothproof, non-allergenic, lightweight, very warm, resists shrinkage and distortion, long wearing, tends to pull and may generate static electricity unless controlled by a finish, machine washable and dryable.

* Rayon–relatively warm and lightweight, moth resistant, will shrink or stretch unless carefully handled in washing, has limited wear.

* Polyester-warmth without weight, machine washable and dryable, non-allergenic, moth and mildew resistant, will pull or generate static electricity unless a special finish is applied.

* Cotton–lightweight, wears well, moth resistant, may shrink unless treated, doesn't take as high as nap as some other yarns.

* Wool–very warm, takes high nap, long wearing, needs special finishes to control shrinkages and moth damage, more expensive than some synthetics.

Sewing workshop for new fashions slated

MEDIA - New Techniques for New Fabrics is the topic of a series of four workshops offered by the Penn State Extension Service, says Maryetta Duffner, Delaware County Extension home economist. They will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. on January 31, February 7, 12, 21, in the Toal Building Auditorium, corner of 2nd and Orange streets, Media.

To register for the course send a check for $11.50 made payable to Home Economics Workshops to Maryetta Duffner, Extension Service, Toal Building, 2nd and Orange Streets, Media, Pa. 19063. Registrations are due by January 23. Include your name, address, phone and the name of the Workshop you wish to attend. In this class you will learn to sew polyester knits, jersey, tricot knits, etc. These are the fabrics that are so popular now but you need to learn how to work with them correctly. The public is invited to attend this series. Parking is available in the County garage, Third and Olive Streets.

Master Farmer wives dedicated to farming life

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

CONESTOGA – Jane and Pattye Barley are involved farm wives who share a common commitment to their farming life, their families and their communities. Both women have important roles in the dairy partnership which contributed to the Master Farmer Award presented to their husbands John and Abram at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg.

With a successful dairying operation at Star Rock Farm in Lancaster County, both Barley families share an active life on the farm with their children, and have activities which reflect their feeling of making a contribution to the community around them.

The John Barley family lives on the farm where the dairy herd is housed and maintained, at Conestoga R2. Jane's contribution to the total farm operation is taking care of the books. "I like to do it but I do it either late at night or early in the morning. I like to do some of the work every other day, but sometimes I do it only two days a week."

Keeping records is no small job at Star Rock Farm; it includes the payroll for six full time and five part time employees, plus other farm records.

The mother of four young children, Jane says she hopes the bookwork can be done during the day when the children are all in school. The Barley children include Robert, 9; Tommy, 7; Susie, 5; and Cindy, 3.

Jane says, "The boys help on the farm, and Susie helps in the house. A farm is really great for the kids. John can keep them busy." She makes it clear that she is happy they live on a farm where children learn early the need to take responsibility. While Jane did not grow up on a farm, she lived next door to an orchard, and so was no stranger to the atmosphere or the work of a farm.

Jane does not work in the barn on a regular schedule, but helps out however whenever needed. One of her jobs is to clean up and get ready for the many bus tours and other groups of visitors who come to see the dairying operation at Star Rock Farm. While it sometimes means a lot of work, Jane doesn't mind. She explains, "It's good we get visitors. It keeps the barn cleaned up."

Almost all visitors to the farm are served milk punch. Jane says enthusiastically, "It really promotes your product. It gets people to go out and start buying." She enjoys relating the story of serving punch to some visitors and having one of them request the recipe for his pregnant wife who didn't enjoy drinking milk. "We think it's important to promote and do a lot of promotion of our products. It is beneficial to the whole farm program."

Jane is modest about her involvements, and adds that it is only within the last four years that they have been able to devote an increasing amount of time to community commitments. "We spent the first ten years building up the business. We were constantly working to build the business."

In 1974 they were asked to participate in the Young Cooperator program sponsored by Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative, of which they are members. They placed third there, and Jane said, "Then we started getting involved. Now we feel if you don't get involved it is detrimental to your business. You must get involved." As Jane puts it, "If you don't do it who else will do it?"

As vice president of the Parent Teachers Organization at Creswell School where her children attend, she is in charge of the program committee. But she likes to help out in other ways at the school. "They often call me to come to do something, but I can take Cindy along, so I don't mind."

The Barley family belong to Emmanuel Lutheran Church in Lancaster, and Jane is a member of the Christian Education Committee which directs the Sunday School curriculum. She is a teacher herself, of four and five-year-olds, and says with a laugh, "They keep you stepping."

Through her hard work, the young children at church presented a Christmas program for the congregation. Jane confessed to being worried about the reaction because such a program hadn't been done for a long time, but said she received so many good comments she's considering organizing one for Easter. She added, "It was a lot of hard work."

Jane is a member of the women's committee and the legislative committee of the Lancaster County Farmers association. She is also on the board of the Women's Republican Club as an area representative, but is "just getting started" in that role.

In the Fall, it is not unusual to find Jane on the hockey field, playing regularly. "It is my favorite sport and I thought a lot about playing it. I thought when all the kids were in school I would get a team together and play hockey. I just loved hockey in high school and in college." As it turns out she didn't need to wait. She met a friend who knew of a team, and they play eight scheduled games although they are not members of a league. Jane said, "I really like it, and John was all for it. The kids can go along to practices and play beside the field."

Jane is in charge of yard work around the house which she calls "an endless job." She cans and freezes, but has no garden. She said, "My mother-in-law and mother always have plenty left."

She likes to bake and enjoys cooking for her family. "They are all good eaters. I think it comes from being on a farm."

Jane attends a Bible study group every Wednesday morning, where, she says, "We do a lot of sharing." And she spends a lot of time going for spare parts. "I always help when John needs something. I am willing to help because we are working together. I think farmers appreciate their wives more than others because they realize how much they contribute." When she has spare time, she says, "I feel I had better go and do books."

For Pattye Barley, the most important thing in her life is caring for her family and helping out on the farm. The Abram Barley family lives on a farm about three miles from the main dairy herd, at Washington Boro, R1. All of the calves are raised there, and Pattye takes the major responsibility for that job. "I try to raise the calves. Sometimes you must be a veterinarian at the same time. You have to feel your way with them."

All their calves are in hutches, which Pattye feels contributes to their extremely low mortality rate. "They are out in the environment, and do well in tural surroundings." She d she is always on the kout for calves who won't ink their bottles or who are t act up to par.

Feeding calves in hutches is not the most comfortable job In the Winter, it is cold and dark at 5 a.m. when Pattye likes to start. "It is cold and windy there. I wear insulated coveralls and a couple of sweaters. The job takes about two hours. I do enjoy it much better in the Summer time."

For Pattye, living and raising children on a dairy farm is an extension of her own childhood. Her late father worked on Lauxmont Farms in York County, and she said, "I was always around that type of atmosphere."

The Barley's three children-Abbey, 11; Abe., Jr., 12, and John, 5 help out with the job of feeding calves in the evenings after school.

They attend St. Joseph's School in Lancaster, and Pattye helps out as room mother and in the library. "I try to help in any way I can." She often goes into the school two or three times a week, even occasionally taking her turn helping out in the school yard. John goes right along to the school when she is working there, so there is no baby-sitting problem.

They attend St. Philip's Church in Millersville, where Pattye serves on the board of the women's auxiliary, and is chairman of the youth committee. She is also a member of the women's committee of the Lancaster County Farmers Association. She served on the picnic committee and on the health and safety committee.

Pattye explains her involvement, "I enjoy being in what I can be. But if I get in too much it get's frustrating." She added that with children to raise and the farm to care for she feels the outside involvement must stop somewhere.

She agrees strongly with Jane that living on a farm is a good way to raise children. "With my children going to school in the city, I can see that there are children who don't know what to do with themselves. Here we really try to center things around the family."

Her oldest son, Abe, Jr., works a lot with his father. "Abe is the kind who goes out and shows the children how to do it," she comments.

Pattye pointed out that her family enjoys doing things together. "We take walks, ride bikes, go to the shore and like to have picnics." She and her husband Abe share an interest in antiques, and his hobby is cutting wood which they burn in their fireplace throughout the day to add to the warmth of the farm house.

Mowing the yard is Pattye's responsibility, and in the Summer, she says, "We do a lot of freezing. We freeze and can a little bit of everything. We freeze a lot of strawberries for homemade ice cream. I enjoy cooking , baking and canning."

Occasionally, she says, she will find a craft which she can really enjoy. Last year the craft was making baler twine wreaths, and she says with a laugh, "We gave one to everybody."

Working on farm records is a major part of Jane's work on the farm. She said that she finds herself doing the work late at night or in the early morning, because during the day she is busy doing mother's chores and helping with farm errands.

Reading, taking pictures and playing tennis are other things she enjoys, but doesn't always find much time for.

Pattye enjoys helping to entertains the many visitors to Star Rock Farm. She often serves punch with Jane, saying, "I love meeting people." She was enthusiastic about the 2,000 people who toured the farm during a farm visitation day sponsored by the Lancaster County Farmers Association.

She related a very pleasant day spent talking with an Israeli who was visiting a local family. "He was very interested in the dairy, and as it turned out he spent the whole day. It was a day well spent. The kids were here and they learned too. Sometimes the unexpected works out better."

Pattye shares that job called "running for parts" with other farm wives, adding, "You think your day is set and then you must go get something." Despite the interruptions it causes in any kind of schedule, she made it clear that she feels helping her husband in his business is the most supportive thing she can do.

When asked how she feels about her husband being named a Master Farmer, she said, "I guess I shouldn't say this, but he really deserves it."

John and Jane and Abram and Pattye have built a successful farming operation because of their commitment to hard work and way of life. Jane and Pattye both are proud that their hard work has paid off in the form of the Master Farmer Award, and they certainly deserve a large share of the credit for the very supportive role they both play in making Star Rock Farm a productive dairy farm.

Extension agents broadcast Farm Show news

Blaine Schlosser, Crawford County agent, was one of six Extension Service employees who supplied Farm Show highlights to some 90 radio stations around the state. Phoned-in reports vary in length from one to five minutes and are tailored specifically to the local station's interests and coverage area.

Shober-Calvert Farms of Berlin R4, took championship honors with their Shropshire ewe. The partnership also showed the reserve champion ewe and reserve champion Shropshire ram. Holding the ewe is Tom Calvert, while Larry Shober holds the plaque.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shearer of Mountville, Lancaster County, showed the champion Southdown ewe at the 63rd Pa. Farm Show on January 8. Presenting the plaque is the Pennsylvania Southdown Queen, Miss Karen McCammon of Schellsburg.

Corn clinic slated for Jan. 18

YORK - York County's number one grain crop, corn, will be the topic of an all-day clinic scheduled for Thursday, January 18, at the 4-H Center near Bair.

Doors will open at 9:30 a.m. with a half-hour period before the first session for early comers to visit the approximately 25 agri-business representatives expected to set up displays at the Center.

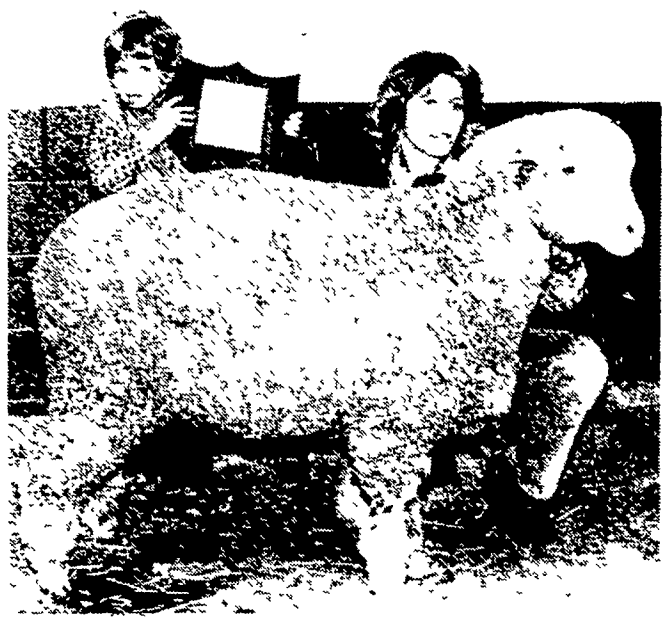
The 10 a.m. morning program will feature Penn State corn specialist Joe McGahen, with a "back to basics" program, University Entomologist Stan Gesell on the topic of corn root worms, and proper sprayer operation techniques by Wayne Marz of Stauffer Chemical Company.

A highlight of the session will be the presentation of 5-acre corn club awards, which will be announced just before the 11:30 a.m. luncheon.

A corn-growing practices panel discussion will be included during the afternoon portion of the program, featuring Ed Rohrbaugh, Seven Valleys; Wilson Nace, Hanover; Hughes Manifold, Stewartstown and Richard Luckenbaugh of Spring Grove.

Reservations are necessary for the luncheon and can be made through the County Extension office or area agri-businesses.

Moore exhibits champion Rambouillets



The champion Rambouillet ewe at the 63rd Pennsylvania Farm Show was owned by Kenneth T. Moore of Nichols, N.Y. (Pennsylvania residents). Showing the ewe is Doris Powell, also of Nichols. Her son Richie shows off the plaque. Moore, who has won many championships with his Rambouillets in past Farm Shows, also won reserve champion ewe, and champion and reserve champion ram at the show. Other exhibitors in the Rambouillet show include Joan and Ronald Miller of Somerset, and Emil Mellot of Needmore R1.

Doris Powell of Nichols, N.Y. shows the champion Rambouillet ram owned by Kenneth T. Moore of Nichols, at the 63rd Pennsylvania Farm Show. Richie Powell holds up the plaque won by the champion. This ram has been undefeated at 14 fairs in Pennsylvania and New York. He was also selected as the champion Rambouillet ram at the North American International Livestock Exposition, this Fall, in Louisville, Ky.

Shelhamer advises producers of Food Fair violations

HARRISBURG – State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer has advised Pennsylvania livestock producers that Food Fair, Inc. has been ordered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to stop violating the payment requirements of the Packers and Stockyards (P & S) Act.

Shelhamer said that the corporation, charged in October with failing to pay for more than $2.6 million worth of livestock bought from at least 42 livestock firms, has filed a Chapter XI petition under the Federal Bankruptcy Act.

According to the Agriculture Secretary, Food Fair owns and operates Midtown Veal and Mutton Company of Newark, N.J., and Allen Packing Company of Elizabeth, N.J., which have purchased a significant volume of Pennsylvania beef and pork.

Shelhamer said that Pennsylvania livestock producers should be aware of the situation with Food Fair, to avoid any serious losses due to failure on the part of the company to pay. Neither firm is currently buying livestock for slaughter.

The Agricultural Marketing Service of the USDA reports that all cash sellers to the firm have now been paid, as required by the 1976 trust provisions amendments to the P & S Act.

The order against the corporation was issued by USDA administrative Law Judge Dorothea A. Baker, who ordered Food Fair and its officers, directors and employees to cease and desist from failing to pay, when due, the full price of livestock, meat, meat food products or livestock products purchased. The cease and desist order, like a permanent injunction was issued to insure future compliance with the P & S Act.

The P & S Act is a fair trade practices law administered by the packers and stockyards program of the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service. It promotes and maintains fair competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat.

Mini-farm coop to meet

LANCASTER -- The Lancaster County Mini-Farm Cooperative is meeting at Stauffer Park Mansion, Lititz Pike, Lancaster on Friday, January 19 at 8:00 a.m. This is to be the annual reorganization meeting and new members and ideas are needed to make the 1979 season successful.

Organized in March 1975, the Lancaster County Mini-Farmers Cooperative is open to any individual with a small amount of land and farms primarily as an avocation, not as his full-time vocation. The men and women who are members of the group cooperate in purchasing, sharing of equipment, trading, group buying and seeking information from within and outside the group membership.

For more information contact James R. Miller, R.D. #1, Reinholds, Pa. 17569, Evenings: 215-267-3311.

Franklin County man wins award

HARRISBURG - Floyd Myers of Chambersburg R6, received the 1978 Superior Supervisor Award from the Pennsylvania Dairy Herd Improvement Association during ceremonies at the 63rd Farm Show Tuesday night.

The award, "for outstanding service as a DHIA supervisor in the Commonwealth," was presented to Myers at the 108th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association. He received $100 and a plaque.

Myers, a supervisor for 22 years, currently tests 41 herds - 23 regular DHIA; 13 AM-PM alternate testing; and five owner-sampler. Although not designated head supervisor in the County, he essentially serves in this capacity.

The award recipient has trained four new supervisors during the past 12 years, and maintains inventory for the five Franklin County supervisors. He also takes forage-test samples for members, assists with recording procedures, and interprets feeding recommendations.

Myers is past president of the Association of Pennsylvania DHIA Supervisors, is a trustee of the DHIA Supervisor's Retirement Trust Fund, and past chairman of the Central Region Supervisors Association.

In 1977, he was named first recipient of the Carl B. Hollinger Memorial Award for his accuracy and neatness while performing his duties. Myers presently serves as assistant pastor of the Mercersburg Church of God; church treasurer; Sunday School teacher for 21 years; and member of the State Layman's Board of the Church of God.

The Superior Supervisor Award each year recognizes the accomplishments of DHIA personnel who supervise the 260,000 cows enrolled in the statewide program.

Top potato judgers picked

HARRISBURG - Padula Farms of Bath R3, Northampton County, won the grand championship in potato judging at the 63rd Pennsylvania Farm Show. Padula Farms won the championship with a Superior variety display.

Winner in the 4-H division was Blair Hower of Northampton R2, Northampton County, with a Katahdin display.

Jeff Schwats of Hegins R2, Schuylkill County, exhibited the champion vocational agriculture sample, the Norland variety.

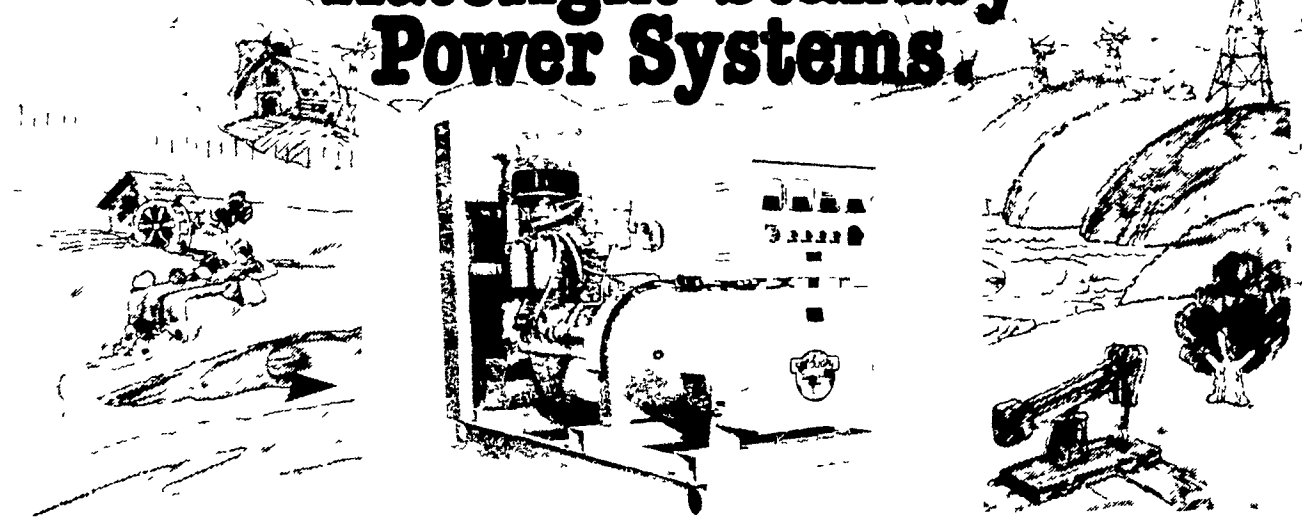
Nature supplies our Power.... Most of the Time! Katolight Standby Power Systems.



Nature has been good to us. It has managed to keep pace with our ever increasing energy demands. But recently our energy needs seem to be outstripping nature's supply. Now we have to reckon with the by-product of this dilemma. . . . temporary electrical interruptions.

That's why KATOLIGHT CORPORATION is here. We've been a leader in Agricultural Standby Power for over 25 years. At the inception of KATOLIGHT, an electrical outage was little more than an inconvenience to be coped with Today it's different Loss of power on today's farm can spell disaster to livestock and productivity. To protect themselves, many farmers utilize KATOLIGHT Agri-Alternators or CEP Engine-Alternator Sets.

We can't always count on nature, but you can count on KATOLIGHT. We'll analyze your setup, figure its needs for the future and match the proper Agri-Alternator or CEP Engine-Alternator Set to it. In addition, KATOLIGHT backs each of its units with local service and a sound warranty. Next to nature, our Standby Power Systems are probably the most dependable source of power you can have. Don't let nature interrupt the power you need Call or write for further details.

GOT TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH AND PRESSURE PLATE PROBLEMS WITH YOUR IH TRACTORS?

There is a company in the West that has been rebuilding T.A. units for several years now and having excellent results. The basic reason for their success is the sprag clutch they use. In the areas where they have been selling, they even have IH dealers that use this unit almost entirely.

(1) They feel this sprag clutch is giving less problems than even IH's new beefed up unit because of the design of the sprags

(2) This unit can be bought as individual parts which is many times all you need or as a complete renewed unit ready to set in your tractor.

(3) They have a warranty up to 2000 hrs., or 3 years . . and

(4) They don't cost any more and to most buyers they are costing less than from the big company They offer same day shipment by UPS or Greyhound bus They also have a program on rebuilt Dynalife clutches and pressure plates

If you want more information write me and I will get the literature to you. Raymond B. Leaman, RD #1, Willow Street, Penna. 17584.

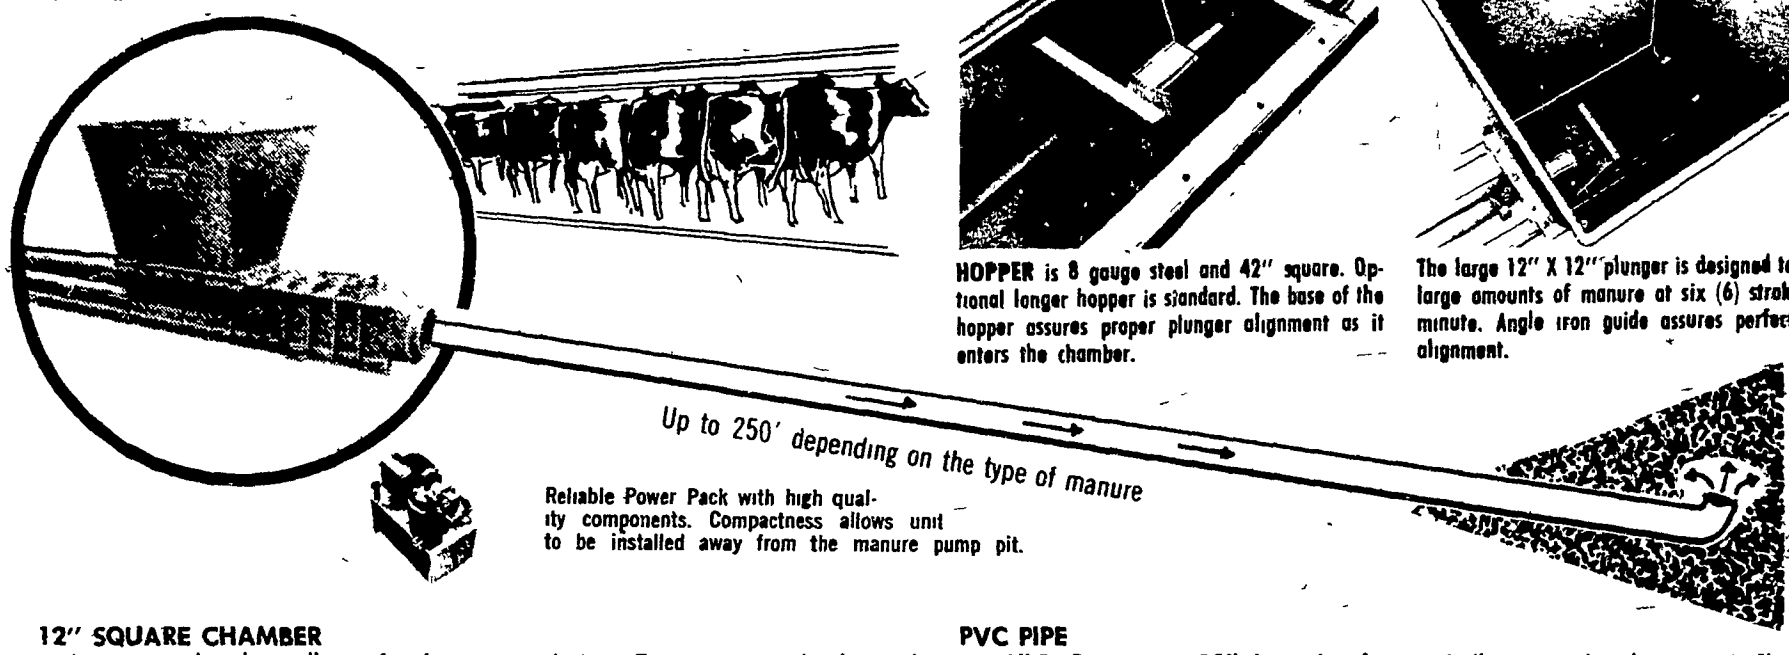
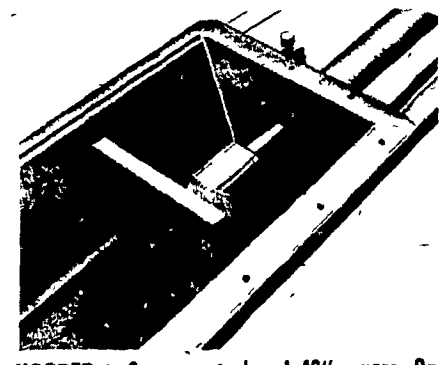
Agromatic TRANSFER PUMP

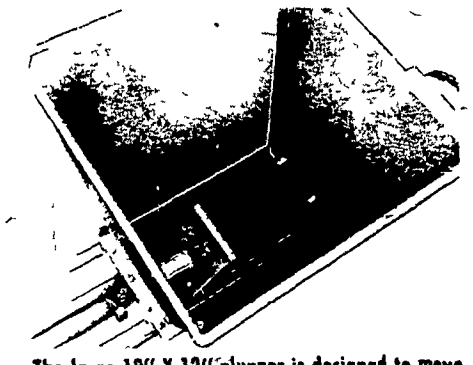
FROM STANCHION BARNS OR FREE STALLS AGROMATIC HANDLES THEM ALL

SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE
HYDRAULIC MANURE PUMP





HOPPER is 8 gauge steel and 42" square. Optional longer hopper is standard. The base of the hopper assures proper plunger alignment as it enters the chamber.



The large 12" X 12" plunger is designed to move large amounts of manure at six (6) strokes per minute. Angle iron guide assures perfect head alignment.

Reliable Power Pack with high quality components. Compactness allows unit to be installed away from the manure pump pit.

12" SQUARE CHAMBER
- A square chamber allows for best gate design. To open completely, with minimum resistance, a round chamber doesn't allow the gate to open completely.

HEAD SHAPE
- The head shears long straw or hay-filled manure with no need to chop or eliminate bedding.
- Slope-back head creates agitation with each stroke, preventing bridging.
- Works without needing to add water to manure.

PVC PIPE
- 10" PVC Pipe, not 12"; by going from a 12" square chamber to a 10" round, assures even pressure on manure to eliminate the chances for sediment to accumulate.

SERVICE
- By installing the pump in an accessible pit, all parts are easily inspected.

NOTE
- Design requires no Teflon seals which wear and allow back flow.
- Design has no brass bushing to manually rotate or replace.

BARN AND FEED LOT EQUIPMENT

Master Mix
Buffer Pels
the new, efficient way to combat costly acidic conditions in your dairy cows.

Acidic conditions can cause digestive upsets in your dairy cows. They can occur when your cows are receiving large amounts of a grain ration, when they are eating a fermented silage, or when they are getting roughage, including silage, haylage, or lush grass high in water content.

When these conditions exist, Master Mix Research trials have shown that Buffer Pels can result in fewer digestive upsets, can increase butterfat test, and can improve milk production. And each of those improvements could add to your income.

Buffer Pels can be top-dressed or mixed, fed to cows on an individual basis at the rate of 2 lbs./cow/day . . . preferably 1 lb. per feeding twice daily.

Give your cows every chance to improve your income. Buffer Pels could improve it several ways.

Master Farmer

They went from catching chickens to their own multi-million dollar farming enterprise

WASHINGTON BORO - Fifteen years ago, two Lancaster County brothers were catching chicken in the evening for a local broker to earn extra spending money while farming during the day.

Today the two, Abram G. Barley, of Washington Boro R1, and John E. Barley, of Conestoga R2, operate a multi-million dollar farming enterprise consisting of 1115 acres with 402 Holstein cows, 600 young cattle, 800 acres of corn, and 165 acres of alfalfa-grass hay.

And for their expertise in managing one of the most efficient farm operations in the state, they have been named to receive the coveted Master Farmer Award sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer Magazine and the Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University.

Their meteoric rise to ownership of the large farming operation with eight full time workers has caught its share of attention. Their successful deliberations to save 58 acres condemned by the Lancaster Area Refuse Authority made statewide headlines.

The Barleys won Pennfield's Outstanding Dairy Award three times and they were recognized by the Pennsylvania Dairymens Association for high butterfat average. Television commercials featuring the Barleys have been viewed by large regional audiences.

And, John has made news by being named Outstanding Young Cooperator in 1975 by Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative and won the Pennsylvania Jaycees' Outstanding Young Farmer award in 1978.

Although the brothers have different mailing addresses, their farms adjoin. John 33, serves as herdsman and Abram, 38, specializes in machinery and crops. Abram's wife, Pattye, helps take care of the calves; and John's wife, Jane, keeps farm financial accounts.

"We would never have made it without borrowing money," John Barley says "In fact, we financed our first tobacco crop." That was in 1963 when the brothers rented a 70-acre farm near Millersville.

With one year as farm operators under their belt, they next rented the home farm. In 1966 they borrowed more money and purchased the farm. However, a turning point occurred between 1968 and 1971. By taking care of 40 cows, 40 acres of tobacco, and 150 steers, they didn't feel they were making money.

Tobacco took too much labor and beef prices were not high enough to support two young families.

"We went back to the bank for money to finance a 200-cow free-stall barn and then went on a buying spree for registered Holstein heifer calves," Abram Barley notes "Again in 1975 we financed a 106-stall expansion to the barn and modernized the milking parlor. It meant we could handle 150 more cows with the same labor force."

Abram and John Barley, left to right, two Lancaster County brothers have been chosen to receive the Master Farmers' Award. The Barleys operate one of the most efficient farm operations in the state. Their multi-million dollar farming enterprise consists of 1115 acres with 402 Holstein cows, 600 young cattle, 800 acres of corn and 165 acres of alfalfa grass hay.

The Barleys took no chances when they set up the complex partnership agreement. To make sure the survivor can keep the farm in case of the death of a partner, they set up a buy-sell agreement and purchased a life insurance policy on each other. They each have wills drawn and established trust agreements to protect their wives and children.

The new Master Farmers plan to add more cows, making a total of 500. In the future, dry cows will be grouped in a separate barn. On occasion, this could mean 100 more milk cows than they have free stalls.

In 1977 the new Master Farmers hired a full time mechanic. By doing this they saved a substantial amount in repairs the first year and up to two to three hours a day on major repairs that normally stop field work.

"We didn't have any big delays," Abram reports. "The mechanic doubles as a machinery operator so there is no noticeable increase in the payroll."

One of the most important things the brothers learned is employees should earn parable to, or better than, off-farm employment. The farm employment. The workers get housing, beef, milk, and other farm fringe benefits plus paid vacations and medical coverage. Also, a retirement program is under consideration.

Efficiency is the [illegible] the game" at Star Rocks Farm. A seven-ton mixer wagon helped increase milk production 10 per cent. Electronic scales weigh out proper amounts of grain and silage and wagon blends the complete ration for better utilization by the herd.

A self-propelled forage harvester, purchased in 1978, enables the Barleys to harvest corn silage and high-moisture corn at the optimum stage of maturity. It cost $50,000 but they feel it will pay for itself with higher quality feed and more milk.

They now have seven diesel tractors, plus a few small gasoline tractors. "Engine maintenance proves to be a big plus. Several diesels have gone 5500 hours and do not use oil. We'd be lucky to get 3000 hours out of a gasoline tractor," Abram emphasizes.

The Barley brothers find time to serve their community and farm organizations. John has served as district president of Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative, vice president of the Lancaster County Holstein Association, and member of the legislative committee of the Lancaster County Farmers' Association.

John also is politically active, serves on the Manor Township Commission, and is a member of an agricultural committee studying ways to preserve farmland in the township. A member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church, he has been president and vice president of his Sunday School class and takes an active role on the church council.

Abram can cite seven farm organizations and four community and religious affiliations in which he is an active member. These include the Lancaster County Farmers' Association, Agway, County, state, and national Holstein associations, Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative, Manor Young Farmers, Washington Boro Fire Company, St. Joseph School PTA, Pennsylvania Republicans, and the Ecumenical Council of St. Philip's Church.

"Too many farmers feel they are too busy to become involved," John Barley says. "This attitude must change if agriculture is to remain a free enterprise."

UCC applications being accepted

HARRISBURG - Applications for the 1979 summer Youth Conservation Corps program are now available from high school guidance counselors, Bureau of Employment Security Job Service Offices, Bureau of State Park Offices, Bureau of Forestry Offices and State-affiliated YMCA's and YWCA's according to John Naylor, State recruiter for the YCC.

The Summer work program is open to any youth who will be 15 years old by June 1, but will not be 19 years old before August 30, 1979.

Youth Conservation Corps work sites are located throughout the Commonwealth on Federal lands administered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and U.S. Department of the Interior and on State lands administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources.

Typical projects include stream improvements, construction of bridges and other recreational facilities, thinning of forest plantations, improving wildlife habitat and similar related tasks.

Two types of YCC opportunities are available - residential program where corps members live and work in a camp setting away from home and non-residential programs where participants live at home and commute daily to their work site. Residential participants earn $73.25 per week plus room and board while non-residential participants earn $87.00 per week.

Completed applications must be received at the YCC Selection Office, P.O. Box 800, Falls Church, Va. 22046 by March 15. Incomplete applications cannot be considered.

Questions on YCC should be referred to Naylor at the Bureau of State Parks, Department of Environmental Resources, P.O. Box 1467, Harrisburg, Pa. 17120.

Training school attended

DOVER - Ronald C. Herr, and Frank G. Pannell Jr., represented A.L. Herr & Brothers, Quarryville, in a recent two-day service training school for Case lawn and garden tractors and attachments.

The school, held at Dover, included troubleshooting and [illegible] procedures for hydraulic systems, engines, electrical systems, transmissions, attachment drives, clutches and riding lawn mowers.

Set up, predelivery instructions and safety were also included in the school. The school was part of an ongoing program sponsored by the Outdoor Power Equipment Division of the J. I. Case Company, Wi[illegible]n.

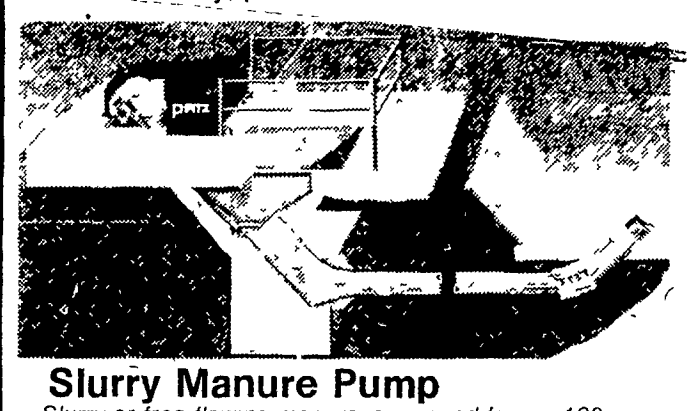
PATZ

Manure Handlers

Simple, Easy and Conveniently Out-of-the Way!

The old strongarm method of Manure Handling gives way to new muscle from PATZ — namely the Slurry Manure Pump and compressed-air Liquid Manure Mover These modern methods of manure movement provide simplicity, rugged construction, operational ease, dependability, plus convenience



Slurry Manure Pump

Slurry or free flowing manure is pumped from a 180 gallon hopper under ground through 12 in PVC pipe to the manure holding area (If bedding is used only fine cut is recommended) Stroke is adjustable and driven by tough roller chain drive/reduction unit Plunger sleeve and one-way valves all can be removed for servicing

Liquid Manure Mover

Big 1700 (US) gallon below-ground pressure vessel collects slurry that is moved simply and easily by as little as 10-12 lbs of air pressure through 12 in PVC pipe to manure storage area Simplicity in design, turning swing-away hatch cover, one-way valve at bottom and flapper valve at the discharge end are the only moving parts

Menagerie surrounds the life of Charla Janney

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

BRODBECKS - Pretty, popular, intelligent: that would describe many of York County's active 4-H young women.

Charla Janney is those things and more. She's also talented, poised and knows where she's going.

Seventeen-year-old Charla is the daughter of Ann and Baldwin Janney, Brodbecks R1. Participation in 4-H encompasses the entire family, which includes 15-year-old Jon, Susan, 13, and temporary sister Diana Umanzor, a Honduran exchange student who is spending a year with the Janneys through the American Field Service program.

Nestled in the hills near Codorus State Park, the 42-acre Janney farm is home to a collection of current project animals and some leftover 4-H pets from years past. A flock of purebred Suffolk sheep is the pride of the barnyard, shared with horses, ponies, a scattering of ducks, two dairy goats and a pair of turkeys. Jon branched out into a second breed of sheep when he brought home his first Oxford lambs.

As the owner of about half of the 30 Suffolks, Charla has picked out three ewes for her entries at the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Charla was recently elected president of York County 4-H Council and is also president of the Jefferson Community Club. Interest in a broad range of projects over seven years have included membership in the lamb club, veterinary club, teen agent program and as a teen leader assisting with the county's handicapped club.

When a dairy goat club organized recently, Charla acquired "Prudence" and "Patience," her Nubian does who will soon freshen with their first kids. The pair coexist with the sheep on a sometimes shaky truce, according to Charla, who discovered that the does developed a taste for wooly fleeces.

Not just at home around animals, Charla also knows how to handle herself around the kitchen. She's carried cooking projects and recently won a Christmas cookie contest sponsored by a local daily newspaper. And, somewhere in between everything, she finds time to create much of her own wardrobe at the sewing machine.

"I've always made a wool garment for Dress Revue," smiles Charla, having found one more way to promote her favorite animal. A dress revue winner last year, she's been on the clothing judging team and has given stitchery demonstrations at state competition levels.

Now a senior at Southwestern High School, Charla is an academic and vo-ag course student and a member of the Future Farmers of America. Last year she headed the school chapter as president and is now serving as assistant secretary. Included in her FFA projects are sheep breeding and marketing, dairy goat breeding and dog breeding.

Through the FFA dog project, Charla added bouncy and lovable "Abby" to the family's assortment of pets. Abby is a young black and white Border Collie and shows promise as a sheep herder.

Charla has already been accepted as a September freshman at York's Penn State campus, specializing in pre-veterinary studies. She hopes to one day be accepted for vet studies at the University of Pennsylvania, and then work for awhile with a large animal practice. [illegible], though, Charles wants to progress into animal research.

She's already into a research task with a science project for an upcoming area competition in Harrisburg. It's a self-styled study on animal parasites that has Charla collecting samples of animal manure.

Parasite traces in the samples are isolated and cultured. If Charla can successfully grow living parasites in her lab experiment conditions, she plans to irradiate them in an attempt to sterlize and prevent their reproduction.

"Keeping the sheep and other animals wormed is so expensive; we must find some other way of controlling the problem," Charla worries. She admits, though, that parasites in the home flock are kept fairly well in control with a regular worming program, a situation that's sent her searching barnyards elsewhere for culture samples.

For her accomplishments and leadership in the county's 4-H programs, a board of judges at the September York Fair selected Charla as the Fair's 1978 Outstanding 4-H Girl.

A girl, a sheep, a dog: The team of Charla Janney, a gentle ewe, and Abby, the Border Collie, pause for a moment of togetherness.

Simmental convention set

BOZEMAN, Mont. - Performance of crossbred Simmental cattle in the feedlot and on the cutting table are featured topics at American Simmental Association's 11th annual convention, February 13 to 16, at San Antonio, Texas.

Earl B. Peterson, ASA executive secretary, said the reaction of major meat packers will be reported by Rick Greenfield, representative of Miller Research, Minneapolis.

Experiences of a major midwestern feedlot operator with Simmental crossbreds will be related by Max Deets, general manager, Solomon Valley Feedlot, Inc., Beloit, Kansas.

The convention is being held during San Antonio's annual stock show and rodeo. While convention activities conclude Thursday, February 15th, they will be followed by a Junior and Open Simmental Show, and a purebred Simmental and Simbrah sale, all on [illegible], under the sponsorship of Texas Simmental Association. The shows and sale will be at Joe Freeman Coliseum.

Show and sale information is available from Dr. Brent Perry, Rt. 9, Box 242, San Antonio, Tx

Corn growing champions named

HARRISBURG - State corn growers who produced the highest yields in the machine and hand harvest divisions of the 1978 Pennsylvania 5-Acre Corn Club were honored Monday at the 63rd Farm Show. The program is sponsored by the Penn State Extension Service and Pennsylvania Master Corn Growers Association, and is supported by the state's hybrid corn seed industry.

Winner of the shelled grain harvested class was Piwowar Farms of Uniontown R6, Fayette County, with a yield of 202.2 bushels per acre. Their 1978 corn acreage was 450, using the Pioneer variety 3368A. Plant population was 23,877 per acre in 36-inch rows.

In the ear corn harvested class, Jeff Pontius of Sunbury R3, Northumberland County, was declared champion with a yield of 239.2 bushels per acre. He grew 300 acres in 1978 using Doebler's 70X variety. Plant population was 21,915 per acre in 38-inch rows.

David McCullough of Sharpsville R2, Mercer County, was named corn growing champion in the shelled grain harvested class over a three-year period. His average yield during the three years was 208.7 bushels per acre.

Winner of the ear corn harvested class over a three-year period was Bruce Bivens of Star Route 1, Big Cove Tannery, Fulton County, with a yield of 185.3 bushels per acre.

Second place winner in the 1978 shelled grain harvested class was Jerry Brown of Slippery Rock R3, Lawrence County, with a yield of 193.8 bushels per acre. Third place winner was Eugene Kilgore of Airville R2, York County, with a yield of 176.2 bushels per acre.

Ashcombe Farms of Old Gettysburg Road, Mercersburg, Cumberland County, won second place in the 1978 ear corn harvested class with a yield of 213.5 bushels per acre. Third place winner was Ken Mowry of Roaring Springs R1, Bedford County, with a yield of 213.4 bushels per acre.

There were 231 entries in the 1978 5-Acre Corn Club. Average yield for all entries was 143.4 bushels per acre.

Nelson Martin, of Ephrata R1, Lancaster County, captured the championship in the statewide 10-ear open pollinated dent class at the 63rd Farm Show.

Winner in the statewide 10-ear pollinated Flint or Indian class was Preston Baker, of Shippensburg R5, Cumberland County.

In the 30-ear open pollinated dent class, Clyde Brubaker, of 2418 Harrisburg Pike, Lancaster, won the championship.

The champion bushel of graded certified seed corn was exhibited by D. B. Brubaker, of Ephrata R1.

The 10-ear hybrid dent winner in District I was Leon Crowl, of Airville R2. Winner of the 10-ear open dent class in District II was Ned McDonald, of Imler, Bedford County.

In 4-H competition, the hybrid dent District I class winner was Glenn Crowl, of Airville. District II hybrid dent winner was Angelique McDonald, of Imler R1.

Wayne Hess, of Conestoga R1, Lancaster County, captured the championship in District I hybrid dent classes. District II winner was Mike J. Smith, of McVeytown R1, Mifflin County.

Landowners' meeting set

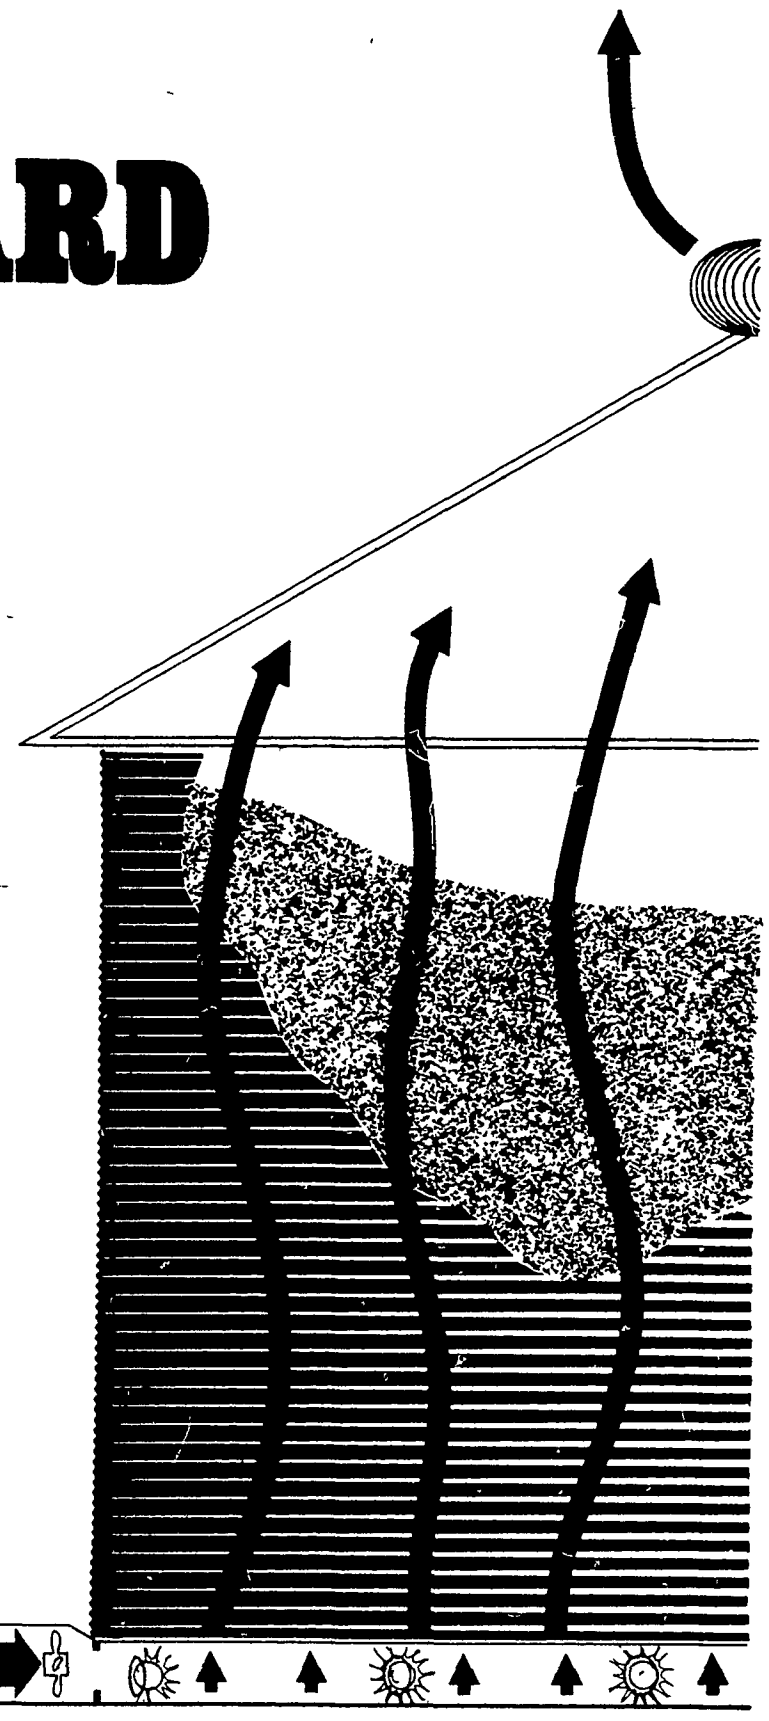
PENRYN - A public meeting for landowners in Penn Township will be held on Monday, January 15 at 7 p.m., at Penryn Fire Hall. The purpose of this meeting will be to provide private landowners with information on planning, designing, and implementing conservation practices to prevent erosion.

Following a 15 minute slide presentation entitled, "LIMITS", Tom Johnston will discuss the Lancaster County Conservation District, Scott Eberly will explain procedures by U.S.D.A. Soil Conservation Service use to control erosion, and Ray Brubaker will discuss cost sharing available through the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

If one should have any questions, they may contact Tom Johnston at 717-299-5361.

YOU'VE HEARD THE TALK.

There's a better way to dry grain. It's called CHILLCURING™ because it means CURING without heat. Here's what the talk is all about.



THE GRAIN

Every kernel of grain is alive when it comes out of the field. It is a seed, able to grow because it has the ability to take on moisture. Likewise, it can be kept in a state of preservation by removing the moisture already in it.

But by heating the grain to dry it, the seed life is destroyed.

By removing heat and moisture from the grain, it becomes dormant, and stays alive. Then it can ripen to full weight, losing only water while keeping valuable protein, starches and sugar.

THE SYSTEM

It's simple. Grain goes from the field right to the bin. With the unique AIRFRAME™ and AIRFLOOR™ the grain rests on a solid bed that allows maximum ventilation.

Clean dry air is the best curing medium for the grain. GRAINLAMPS™ provide electric sunshine, cleaning and drying the air beneath the floor, before it passes through the grain.

Fans force air under the floor. Rising through the grain, this dry outside air carries away moisture and heat.

At the peak of the bin a jumbo 40" turbine, the WHIRLCOOLER™, puts nature to work for you. Wind and rising air keeps it turning, venting the system naturally.

A special HARVESTAT™ Control System monitors the curing process. A simple setting controls the GRAINLAMPS™ to make use of free, natural air.

THE FACTS

1. You can't beat Nature. HARVESTALL GRAIN CHILLCURING™ uses the same elements that ripen and preserve grain if left to itself: free flowing air and infra red rays (sunshine).
2. CHILLCURING™ has been tried and proven in 17 states on over 3000 farms. The research is in: CHILLCURING™ WORKS!
3. The CHILLCURING™ system uses only the electricity to power fans and lights, using about 1½ KW hrs. per bushel. Compare that cost to other systems that use increasingly expensive fuels to get disappointing results.
4. The grain goes from the field to the bin and stays there till you need it. Save time and money at harvest with the one step HARVESTALL CHILLCURING™ and storage system.
5. If you're in the market for grain storage, you owe it to yourself to look further into HARVESTALL GRAIN CHILLCURING™.

'Stiles' Jerseys win Farm Show title

John Stiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stiles of Littlestown, was at the halter of the grand champion Jersey on Monday.

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Stilesrite Jerseys, owned by the Howard Stiles family of Littlestown, were judged to be the best representatives of their breed at the Pennsylvania Farm Show this week. Showing their animals in open competition, Rebecca Stiles won the grand championship title with her aged cow, Stilesrite Merry Stranger, while Anne Stiles was awarded the reserve banner for her entry, S Jonquils Bambi, a 5-year old.

The grand champion cow is sired by an own-bred bull, SR Merry Maker, according to John Stiles, brother of Rebecca and Anne. He also noted that Stilesrite Jerseys are at home on a 150-acre farm in Adams County. Sixty-five of their herd are milking.

The junior champion title was won by Mildred Seeds of 1208 Seeds Lane, Downingtown. She exhibited Top-O-Hill M and M, a junior yearling. Ann Stiles exhibited the reseve junior champion, Sleeping Stephanie, a junior yearling

In addition to the grand championship awards, the Stiles family was presented with the premier breeder and premier exhibitor banners.

In the youth division of the contest, which was held here Monday morning in the Large Arena, Bruce Rhein, a 4-H member from Schuylkill County, won the top honors. The Pine Grove area youth was at the halter of both the grand and reserve grand champion. His winning entry was a 3-year old, Faithful Surville Ellie. The reserve champion was Surville Farmers Lore, a 4-year old.

The junior champion of the youth show was exhibited by Bradford Lear of Tyrone R1. The Huntingdon County youth came into the ring with a junior yearling named Hillbilly Sharon Gay. C. Rhein and C.A. Lynnthorn of Pine Grove R2 won the reserve spot with their M.V.F. Faith Bikini, a heifer calf.

Following are the placings of the show, as provided by the Farm Show press office.

Rugaber wins dairymen's award

Robert J. Rugaber, left, a Butler County Extension agent, was named recipient of the 1978 Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association Cooperative Extension Service award for his valuable and noteworthy contributions to the state's dairy industry. Making the presentation is David Roth, president of the dairymen's group.

HARRISBURG – Robert J. Rugaber, Butler County Extension agent on the Pennsylvania State University staff, has been named recipient of the 1978 Dairymen's Association Cooperative Extension Service Award of $100 and a plaque "for valuable and noteworthy contributions to the state's dairy industry."

The award was presented to Rugaber on January 9 at the association's 108th annual meeting in Harrisburg as part of the 63rd Farm Show.

Recognizing the importance of the dairy industry to the county's economy, the award winner has conducted numerous meetings on dairy barn ventilation, winter housing, and barn remodeling. He also conducted a campaign to improve and maintain milk quality from farmer to consumer.

Rugaber annually conducts summer "barn meetings," covering such topics as herd health, sire selection, breeding efficiency, feeding and management. These meetings are attended by dairymen, veterinarians, feed dealers and officials of artificial breeding organizations.

During his tenure as Butler County Extension agent, the number of cows enrolled in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing program has doubled, and the number of pounds of milk produced per cow has increased by more than 2,000 pounds. County averages for 1977-78 were 2,094 cows on test, 13,561 pounds of milk, and 514 pounds of butterfat.

Rugaber, for years, has authored a newsletter for dairymen entitled, "Cow Talk and Udder Things." He now edits and distributes this newsletter to dairymen in nine southwestern Pennsylvania counties.

He also supports dairy goat activities, assisting the industry by organizing educational meetings. He helped introduce a large dairy goat show at the 1977 Butler Farm Show.

He has been the Brown Swiss breed chairman at the All-American Dairy Show for many years and for his dedication to the breed, was awarded honorary life membership in the Brown Swiss Cattle Association. He also is a member of the Dairy Shrine Club.

A native of Tioga County, Rugaber has been a member of the Cooperative Extension Service staff for 23 years. He received a bachelor of science degree from Penn State in 1955.

4-H banquet held

RUSSELLVILLE - The Golden Fleece 4-H Sheep Club of Chester County held their Achievement banquet at the Russellville Grange recently.

At this banquet, members were recognized for their work in the past year.

The 4-H record books were judged by Mrs. Warn G. Menhennett. First place was awarded to Billy MacCauley, Atglen; second place went to Donna Stoltsfus, Quarryville, and third went to Nancy MacCauley, Atglen. Fourth place was awarded to Christine Ambler, Cochranville.

Outstanding member awards were presented to David Lytle, John Arrell, Christine Ambler and Billy MacCauley.

A special award of appreciation was given to Mrs. Warn Menhennet, for her past work in the 4-H club.

Master Farmer

It's quality that counts to Seipt

There are some dairymen who feel that numbers are more important than quality in an effort to sell more milk. But, Donald V. Seipt, who has recently been named to receive the Master Farmer Degree, feels that the quality of the herd is far more important than the number.

EASTON - Large numbers of dairymen, in an effort to sell more milk to break even or boost profits, are adding additional cows to the herd and building new barns.

But Donald V. Seipt, of Easton R4, feels that the quality of the cows in the herd is far more important than increasing cow numbers. His 75 cow registered Holstein herd (the number has remained constant for a number of years) last year produced an average of 19,423 pounds of milk and 754 pounds of butterfat, one of the highest levels in the state.

Ninety-two cows from the herd have produced over 100,000 pounds of milk in a lifetime and he earned the Progressive Breeders Awards of the Holstein Friesian Association of America 20 times. That record is exceeded by only two other herds in the state.

For his management efficiency and business expertise, Seipt has been named to receive the coveted Master Farmer Award for 1978, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University

"I'd like to have a 20,000 pound herd average, not for one month, but every month," the Master Farmer says. "It's getting harder to make money without a large volume of milk. But as you increase the volume per cow, you also increase problems such as breeding and mastitis."

Seipt points out that his operation is as large as he wants it. He would like to improve labor efficiency for the young cattle but to do this a new building would have to be constructed.

At the heart of this fine herd is a well-integrated family operation. Everyone has a job and control over that part of the business.

Mrs. Seipt is in charge of calf raising. Calves are started in individual pens and at two months of age are grouped in pens of three. They are later moved into pens of six and after eight months of age are moved to loose housing.

At this point in the operation, Seipt and his son, Donald, Jr., take over. The Master Farmer works on breeding and financial records. He and Donald, Jr., take care of the milking, feeding, herd health, and artificial insemination. The younger Seipt graduated from Cornell University with a degree in dairy science. Another son, Douglas, is a Penn State student and works on the farm during Summers.

For most Master Farmers, it takes a lot of planning and hard work to develop a successful farming enterprise. Seipt, raised on a small general farm in Montgomery County, graduated from Penn State in 1950. Following graduation, he served as an Extension agent then in 1951 joined his father-in-law on the present farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Seipt worked on the home farm for 10 years, buying calves and building a herd of their own. Then they bought the farm and continued on the road to success. Only two cows have been brought into the original herd.

The Master Farmer trys to freshen heifers in early Fall if possible. Most heifers are bred to freshen between 25 and 27 months of age.

"We've had no problem with heifers becoming too fat because we breed them later," the award winner points out. "Older heifers are on pasture in the Summer which keeps them thin. They are fed orchardgrass haylage in the Winter."

Stanchions in the old barn were converted to tie stalls for bred heifers and dry cows. Several box stalls were built in the back of the barn for cows that calved.

Milk cows occupy a 60-tie stall barn. Two rows of stalls, in four different sizes, run the length of the barn. During the summer, cows stand outside and wait to be switched into the barn for milking. But during the winter, extra cows are milked in an old stanchion barn.

A modern liquid manure system has been installed and cured shavings and sawdust are used for bedding. Shavings come from a nearby overhead door company.

The pride of the Keystone Farm herd is Joyce, a 17-year-old Holstein that has given the Seipts five outstanding animals - four daughters and a son. And, in addition to these animals, she produced two other offspring that brought top prices at National Holstein Convention sales two years in a row.

And Joyce doesn't just produce outstanding offspring. Thus far she has produced 220,350 pounds of milk and 8311 pounds of butterfat.

"She is showing her advanced age," Seipt notes. "After having 12 offspring she will probably not carry another calf."

The Master Farmer is extremely active in agricultural and community organizations. He is a member of both the State and National Holstein Associations, serving on the national board of directors and as a delegate to the national convention for 18 years.

He also was president and vice president of the State Holstein Association, National Dairy Shrine Club, Pennsylvania Purebred Dairy Cattle Association,

Dates announced for filing income taxes

NEWARK, Del. - Income tax time for farmers is here. And by filing on the correct dates, one will eliminate having to pay a penalty and may lessen the chance of an audit, says Dr. Don Tilmon, University of Delaware Extension farm management specialist.

These tax-filing deadlines for federal income taxes are for those who file on a calendar-year basis - which includes almost everyone.

January 15 - Declaration of estimated income tax for farmers, Form 1040-ES, for 1978 must be filed and estimated tax must be paid by this date if one wants to wait until April 16, 1979, to file his 1978 federal income tax return, Form 1040. Otherwise, see March 1.

January 31 - Employers file Form 943 for withheld income taxes and social security taxes on wages paid during 1978 and pay or deposit tax. Employers file Form 940 and if balance due is less than $100 either pay or deposit tax. However, if tax was timely deposited, see February 12. (Do not report wages for nonagricultural services on Form 943.)

Employers give each agricultural employee whose wages were reported on Form 943 copies of Form W-2.

February 12 - Employers who made timely deposits of withheld income taxes and social security taxes for 1978, file Form 943. Employers who made timely deposits of FUTA tax file Form 940.

February 28 - Employers send Copy A of each Form W-2, along with a transmittal Form W-3, to the Social Security Administration office for their state. The Social Security Administration addresses are shown on the Form W-3 instructions.

All farm businesses must report certain payments of $600 or more made during 1978 to a taxpayer other than a corporation. Use Form 1096 and 1099-INT and 1099-MISC

Fiscal Year Taxpayers - Generally, the due dates in the preceding calendar apply to all taxpayers whether they use a calendar year or a fiscal year. However, fiscal year taxpayers should refer to Publication 509 for certain exceptions that apply to them

These dates are further explained in the 1978 Farmer's Tax Guide. The tax guide also contains a helpful calendar schedule for depositing taxes on agricultural labor, says Tilmon. One can obtain free tax guides from his county agricultural Extension agent in Newark, Dover, or Georgetown, or from his local IRS office.

Dinner meeting set

LANCASTER - Plans have been completed to bring the popular Milton Hershey Glee Club to the 15th annual dinner meeting of the Farm and Home Foundation of Lancaster County in the Farm and Home Center Auditorium on January 25, 1979 at 6:30 p.m.

For information and tickets, one can call Howard E. Campbell by January 19, 1979, 1383 Arcadia Road, Lancaster, Pa. 17601; phone: 717-392-4911.

Daubert family wins all Brown Swiss titles

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Showing both the grand and reserve grand champions of the open and youth divisions of the Brown Swiss show, and winning the premier breeder and exhibitor banners as well, the William Daubert family of Schuylkill County left no major honors for other competitors in the contest. Their latest winning streak was recorded at the Pennsylvania Farm Show with Dennis Daubert spearheading the move. He won the grand championship title in the open division with a 3-year old named Wind Mill Amelia. Brother William R. Daubert showed the reserve grand champion, an aged dry cow named Wind Mill Mollie.

In the youth category, Allen Daubert, 11, won the grand and senior championship titles. His entry was Wind Mill Eileen, a 3-year old. Ronald Daubert placed second in the event with Wind Mill Alfreda, a 4-year old.

The Dauberts make their home at Wind Mill Farm, Pine Grove R2, where they milk some 70 head of registered Brown Swiss cattle twice a day. Their most recent production statistics show that the herd has an average of 16,058 pounds of milk and 635 pounds of butterfat per cow.

The Daubert family of Pine Grove, Schuylkill County, won all of the Brown Swiss titles at the Farm Show. Eleven-year old Allen, left, won the 4-H show while his brother, Dennis, captured the honor in the open contest. They were also named premier breeder and exhibitor.

Kevin Laughman, Thomasville R2, exhibited the junior champion of the open and junior Brown Swiss shows, held here Monday morning in the Large Arena. His entry was a senior yearling named Indian Acres Jo Anne. The reserve junior champion in both cases was exhibited by Anne Daubert, who brought a heifer calf into the ring.

What does it take to have a good cow in the barn and at the show?

Dennis Daubert, who has shown and worked with Brown Swiss since he was eight or nine years old, says

Master Farmer

Dramatic changes spell success for Wolff

MILLVILLE - Some dairymen make gradual changes in order to stay in business while others make more dramatic changes which may spell tremendous success or disaster.

The willingness and ability to make the right changes when the opportunity arose opened many doors for Christian F. Wolff, Jr., of Millville R1. Since 1951, when he purchased a 70-acre farm with 22 cows, he has expanded to 108 cows, owns 350 acres of cropland, rents another 200 acres, and operates a modern dairy store that markets 2200 gallons of milk per week.

For his management efficiency and business expertise, Wolff has been named to receive the coveted Master Farmer Award for 1978, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and the Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State Universtiy.

Following graduation from high school, the new Master Farmer worked for his father on their Lancaster County farm until 1944 when he married the former Pearl Cramer. He then started sharecropping with five Guernsey cows, tomatoes, tobacco, and sweet corn. Through the years the herd grew to 22 Guernsey cows.

Then in 1951, he purchased the farm where he presently lives. Deciding to go into the dairy business on a full time basis, he bought just enough equipment to make the operation functional. But, as cow numbers grew, he purchased more acres and added another silo, and bulk milk tank, and 100 more feet to the barn. In 1965 another silo was added. By this time the operation covered 125 acres.

Also in 1965, the Wolffs decided to build a dairy store as an on-the-farm outlet for their milk.

"Traffic and population studies indicated that we possibly could sell 700 gallons of milk per week," Wolff said. "The first few years we filled customers' containers, then switched to pre-bottling when the market began to grow."

Milk sales at the store continued to climb for 12 years, then leveled off at 2200 gallons per week. Approximately one-half of the production is sold through the store. The remainder is shipped to a nearby dairy.

"We now buy orange juice, bread, cold cuts, and other foods to sell in the store," the Master Farmer points out. "Two years ago we bought a cream separator and now offer good whipping cream and skim milk along with chocolate and homogenized milk. And we have ice cream packaged in Hazleton with our own label."

Since the store was built in 1965, Mrs. Wolff has been in charge. In addition to keeping books for the entire operation, she looks after sales, records, inventory, and personnel that work at the dairy store.

In 1968, their second farm, 100 acres, was purchased. Son, Denny and his family live there. Another 100 feet was added to the barn and a new silo constructed. In 1972 Denny joined Pen-Col Farms in a family partnership.

"A few years ago we decided to switch from Guernseys to Holsteins because there was a good market for Guernseys," he notes. "Another reason for buying Holsteins was the lower butterfat level. Since we're bottling our own milk, we didn't have a market for the extra butterfat."

The 1978 Dairy Herd Improvement Association herd average for the 108 registered Holsteins was 21,289 pounds of milk and 806 pounds of butterfat.

Christian F. Wolff, Jr., of Millersville R1, has been named to receive the Master Farmer Award. Wolff operates a large dairy farm, 350 acres of crop land, and a modern dairy store that markets 2200 gallons of milk per week.

Wolff continued to make changes. He purchased another 125-acre farm and added a new heifer free stall barn along with two new silos to store grain and haylage. He installed drainage tile and diversion terraces, and used soil and forage testing to keep cropland production profitable.

For feed, the Wolffs plant 150 acres of alfalfa, 100 acres of timothy and clover, and 200 acres of corn. Both hay and corn serve as cash crops. Last year he sold 6000 bushels of corn and about 100 tons of hay.

The dairy barn has 93 comfort stalls and four box

HOW LONG WILL THEY LAST?

First produced in 1975 Tenderfoot was tested in farrowing pens for 1½ years before being marketed These original floors have been in constant use ever since WITH NO APPRECIABLE WEAR! Today s Tenderfoot floors have 6 advantages over the original pieces

1. 3 times more coating
2. Tougher vinyl coating
3. Extra-strength steel
4. Treated to resist bacteria & fungi growth
5. Improved Perma-Bond processing
6. Strict quality control

Constant research development and quality control continues at the Tenderfoot factory and at the nearby 650-sow operation where the original 1975 Tenderfoot floors are still going strong

How long will a Tenderfoot last? No *one knows The very first ones pro*duced have withstood heavy use since 1975 with no appreciable wear The floors produced today are 6 ways better than the first ones On the basis of these facts it seems safe to say that any concern over the durability of Tenderfoot flooring is unnecessary.

Brosius has carved a niche with fresh mushrooms

WEST GROVE – Charles C. Brosius, of West Grove R2, who manages a small mushroom operation that exceeds the efficiency of a major corporation, was named to receive the coveted Master Farmer Award for 1978.

He is one of five Pennsylvanians honored January 9 at a special luncheon in Harrisburg. Brosius will be inducted into the Pennsylvania Master Farmers' Association whose membership consists of all former award winners. The program was established in 1927.

The Master Farmer Awards Program is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University.

By industry standards the Brosious Clonmell Farm is very small. The mushroom operation is contained in six double houses with a mere 37,244 square feet of growing area.

"I plan to double the operation in the next year," the Master Farmer says. "I'm looking for ways to assure my sons a place in the family corporation if they indicate a desire."

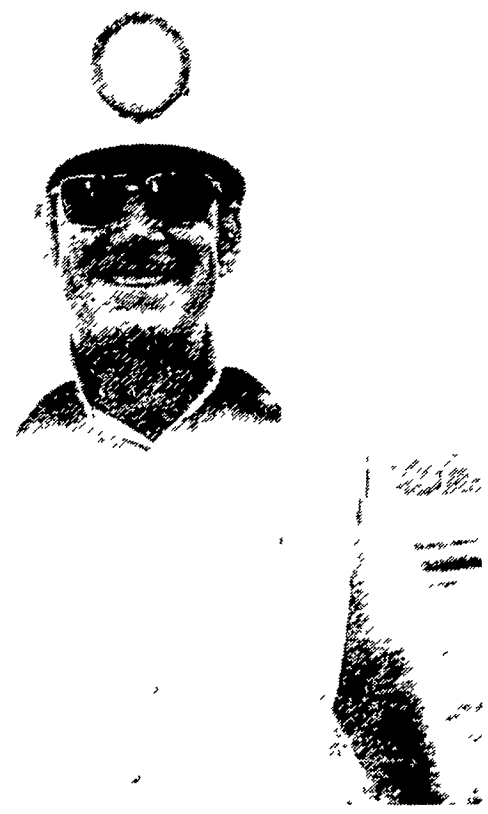
Efficiency is the key to survival in any small farming operation. And, Brosius has carved a niche as a reliable fresh market producer of mushrooms. He sees little profit in the processing market.

To be a reliable supplier to a fresh market, a grower must have a continuous supply of mushrooms. And to do this, Brosius has grown an astounding 4.3 crops per year. Traditionally, two crops per year is regarded as a standard.

"A grower must produce 3 to 4 pounds per square foot average production if he is going to make a profit," the Master Farmer points out. "Some growers report making five-pound crops on a regular basis."

About 85 per cent of the costs of producing a pound of mushrooms are fixed costs – price of houses, compost, heating and cooling. Profits in this business come from producing the highest possible poundage with the given space and labor inputs.

"Our operation is like the little family dairy with 25 to 30 cows. All of the work is done by the man and wife. They are averaging 20,000 pounds of milk per cow, much better than the 200-cow herd with a 12,000-pound average and hired help," Brosius emphasizes.



Charles C. Brosius, using efficiency as the key to survival, manages a small mushroom operation that exceeds the efficiency of a major corporation. Brosius of West Grove R2, has been named to receive the coveted Master Farmer Degree.

The Master Farmer, a Penn State dairy science graduate, operated a dairy farm in the 1950's. His father built four mushroom houses in the 1920's where the current plant now stands. Brosius and his brother rented one double house from their father. They made more money from that one house than they did from a year of dairying.

"One year does not prove a point," he says, "but when the trend continued over a four-year period, a decision had to be made. And it was easy."

stalls. Wolff feels he increases a cow's longevity by having her in stalls where she can be observed several times a day.

Pen-Col Farm, in the last few years, has established itself as a source of breeding stock for cattle buyers. Young cows and heifers have been sold in state consignment sales with good results.

Because of the extra feed available, the Master Farmer has considered raising bulls or steers for beef. But the way the barn is designed, they would have no way to separate them from the heifers. So he buys grade heifer calves and raises them to sell as "springing" heifers for additional income.

Wolff feels that a good credit rating is extremely important in today's farming operation. He always keeps his loans paid which helps to establish a good credit rating. If you establish a poor rating, it makes it very difficult to expand, he emphasizes.

The Master Farmer is active in numerous organizations. He is a member of the Grange, Pennsylvania Farmers' Association, Pennsylvania Milk Juggers' Association, Columbia County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Keystone Milk Marketing Council, Pennsylvania Holstein Association, and Columbia County Guernsey Breeders Association.

He is a former director of the Northeast Breeders Association and served as chairman of the cooperative's sire committee for colored breeds. Currently he serves on the Governor's Solid Waste Advisory Committee.

Wolff also is a member of the Greenwood Methodist Church, serving as Sunday school teacher and superintendent. He was on the local school board.

he looks for good pedigrees, good production, and good type. He expects a first-calf heifer to produce a minimum of 12,000 pounds of milk with a 4 per cent butterfat test.

"We like Brown Swiss because of their temperament," the young man commented, adding that he believed they'll someday be as popular as Holsteins. "There's a good demand for them now; people are always looking for them," he concluded.

Over 90 per cent of the mushrooms produced at Clonmell Farm are sold through a broker to the fresh market. Packaged under the name of Marlboro Mushrooms, they are sold in Baltimore, New York, Richmond, and Atlanta.

Mushroom growing is a repetition of processes. The entire growing operation is repeated in any given room once every 12 weeks. Every two weeks in one of the houses, an operation is being completed.

"We need the mushrooms in the same volume every night that the buyers are in the market," he points out. "This generally is Sunday through Thursday. So we try to grow them on schedule."

Today, the packing house produces at half capacity. His wife, Jane, is responsible for this part of the operation and is a working supervisor. When the operation is expanded, the packing house will have the capacity to handle double the current production.

The 48-year-old Master Farmer's oldest son, Mahlon, a Penn State graduate, is in charge of production. The expanding operation also will provide management positions for sons Tom and Harold, both Penn State students, should they decide to become part of the mushroom business.

Several large corporations have gone into the fresh mushroom business recently. Brosius does not resent this, on the contrary, he welcomes it. Their cost of production has to exceed ours and I can always produce for two cents per pound less than they can, he notes.

"The large corporations are establishing a good market for me," Brosius says. "They will keep an umbrella over costs – high enough for them to make a profit, so I know I will make a profit. In fact, some of my production last year went to one large supplier to cover holes in its Southern markets."

He serves the industry as an officer and director of the American Mushroom Institute and Mushroom Growers Cooperative Association.

Brosius has been active in the Chester County Extension Executive Committee and is a member of the Chester County Farmers Association. In addition, he is a board member of the Landenberg Building and Loan Association, is on the West Marlboro Township Planning Commission, Rotary, and Society of Friends.

Spare time, he says, is spent remodeling farm buildings. He also has a collection of antique cars, pewter, and furniture.

Other Pennsylvania Master Farmers named are Donald V. Seipt, of Easton R4; Christian F. Wolff, Jr., of Millville R1; Abram G. Barley, of Washington Boro R1; John E. Barley, of Conestoga R2; and Lowell R. Koch, of Tamaqua R1.

'Wilderness' proposal opposed

WASHINGTON, D.C. - A national farm leader recently called on the nation's farmers and ranchers, members of Congress and all state governors to join in a fight against the administration's plan to designate another 15 million acres of America as "wilderness."

Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said that "Locking up an additional 15 million acres, and, in effect, throwing away the key, does not serve the best interests of a nation urgently in need of increasing amounts of energy and timber.

"America's farmers know the value of land, and they know how to preserve it as their primary asset," Grant said. "Surely the federal government owes its citizens the same responsibility on the public lands it manages."

Grant reported that an additional 11 million acres are to be put under "study," which means they will go into a "de facto state of wilderness and remain in limbo indefinitely."

He pointed out that the "wilderness" designation means no roads, vehicles, motorized equipment, timbering or exploration for oil and minerals will be permitted in the designated areas.

"Only a tiny handfull of backpackers and hikers will benefit from setting aside these millions of wilderness acres," Grant said. "Millions of Americans who vacation in automobiles, recreational vehicles or public transportation will be forever denied of these lands."

The issue is among those that will be brought before the voting delegates at the Farm Bureau annual meeting in Miami Beach, January 15 when representatives from 49 states and Puerto Rico will debate proposals and set policies for action.

Darryl Rohrbaugh captures Guernsey titles

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — York Countian Darryl Rohrbaugh came to the Farm Show with one cow this week, but went back home with double honors. The 14-year old New Freedom youth captured the top title for both the youth and open divisions of the Guernsey show, marking the first time ever that he showed grand champions at the Farm Show. The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rohrbaugh, the boy is well known; however, for his accomplishments at other, equally prestigious shows. For example, he has been no stranger to the All-American Dairy Show that is held here annually in September.

The cow young Rohrbaugh won with Monday morning is Leaders H. Muriel, a 4-year old animal which he has owned since she was a calf. She won her class, the senior championship, and finally the grand title.

The reserve grand and reserve senior champion titles in both the youth and open shows were won by a Washington County girl, Alisa Marie Fava. She is the daughter of Mr. an Mrs. Joseph Fava of Scenery Hill. A consistent winner at all major Guernsey shows that take place in the Keystone State, Miss Fava is also the reigning State Guernsey Queen. Her winning entry at the Farm Show was a 3-year old, Red Hill Sharla.

Alisa's sister, Renee, exhibited the reserve junior champion in the open show, Co-Hill Farms M Classy, a heifer calf. In the youth division, that title was won by Cindy Rutter of York, who was at the halter of Rutter Bros Pedros Page, a junior yearling.

Winner of the junior champion ribbon in the open show was another Washington Countian, John Marchezak of Bentleyville. He exhibited a senior yearling named Twin Brook Fayror Violet. Renee Fava showed the junior champion in the youth class.

Penn Winternationals Pull to be East's largest

HARRISBURG - Harrisburg's Farm Show Arena will be rattled by 3000 horsepower pulling tractors, as the seventh annual Penn Winternationals, the East's largest pull, returns for a three day run on January 19, 20, and 21. The event will carry a total of $46,000 in purse money for the top tractor and four wheel drive truck jockeys in the country.

The event is an invitational event, and will see drivers and machines from the Midwest, South and East compete with each other to see who can go the furthest with the weight transfer machine.

Featured will be the 1500 horsepower super stocks-tractor looking like stock machines, but developing 10 to 15 times the factory rated horsepower; 3000 horsepower modified tractors carrying Allison aircraft engines, helicopter turbines, or multiple supercharged Chevy, Chrysler or Ford engines; and 800 horsepower four wheel drive trucks.

The truck, showroom appearing super stocks, have rapidly become one of the most popular attractions in the sport of pulling as Chevys, Fords and Dodges battle each other for supremecy.

An added extra attraction to the Friday evening show will be the appearance of Jeannie C. Riley, one of the primer stars of the Country-Western music world, whose "Harper Valley P.T.A." was one of the top selling singles on both the Country-Western and Pop music charts several years ago.

The schedule of classes during the three day pull is as follows:

Friday, January 19, 7 p.m.; 9000 pounds modified, 5000 pound Super Stock.

Saturday, January 20, 1 p.m.,; 9000 pounds Super Stock; 5500 pounds FWD/Super Stock Trucks; 5000 pounds Modified.

Saturday, January 20, 7 p.m.; 7000 pounds Modified, 12,000 pounds Super Stock.

Sunday, January 21, 2 p.m.; 7000 pounds Super Stock, 6500 pounds FWD/Super Stock Trucks, 12,000 pounds Unlimited.

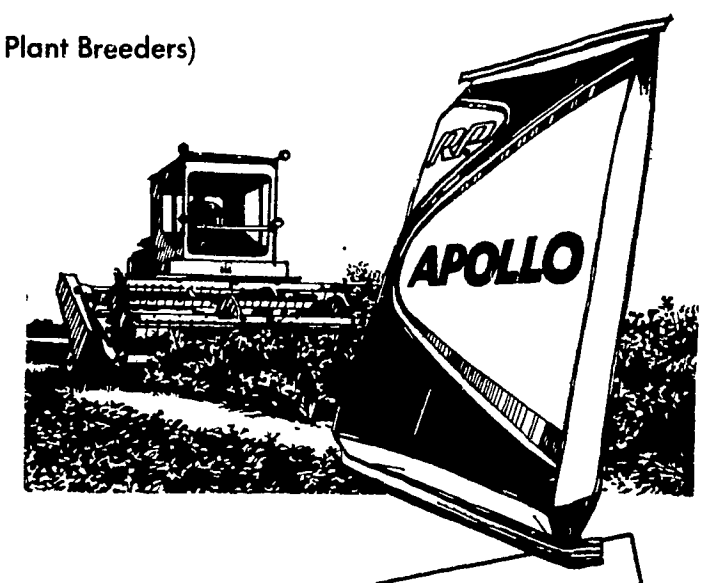
APOLLO variety alfalfa resists Phytophthora root rot (wet foot disease); greater yield potential, less damage from wilt, pea aphids and leafhoppers than other major varieties

VANGARD variety alfalfa resists both wilt and anthracnose for top production wherever warm, humid growing conditions threaten summer decline. Leafhopper yellowing tolerance.

NEW!
DAWN variety birdsfoot trefoil produces good yields of high-protein legume forage on difficult soils, without threat of bloat to grazing cattle or sheep. Resists crown and root rots. Excellent reseeder.



REDLAND variety red clover has greater disease resistance and persistence, for unparalleled extra-season yield potential — up to 40% more than competing varieties. Ideal for grass pasture renovation.

Herman Stebbins wins Cowan Award

HARRISBURG - Herman E. Stebbins of York R5, manager of the Sinking Springs Farm, Inc., Tuesday night received the 1978 Charles E. Cowan Memorial Award from the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association during ceremonies at the 63rd Farm Show.

The award, "for leadership contributing to the improvement and promotion of the Pennsylvania dairy industry," was presented to Stebbins at the 108th annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association. His wife accepted the award on his behalf as Stebbins himself was recuperating from an illness.

The award winner has an outstanding Holstein herd that has consistently made records in production testing programs. The 1978 Dairy Herd Improvement Association production average was 19,593 pounds of milk and 762 pounds of butterfat for 66 cows. For 12 consecutive years his herd has averaged over 700 pounds of butterfat, noted Herb Gilmore, director of DHIA testing programs at Penn State, which supervises the records.

Mrs. Herman Stebbins accepts the Charles Cowan Memorial Award from Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association president David Roth. Stebbins has managed one of the best dairy herds in the nation for 40 years.

Stebbins has bred and developed 34 cows that have produced more than 100,000 pounds of milk and/or 4,000 pounds of butterfat. Also, 13 proven sires have been bred by the award winner.

An Ohio State University graduate, Stebbins has managed Sinking Springs Farm since 1939. The farm consists of 600 acres, 400 in crops.

He has served 31 years as director and ten years as president of the board of Atlantic Breeders Cooperative, and president of the York County Cooperative Extension Association, York County Holstein Association, York County Forum, and the Susquehanna Lions Club.

The Charles E. Cowan Memorial Award, established four years ago, recognizes dairy farmers who have made outstanding contributions to the state's dairy industry.

Food Fair ordered to pay for meat

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Food Fair, Inc., a retail food and meat packing corporation based in Philadelphia, has been ordered by the U.S. Department of Agriculture to stop violating the payment requirements of the Packers and Stockyards (P&S) Act.

The corporation, which the department charged in October with failing to pay for more than $2.6 million worth of livestock bought from at least 42 livestock firms, has filed a Chapter XI petition under the Federal Bankrupcy Act.

Charles B. Jennings, administrator of the Department's packers and stockyards program, said P&S officials worked with the firm's attorneys to arrange payment of the $2.6 million to livestock sellers, as required by the 1976 trust provisions amendments to the P&S Act. All cash sellers have now been paid.

Food Fair operates retail food stores in eastern cities and owns and operates Allen Packing Co., Elizabeth, N.J.; Midtown Veal and Mutton Co., Newark, N.J.; and United Packing Co., Denver, Colo. United Packing Company is the only firm currently buying livestock for slaughter.

The firm waived an oral hearing and consented to the order without admitting or denying the charges filed against it.

USDA Administrative Law Judge Dorothea A. Baker ordered Food Fair and its officers, directors, and employees to cease and desist from failing to pay, when due, the full price of livestock, meat, meat food products, or livestock products purchased.

The cease and desist order, like a permanent injunction, was issued to insure future compliance with the P&S Act. Meat packers are required, under the P&S Act, to maintain a solvent financial position and to pay promptly for livestock and meat.

Lanc. Co. FFA window exhibits feature pork

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

HARRISBURG - The Cloister FFA Chapter of Ephrata High School, took top honors in the FFA Window competition at the 63rd Annual Pennsylvania State Farm Show.

This is the second year in a row that the Ephrata Chapter took first place. Their exhibit entitled, "Put Your Fork In Pork," was very colorful and well designed to show the feed input in a pig and the different cuts of meat from a 225-pound pig.

Second place was won by the Central Fulton FFA Chapter, Fulton County, with an exhibit entitled, "Be a Penny Pincher--Conserve Energy." The exhibit showed how much is saved by insulating the water heater and pipes, and the savings in switching to flourescent lights.

Third place was won by the Tri-Valley FFA Chapter, Schuylkill County, with an exhibit entitled "A Cow's Daily Menu To Make 50 Pounds of Milk."

Other schools in order of their placing were: Curensville FFA Chapter, Clearfield County, "Japanese Beetles are Buggers"; Manheim Central FFA Chapter, Lancaster County, "Pork Management"; Northern Lebanon FFA Chapter, Lebanon County, "Boating Safety"; Bloomsburg FFA Chapter, Columbia County, "Agrihol, Agriculture's Solution"; Lehigh County FFA Chapter, Lehigh County, "Horticulture: Learning A Career For a Brighter Future"; Brownstown FFA Chapter, Lancaster County, "When It Looks Good--You Look Good."

In their first try last year, Cloister Chapter took first place in the competition and so has a reputation to uphold.

Both exhibits were displayed locally at the Ephrata and Manheim Farm Show. Manheim Chapter's exhibit was first in Manheim and second in Ephrata, while Ephrata took first honors in its home town.

Local chapters interested in exhibiting at the Farm Show are required to submit photographs and descriptions of their exhibits and those deemed best are invited. The exhibits are located on the ground floor outside the large arena. Eleven exhibits will be competing this year.

According to Lew Ayers, advisor to the Cloister Chapter, "We try to make it educational so that the kids learn something when they are building it." They also direct their message to the consumer. He added, "We try to get a catchy title - something that is not conventional. It's difficult to get ideas."

Each year the Cloister chapter makes it window exhibit deal with some major field of agriculture. Last year their state-winning exhibit dealt with poultry; this year it's pork. The title is "Put your fork in pork," and the side panels describe the modern pig and how it grows to market in five months. The lettered panels also describe the various cuts of meat and how many pounds of each come from a market pig. The feature of the exhibit is a styrofoam, life-like pig, which is painted to show where the various cuts originate.

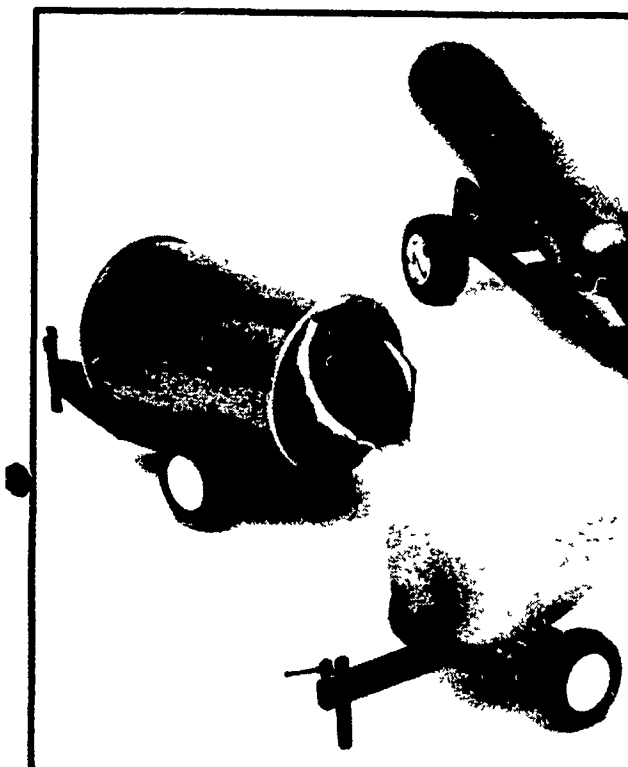
Ayers said he feels this exhibit may suffer by comparison to last year when they had animation. The judging, he said, is done on neatness and originality. Exhibits are judged Sunday.

Manheim's display tells the production end of pork, explaining the management goals and the necessary steps to have healthy litters. It also features a life-like styrofoam pig with a litter of nine piglets.

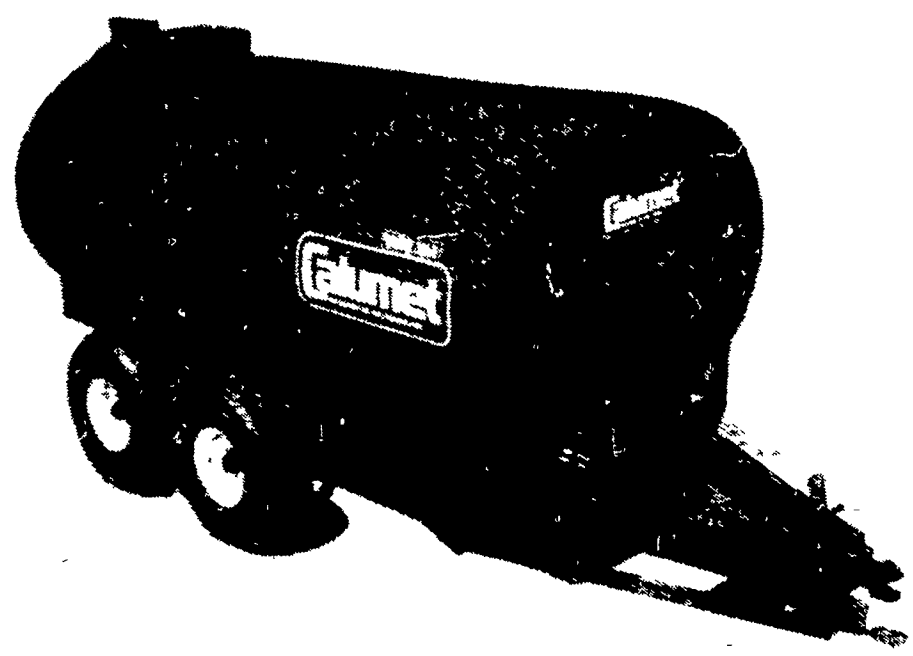
Jim Cowden, FFA advisor, said they are concerned about their exhibit doing well in state competition because they are not allowed to have the live pigs which attracted a lot of attention at the local fairs. The styrofoam pigs will just have to do.

(Turn to Page 120)

Harry Becker, Ephrata, and Ray Good, Ephrata R1, add some finishing touch-ups to the Cloister Chapter's window exhibit. The display was a chapter project and is the second one in two years selected to be in the state contest.



There're a lot of choices in liquid manure spreaders- some bad, some better...



And there is the right one.

Calumet is the leader in liquid manure spreaders for two simple reasons - functional design and heavy-duty construction. You need a tank that can perform year after year. You can't afford anything less. Calumet spreaders offer superior performance and many years of solid service. How?

Features like A) Heavy-duty alloy steel construction, flanged heads, epoxy-coated interior and double reinforced A-frames and support skids. B) A hydraulic controlled rear valve lets you regulate spreading with a low, wide 40 ft. swath. C) Walking tandem axles that carry big loads easily over rough ground. D) Sizes from 1,180 to 4,500 gallons. E) Optional 2 or 4 - shank soil injectors that save nutrients and stop odor and run-off problems.

Hog champions chosen at Farm Show

By KENDACE BORRY

HARRISBURG – Eight breeds of swine competed on Monday at the Pa. Farm Show, with many of the champion and reserve champion winners coming from the central and western part of the state.

In the Chester White classes, James T. Parlett, Airville R2, showed the champion animal, a January gilt, TM Super Lover 6-1, born January 3, 1978. Reserve champion Chester White was shown by the Boyd Brothers, Brogue R1; also of York County. Their winning entree was also a January gilt, BR's Owl, born January 2, 1978.

The champion Berkshire was entered by Clayton Winebark, Rochester Mills, Indiana County. The reserve champion was shown by Dennis Grumbine, Myerstown R2, who exhibited a February gilt, Fairview Lorra 3rd.

Bruse Smith, Washington, had the champion Duroc, and Denise McConaughey, Smicksburg R1, showed the reserve champion.

From Lebanon County, Jay Bomgardner, Lebanon R3, swept the Hampshire championships, showing both the top gilt, a January gilt, Candy Girl; and the reserve champion, a February gilt, Blue Mt. Lucy.

Bonnie Wessner, New Tripoli R2; exhibited the champion Landrace, RAF Princess, a January gilt. Gerald Culler, McConnelsburg, showed the reserve champion.

In the Poland China division, Locust Lane Farm, David Coble, Hershey R1; exhibited the grand champion, showing a January gilt, Ben's Select 78-S-5-15; born January 4, 1978. Keith McConnel, Volant; showed the reserve champion.

Another champion from York County was named in the Yorkshire division. Craig Miller, Spring Grove R1, exhibited the champion Yorkshire, with a January gilt, Millers Maid 1-6, born January 6, 1978.

The reserve champion Yorkshire was shown by Leon Arnold, Lebanon R7, who also exhibited a January gilt, LLA8 Leann Belly 9-7.

Hog champions

Judge for the show was Paul Parrish, from Montpelier, Ohio, who commented that he thought that the top end of all the classes fround a slightly higher quality of animals than were exhibited last year, with longer lines, and lots of red meat in them. He said that the animals should generally improve bloodlines of breeds.

Waverly N.Y. named new mozzarella cheese plant site

SYRACUSE, N.Y. -- Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative has made the announcement of its new mozzarella cheese plant site, according to Arden Tewksbury, president of the Syracuse N.Y. based dairy organization. The decision was made on January 3, following a special Board of Directors meeting in the co-op's home offices.

A milk manufacturing plant located in Waverly, N.Y. currently owned by Valley Creamery Company, Inc., will be purchased by Eastern and renovated. Plans also call for new additional constructon. Tewksbury pointed out, however, that there are a number of conditions which must be satisfied before the final closing of the purchase. "We should know sometime within the next 30 days whether these conditions have been met to our satisfaction", Tewksbury said. The site selection sets the stage for completing phase 2 of the two-phase venture between Eastern and the Leprino Cheese Company of Denver, Colo.

Phase 1, which included the acquisition and renovation of a plant in Horseheads, N.Y., had been completed earlier and has been producing mozzarella for several weeks.

Originally, Eastern had exhibited considerable interest in locating the second plant in the Wysox-Towanda, Pa. area. However, the decision to go to Waverly, in the final analysis, was made because the already existing structure there would make it possible to be in production much sooner. An additional advantage of the Waverly site is the location of nearby milk supplies which can be made available on an exchange basis.

Eastern, which is responsible for construction and renovation, is confident that arrangements for financing are proceeding on schedule and will be available as needed for the entire project. Leprino controls the processing, packaging and distribution of the end product.

Need for a manufacturing program of this magnitude has been talked about in dairy industry circles throughout the northeast region for many years. Now it is expected that stablizing milk supplies for the area will become a reality.

Eastern's General Manager, Howard McDonald pointed out that it was not the intention of Eastern to divorce itself from serving the fluid markets of the northeast. McDonald said, "Our arrangements with Leprino are flexible enough to allow us to continue servicing Class I outlets to the extent necessary and to the extent favorable to the Association's marketing program."

This venture is designed to benefit all dairy farmer members of Eastern Milk Producers. Not only will there be no cost associated with the project to members, but an increase in the cooperatives net worth of over $7 million plus ownership of the two plants will be realized at the end of the 20 year period.

Fulton Grange meets

OAKRYN - Fulton Grange No. 66 held their meeting January 8, at the Grange Hall in Oakryn with Master Harry G. Baker, presiding.

A donation was given to the Arthritis Foundation. The Women's Activities committee announced that they would serve a meal for a DeKalb dealer and customers at the Grange hall January 29th.

The youth committee reported visiting and caroling for nine members December 22nd.

Fulton Grange is accepting membership applications now and degrees will be conferred March 12 and 26. It was announced that Lancaster County Pomona Grange No. 71 will hold their dinner meeting January 20, 7 p.m. at the Robert Fulton Inn. Jesse Wood will accept reservations until January 17th.

Mrs. Thomas Galbreath, lecturer, presented the program when program ideas for this year were discussed. Peggy and Sandra Galbreath accompanied by Glenn Hough, sang. The Lecturer read a poem and conducted games. Marilyn Holloway rendered a vocal solo. Mrs. Rebecca Quinn concluded the program with jokes.

Mrs. Doris Brown will be in charge of a spelling bee at the next meeting on January 22nd.

N.J. 4-H Club doings told

FLEMINGTON, N.J. – At the December meeting of the Lucky 4-H Club, the beginning cooking group made sugar cookies at Mrs. Braisted's home, with the help of Mrs. Nancy Bachardy. Advanced cooking made cheese fondue, with Mrs. Doris Simpson leading the group.

Mrs. R. Firth and Mrs. J. Sutphen made Christmas tree ornaments for the beginning sewing group to sew. The meeting ended with a Christmas party.

On December 16, the group went to two nursing homes in the Frenchtown area to sing Christmas carols.

The 4-H Hay Shakers Square Dance Club of Hunterdon County has held a series of classes in the basic movements of square dancing. A new series of lessons will be beginning soon on extended basic steps. Dick Jones, a national known caller and teacher will conduct the classes. The club is looking for new members and all are welcome, sixth graders on up. Previous knowledge in square dancing is not necessary. For more information, contact Mary Ternosky at 537-2564.

The December meeting of the Spicy Stitches 4-H Club was held at the Franklin Township School. The club made Christmas cut-out cookies at their meeting. The clubs first project of tote bags were completed. Members are now making flannel nightgowns as their project. Basics of sewing and sewing machine operations are also learned. Meetings are held at the school each Monday afternoon from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Christmas tree winners chosen

HARRISBURG – Carino Nurseries of Indiana, captured three first places in the Christmas tree judging competition at the 63rd Pennsylvania Farm Show. Their entries won in the following divisions: Douglas fir, Colorado blue spruce and white spruce.

J.B. Tree Farms of Williamsburg, Blair County, won two divisions, Scotch pine and white pine.

Leidens Nursery of Patton R1, Cambria County, showed first place entries in Norway spruce and red pine.

Farm Show holds excitement for first year exhibitor

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

FLEETWOOD - Although 13-year old Elaine Heffner usually prefers showing steers, she is presently very excited about showing sheep. Elaine is Berks County's only 4-H'er who showed sheep at this year's Farm Show, and possibly even more importantly, she is the first to be representing the County with sheep for a number of years.

This young lady, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Heffner, Fleetwood R1, has been in 4-H for six years. This is the first time she took any of her livestock to the Farm Show. Her oldest brother Ronald has previously shown a steer at this big event but the experience for Elaine will be something new and exciting. Especially since this is only the second year she has shown sheep.

"I was looking forward to seeing the competitors, and how others have their sheep ready for the show," she said with enthusiasm. Elaine is particularly interested in learning from this new experience, hopefully to help improve her own skills. She was also anxious to meet other exhibitors from around the state.

A ninth grader at Fleetwood Area High School, Elaine has always been involved with animals and has shown in 4-H since she was nine. Before this year her major interests have been in showing steers, however. In her showing experiences which have included both a grand champion and reserve grand champion steer, this 4-H'er has enjoyed the showmanship and fitting events most of all. "I have been able to learn more from these events," she explained.

Elaine Heffner cards her Dorset

Eager to work with livestock, Elaine helps with the fitting and clipping of the family "show string" before the shows. She has three brothers who also show at the local fairs and county round-up as well. Her only sister, five year old Joyce is eager to join the family ranks in the show ring but has a few more years to wait.

The Heffners buy their steers as calves and raise them on their own fifteen acres. Here they raise some corn and either hay or small grains and buy whatever other feed they need.

Sheep became an interest to the family through one of Elaine's brothers who had expressed an interest in showing them while the rest of his siblings were more involved with the larger species. Through his interests, Elaine has also become involved with sheep and she too has enjoyed showing them.

At present the Heffners are starting a small flock of ewes for breeding purposes. They have chosen Dorsets as their breed because as Elaine said, "we liked their white faces," even though they are the only 4-H members in the County market lamb club showing this breed.

Elaine also has many other interests which keep her busy. She enjoys crocheting, sewing and baking and has entered many of her products at the summer fairs. This young lady also enjoys the piano and horse back riding but admits that she gets the most enjoyment by working close with her brothers and sister and their livestock.

Because she likes to spend much of her time out-of-doors, it is no wonder that she also finds working in the family garden a pleasure. Once out of high school, Elaine feels she would like to pursue a career in nursing which she believes would be a very rewarding occupation.

Cows and hogs were Mase's Farm Show entry

By JOAN LIESAU

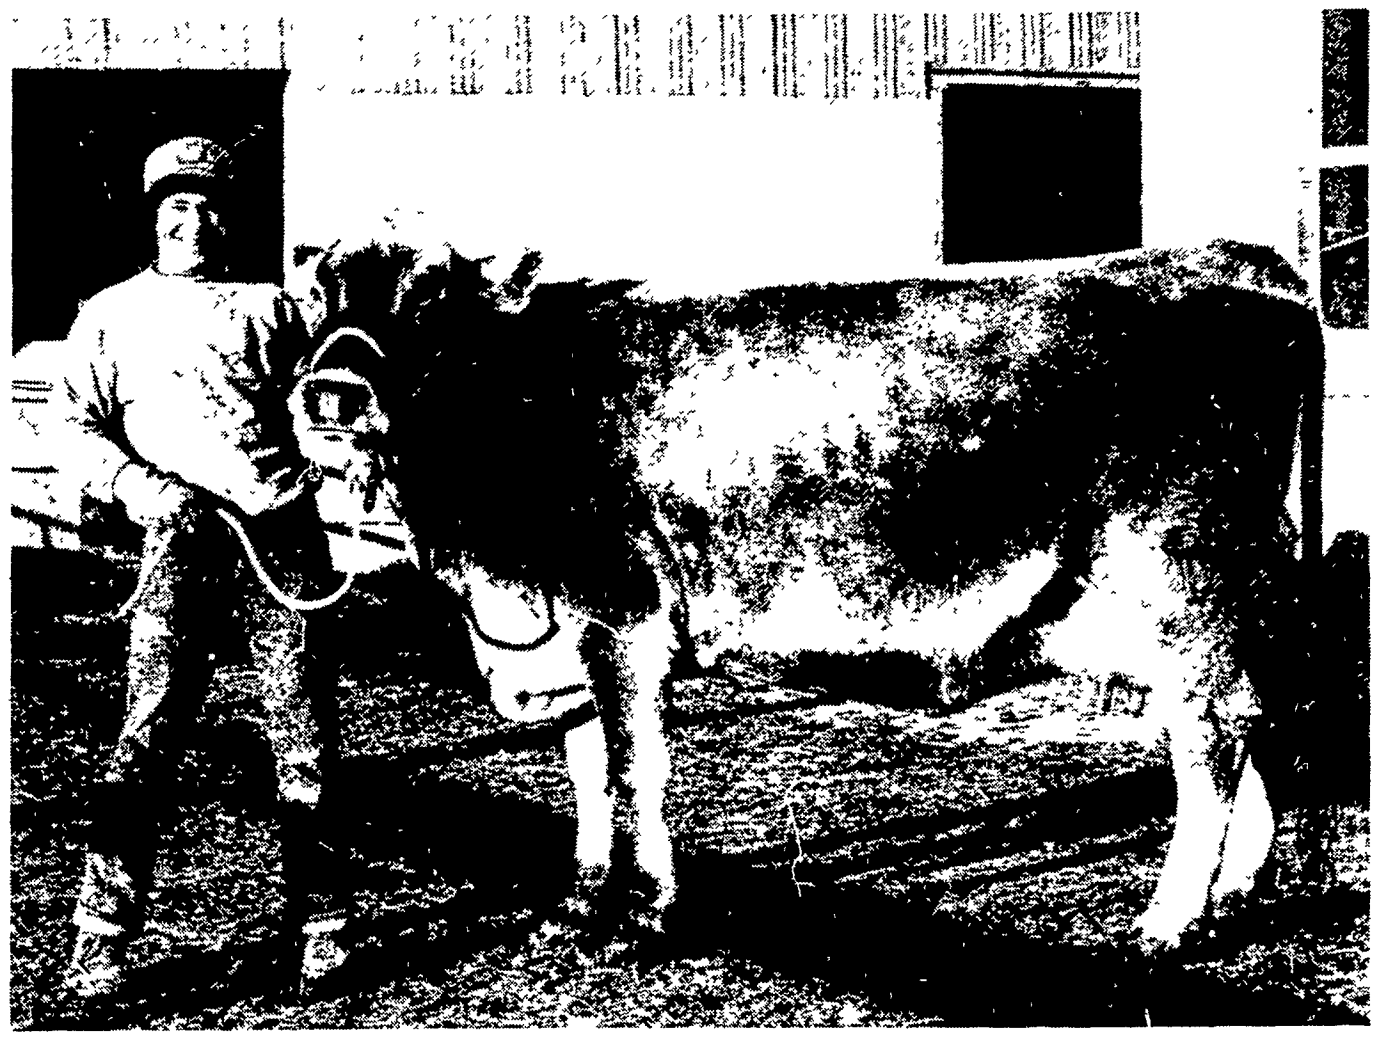
LEBANON - Brown Swiss cows and cross bred market hogs comprise the winning combination for 16 year old Gary Mase of Lebanon. Gary, the son of Clarence and Arlene Mase, took his cows and hogs to the Farm Show.

Gary's pair of Yorkshire-Duroc cross bred market hogs were selected at the Lebanon County 4-H market hog round-up as the top pair to represent Lebanon County. He raises his pigs "mainly for market". Yorkshire sows and Duroc boars were originally purchased from Leon Arnold of Lebanon. "It seemed like a good cross" Gary said as he stressed that he is showing pigs that he raised himself.

Swine grower pellets from a local mill is Gary's main feeding ration. When the swine begin to get a little too heavy, he starts to feed them sow feed. Exercising his projects is also part of Gary's program. He trys to have the hogs run around the barnyard for about five minutes everyday. "I did it for the last few weeks and it seemed to trim off the fat a little and muscle them up" Gary said.

Gary is a member of the Lebanon County 4-H Livestock Club. His pigs also qualified for the Farm Show two years ago.

"I have the right type traits, but I just have to get them bigger" Gary said about his Brown Swiss cows. Gary has been raising the Brown Swiss for seven years. He relayed the story, which is often told in 4-H families, that his sister raised Brown Swiss when she was in 4-H. Gary said he got a calf from her and took it from there.



Gary Mase of Lebanon will be exhibiting his Brown Swiss at the Farm Show. He prefers the Brown Swiss because of their "good disposition to work with". Gary said he bought his first two Brown Swiss from Dauberts of Pine Grove and "took it from there".

Gary's personal herd now consists of four cows: one senior yearling, a four year old milk, four year old dry and an aged milking. His highest producing cow so far, has given him 21,000 pounds of milk. "My cows together average 14,000 pounds of milk and 600 pounds of butterfat." Gary also has two heifers.

Gary feeds his small dairy herd high moisture corn "top dressed with soybean meal concentrate for the individual cows." The cows get all the silage and haylege they can eat.

The show record which Gary has accumulated with his Brown Swiss includes

February milk price: $13.38

ALEXANDRIA, Va. - Middle Atlantic Order Market Administrator Joseph D. Shine announced a Class I milk price of $13.38 per hundredweight for February 1979. This is the 14th consecutive monthly increase in the Class I price. Shine said that the price is up 16 cents from January and is $1.73 higher than the February 1978 Class I price. The Class I price has increased $1.27 from September 1978 to February 1979. Order No. 4 prices are announced for milk testing, 3.5 per cent butterfat, f.o.b. plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia, and also within 75 miles from the nearer of Washington, or Baltimore. There is also a 6-cent direct-delivery differential applicable to producer milk received at plants located within 55 miles of Philadelphia.

Shine announced a Class II milk price of $10.68 per hundredweight for December 1978 and a butterfat differential of 13.7 cents. The Class II milk price is also up 16 cents from the previous month.

These class prices are based on the December 1978 Minneosta-Wisconsin manufacturing milk price of $10.60 per hundredweight adjusted to a 3.5 per cent butterfat content.

The USDA reported that the wholesale price of Grade A butter at Chicago for December was $1.1876 per pound and the nonfat dry milk price was $.7571 per pound, f.o.b. plants in the Chicago area.

Gary Mase combines Yorkshire-Duroc cross bred market hogs with his other 4-H and FFA projects, including Brown Swiss cattle. Gary stands with the market hogs he raised himself. The best pair was selected to compete at the Farm Show, while his other pair was judged and later sold at the Lebanon County 4-H Club market hog round-up which was held recently.

champion and reserve champions at the Lebanon Fair, and champion and reserve champion for the last two years at the FFA District show at Kutztown.

Gary is partial to his Brown Swiss (the family dairy operation is Holsteins) because of their "good disposition to work with, they're really tame, and always cooperate in the show ring" he added. Gary feels that we will soon be seeing more use of production records in showing. "That's where your money's at" he said.

The junior at Cedar Crest High School has also been a FFA member for three years. "I carry the hog breeding and fattening project, along with the dairy herd" the FFA assistant treasurer said.

Gary is in the process of "working on plans for a 40 cow tie stall barn" with his father. What does the future hold for Gary Mase? Gary said he would "like to someday have an All American winner for Brown Swiss."

Penn Manor wins egg banner

Lowell Koch, turkey producer, named Master Farmer

TAMAQUA – The decision facing many farmers today, especially poultrymen, is expansion to survive, which adds additional dollars and responsibility to an already complex enterprise.

Lowell R. Koch, 46, of Tamaqua R1, a turkey grower who raises 160,000 birds annually, for years was content simply to produce live turkeys and have someone else process and market them. But in 1972, he made provisions to add an on-farm processing plant and go into marketing.

Six years later his expertise in managing a highly successful production and marketing enterprise earned him the coveted Master Farmer Award for 1978.

The Master Farmer Awards Program is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Farmer magazine and Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University.

"Going into marketing was a big decision to make with a new $400,000 investment alone in the processing plant," Koch says.

The Master Farmer, always a producer of top quality turkeys, felt he was not taking full advantage of that quality by having someone else process and market the birds.

Then, too, there's the obvious advantage of eliminating the middlemen in the marketing process. Also, processing and marketing of turkeys adds a new dimension to the operation which may include the entire family in the future.

A daughter, Barbara, and a son, Duane, already work full time along with Koch's wife Betty. Two other daughters, Beth and Pamela, are in school but work part time.

"Processing turkeys has opened up an entirely new and lucrative market outlet," he points out. "There's an unlimited number of ways to serve turkey every day of the week. In fact, the future of the industry's growth lies in developing new products."

Needless to say, the demand for Koch's turkey products has mushroomed recently. Last year he remodeled an old building previously used to process turkeys and converted it into a modern "kitchen" to make new products.

Like most Master Farmer families, they started on a shoestring when they started farming. In the early years he was in partnership with his father, helping with the feed business and taking care of 1500 turkeys plus a laying flock.

When he married in 1953 he received a gift of 23 acres of land adjoining the home farm. He had $500 in savings. "My father said chickens and turkeys should not be raised together, so I moved to my new farm with the 1500 turkeys and started my business," he says.

Over the next 20 years they concentrated their efforts on producing more turkeys and adding to the actual farm operation, including the farm's own milling plant. Pole barns replaced the sun deck method of rearing turkeys. Better meat-type strains were developed.

Turkey production topped 100,000 in 1970. They build a large on-farm freezer and were selling about 20 per cent of their production by bringing processed turkeys back for direct retail sales.

It wasn't until 1973, however, that the idea for a modern processing plant materialized. Included were cold storage for over 150,000 pounds of turkeys and a small, attractive retail store.

"We weren't about to handle all of the marketing so we arranged with well-known poultry marketer, Horace Longacre, to do a lot of the selling for us," Koch points out.

About 85 per cent of the processed birds are sold through Longacre's Poultry. The remainder is sold through the Master Farmer's own direct sales outlets. That includes on-farm sales through the store as well as various provision companies that act as food brokers in the New York City area.

Presently, the Kochs start brooding turkey poults in February and finish by the end of July. Early poults are started in batteries then transferred to pole barns. Later-hatched birds are brooded in the pole barns. The first birds are processed in July; the operation continues until February 1.

Lowell R. Koch of Tamaqua R1, has been named to receive the Master Farmer Degree. The turkey grower earned this title through his expertise in managing a highly successful production and marketing enterprise.

To feed the large turkey production, the Master Farmer grows 260 acres of corn. He owns 371 acres and rents another 115.

The farm operation was diversified recenlty with the purchase of another farm where he is starting a herd of Charolais beef cattle. The herd numbers 26 brood cows, their calves, and their bulls.

Keeping good hired help on the farm has always been important to Koch. He delegates responsibility and, when possible, provides employee residences. There are 14 full time workers but seasonal work swells the number to 58.

The Master Farmer also is involved in farm and civic organizations. He holds membership in the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, Pennsylvania Farmers Association, National Turkey Federation, and served as president of the Pennsylvania Turkey Federation

In addition, he is a member of the Tamaqua Chamber of Commerce and Masons. He served as secretary of the Walker Township Planning Commission and was a director of the Pennsylvania National Bank and Lakewood Telephone Exchange.

Other Master Farmers named are Charles C. Brosius, of West Grove R2; Donald V. Seipt, of Easton R4; Christian F. Wolff, Jr., of Millville R1; Abram C. Barley, of Washington Boro R1; and John E. Barley, of Conestoga R2.

Vegetable soup, fried mushrooms added to Farm Show menu

By KENDACE BORRY

HARRISBURG - There were two new food stands at the Farm Show this year, one that offered vegetable soup, and the other which served fried mushrooms.

Located in the exhibit area next to the main exhibition hall, the stands were run by the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers Association and the Mushroom Growers Association of Chester County.

Speaking for the vegetable growers, Ruby Grob, Lancaster County, Farm Show committee chairman for the stand, stated that there were several reasons for the booth.

"We want to promote the idea that vegetable production is important in Pennsylvania," he stated. "The stand also calls attention to the Pa. Vegetable Growers Association and its purposes. And the money raised here will be used to further support Penn State's efforts in vegetable research and Extension work."

He added that in the past, the vegetable growers group had supported such things as the research in developing the Penn-Crisp celery variety and studying pumpkin spoilage.

On Tuesday alone, he noted, 1000 bowls of the soup were sold. As of Wednesday morning, this brought the total to 305 gallons of soup which had been bought by visitors to the Farm Show.

Grob told that a "good old home" recipe was used for the soup, which had been made and frozen for the group the week before the Farm Show. Then the soup was taken to the Farm Show, where it was cooked, and finally, "good-tasting" final ingredients were added for that special flavor.

Visitors to the Farm Show found vegetable soup and fried mushrooms offered to appease their appetites. This was the first year that either were seen at the Farm Show.

Ingredients for the soup include beef and broth, potatoes, tomatoes, tomato juice, tomato puree, carrots, sweet corn, cabbage, lima beans, green beans, peas, celery, green peppers, onions, parsley, and seasonings.

Grob thought that the "soup" and all the voluntary workers that manned the stand will be back next year at the Farm Show again.

Next door at the mushroom stand, Mrs. Robert Ferranto was busy selling fried breaded mushrooms. She and her husband were in charge of the stand for the mushroom growers.

She told that they offered a breaded fried mushroom with a special Italian seasoning in the breading. And the response to the stand, she termed "great".

As of Wednesday morning, she estimated that 400 pounds of mushrooms had been sold.

All of the mushrooms came from Chester County. They were processed and frozen in Kennett Square and then brought to the Farm Show where they were fried.

"People tell us that they smell the aroma of the mushrooms," she laughingly told. "We're really overwhelmed at the response. She said that they also sold fresh mushrooms to those that wanted them.

She also stated that she thought that the mushroom stand would be back at the Farm Show in the future years.

Pinesedge Farm victorious with Shorthorns

HARRISBURG - Family members of Pinesdege Farm, Shoemakersville, Berks County, captured five of six titles in Milking Shorthorn judging competition at the 63rd Farm Show.

The grand and senior champion, "Pinesedge Melody," an aged cow, was exhibited by Nedra Jo Yoder. Reserve grand champion, an aged cow, "Pinesedge Lorrie," was shown by Samuel G. Yoder. Nedra also showed the reserve junior champion, "Pinesedge G. K. Kizzi," a senior yearling.

James Young, of Newville R1, Cumberland County, exhibited the junior champion, "Three Springs G. K. Irma," a heifer calf.

Pinesedge Farms also captured the premier exhibited and premier breeder awards.

In the youth division, Nedra Jo Yoder, won with the Melody cow. The animal also was judged the senior champion.

Frederick R. Yoder exhibited the reserve grand and reserve senior champion, "Pinesedge Caesar's Coed, an aged cow.

Miss Yoder also showed the junior champion, "Pinesedge G. K. Kizzi," a senior yearling.

Pinesedge Farm once again dominated the Milking Shorthorn Show at the Farm Show. With Nedra Yoder, owner of the grand champion cow are friends, Chuck, 7, and Mark, 4, the sons of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Evans, Jr. of Pine Grove.

Fruit winners picked

Mowry shows champion Holstein

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Bedford County dairyman Ken Mowry who four years ago had the world champion milk producer, added another feather to his cap Monday afternoon when one of his animals was judged grand champion of the Holstein ring event at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. He was also named premier exhibitor of the contest, which was smaller this year due to new Farm Show arrangements and boycotts by some showmen who have made appearances in other years.

Mowry's grand champion was Bel-Aura Happy Elm Tree, an aged cow. She bested an animal led into the ring by Lancaster Countian J. Mowery Frey Jr., who had the reserve grand champion She was Van FL Ormsby B Buttercup, also an aged cow.

Named junior champion in the contest was Dragon Trimme Lillian, owned and exhibited by Michael Miller of

Linglestown. M. Thomas Sheaffer of Carlisle R5 showed the reserve junior champion, Rhoda Arlinda Chief.

This year marked only the fourth time that Mowry entered the Farm Show contest. He noted that he came away with identical honors in 1957, when he made his debut here. He has been a regular competitor since 1977, with son, Steve, handling many of the show circuit responsibilities. They make their home near Roaring Springs, where they operate 650 acres of farmland and have 190 milk cows.

Coming to the show with six registered Holsteins, Mowry came away with a first and fourth place in the 2-year old class, a third and fourth in the 3-year old contest, and a first and fourth in aged cows.

His champion cow, he noted, stood fifth in the 4-year old class at the Pennsylvania All-American last September. She had the third best udder at that show. She was chosen as the best uddered bovine at the Farm Show.

Winning the premier breeder banner this year were Marvin and Timothy Brown of Littlestown R3.

In the youth division, Paul Brownlee of Avella R1, Washington County, exhibited the grand and senior champion, Brownlee Eden ISF Phlame, a 4-year old. The reserve banner was won by J. Michael Miller of Linglestown who showed Great-View Boots Joy, a 3-year old. He also showed the junior champion in both open and youth divisions. Reserve junior champion was Astronaut Jennie, a heifer calf shown by Cindy Hohl of Glenmoore, Chester County

Following are the class placings of the open and youth shows.

Calves

1. Cindy Hohl, Glenmoore; 2. David Bomgardner, Annville; 3. Ralph Moore, Mercer; 4. Kevin Laughman, Thomasville; 5. Raymond Helman, Chambersburg; 6 Jim and Susan Howe, Warriors Mark; 7. Galen Crouse, Stevens; 8. J and H. Foster, Petersburg; 9. Paul Horning, Stevens; 10. Raymond Helman. Youth show: First four placings same as above, then as follows· 5. John Frey,

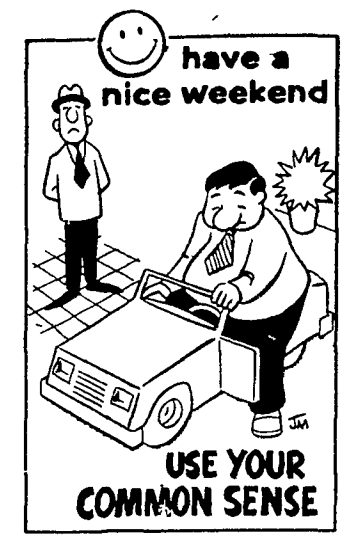
Cowden said the judges will be looking for motion or activity, which their exhibit no longer has. Also taken into consideration will be the message and the way in which it is expressed and the neatness of the exhibit.

The Manheim Chapter chose pork, Cowden said, because "w[illegible]did what the kids thou[illegible]would [illegible]e easiest. We [illegible]rted just three weeks before the Ephrata Fair so we had to work fast. We try to tell a story to the public." He said the Manheim display is usually a project of the juniors.

Both exhibits got their finishing touches this past week before traveling to Harrisburg. The local chapters hope that "pork" will be a winning theme for at least one of them.

Barry Geib, Manheim R4, Jim Hess, Lititz R6; and Jeff Rohrer, Lititz R6; work together to put the finishing touches on the Manheim FFA Chapter's window display which will be judged next week at the Farm Show. All three are sophomores at Manheim Central High School.



Wool and lamb producers to expand promotion efforts

NEW YORK, N.Y. – Wool and lamb producers will use a larger share of their federal wool incentive payments for sales promotion and advertising under a new four-year agreement signed by the American Sheep Producers Council, Inc and the U S Department of Agriculture

Under the agreement, deductions from producer wool incentive payments for shorn wool marketed in 1978 will be increased to 2-1/2 cents from 1-1/2 cents per pound Deductions for lambs marketed unshorn will be raised to 12-1/2 cents from 7-1/2 cents per hundredweight.

The agreement was approved by producers in a referendum taken from Aug 21 to Sept. 1

John C. Pierce of the Department's Agricultural Marketing Service said deduction rates for marketing years 1979-81 will be set each year by the Council and the Department, but cannot exceed rates in effect for 1978 marketings.

The money will be used for sales promotion and advertising and also to develop and disseminate information on product quality, production management, and marketing improvement.

Wool champions named

HARRISBURG – George Hunter of Stoneboro R2, Mercer County, exhibited both the grand and reserve grand champion fine and one-half blood fleeces at the 63rd Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Champion medium wool fleece was exhibited by Kenneth W. Staver and Family of Palmyra R1, Dauphin County.

The best County wool exhibit was entered by the Lawrence County Sheep and Wool Growers Association

STIHL® 020AVP.
THE PROFESSIONAL SAW FOR WEIGHT WATCHERS.

The Stihl® 020AVP delivers more power with less weight than any other comparable saw on the market. On top of that it'll last longer and hold up better.

So before you buy somebody else's saw by the pound, buy the 020AVP by the ounce. You'll get a lot more saw for the money. And a lot less weight with Stihl.

FFA convention held

HARRISBURG – The Honorable Dr. Caryl M. Kline, Secretary of Education for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, was the speaker at the 50th Annual FFA Convention on Wednesday, in the Forum of the Education Building in Harrisburg. The convention was held in conjunction with the 63rd Annual Pennsylvania Farm Show.

As an added highlight of the 50th convention, the National FFA President, Mark Sanborn from Ohio, spoke to the members.

The convention opened with a concert by the State FFA Band under the direction of Dr. Ned Deihl, Pennsylvania State University. In addition, men, women, girls and boys who have achieved unusual distinction in agriculture and rural life received the highest honor the state FFA can confer on an individual.

In appreciation for assistance they have given to the FFA, the officers conferred Honorary Keystone Degrees upon 25 business persons, school administrators, and teachers of agriculture; parents of the 11 state officers; and 13 sets of parents who have three or more sons or daughters who have earned the Keystone Degree. Seven organizations and businesses received special citations in recognition of their support of FFA.

From its own blue-jacketed ranks the state FFA selected 334 members to receive the highest state degree, the "Keystone Farmer Degree," which may be conferred upon only two and one half per cent of its membership in a year's time.

Farm population up on large farms

WASHINGTON, D.C. – While total farm population is declining, more people are living on the larger farms which produce the bulk of the nation's food and fiber, according to a study released Dec. 27 by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Although the total farm population declined during the 1970-75 study, the number of people living on farms with annual sales greater than $40,000 increased by 76 per cent.

A substantial but undertermined part of this increase was associated with inflation of farm product prices during the period. The farms with over $40,000 in sales account for about 80 per cent of total U.S. farm receipts but only 24 per cent of the U.S. farm population.

Banks said in 1975 farms with under $2,500 in annual sales contained a third of the U.S. farm population, or about 2.8 million. This compares with 3.6 million in 1970. Operators of these farms usually earn most of their money income from off-farm sources.

In 1975, two-thirds of the total U.S. farm popualtion lived on livestock and cash-grain farms.

Hoffman formulas are the modern, practical approach to getting bigger crops of high-quality forage. They combine and blend leading varieties of grasses and legumes to give you broad spectrum performance. Help you still make a good crop when adverse weather strikes . . . when soils or climate conditions are less than the best. Or when disease is a problem. And their built-in high yield potential really blossoms under good conditions.

Every one of the 14 Hoffman formulas is designed to produce top results for specific uses under northeastern conditions. See your Hoffman Seed Man, or write for a copy of our new catalog.

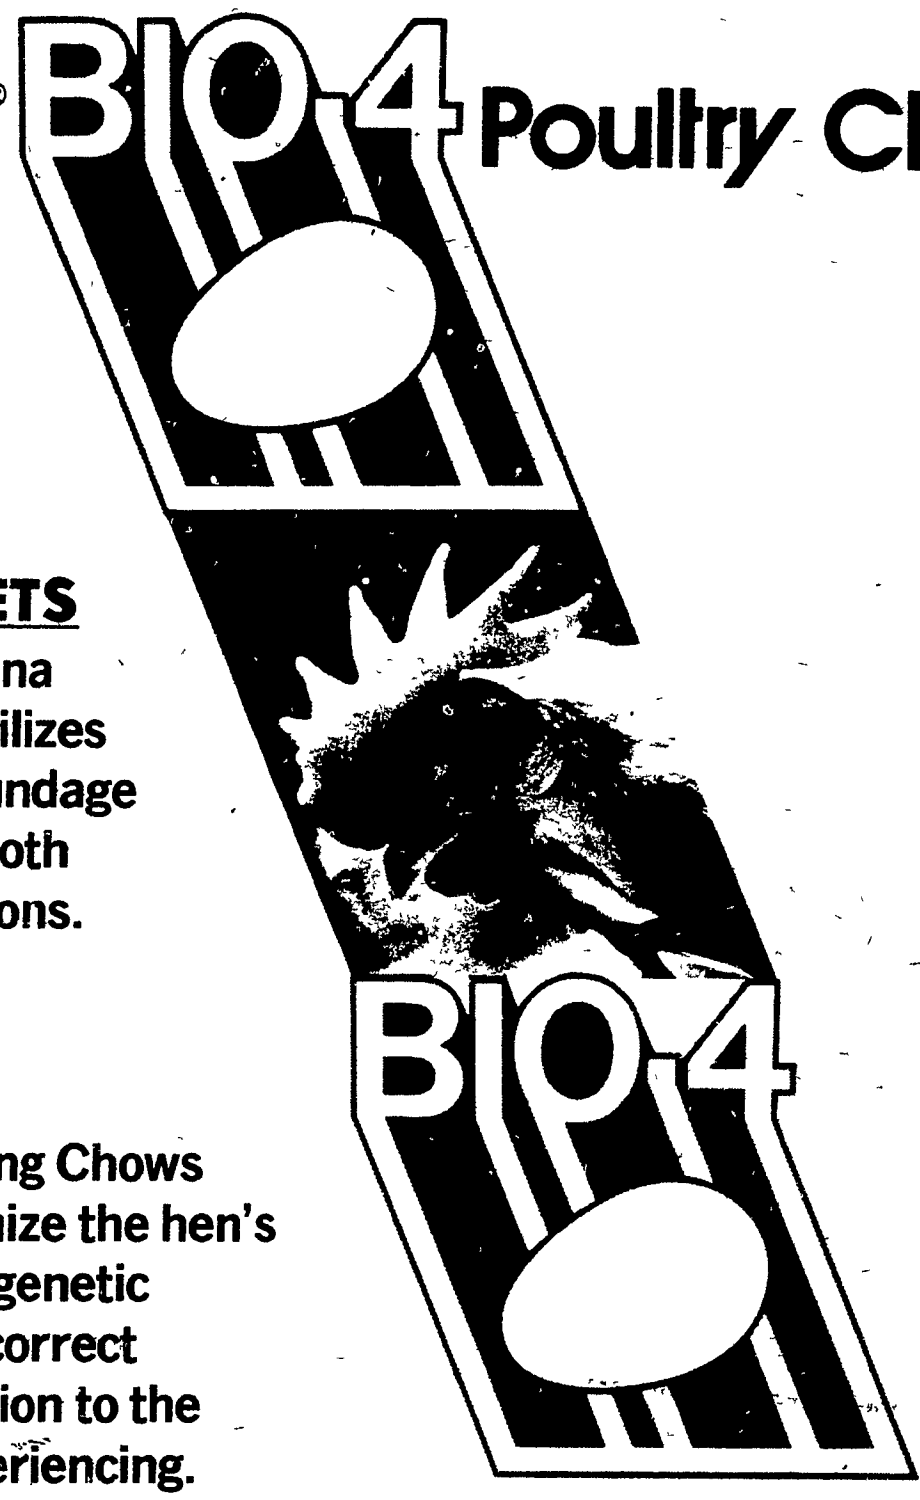
New Purina® BIO-4 Poultry Chows



PURINA BIO-4 FEEDING OF PULLETS

The new improved Purina pullet feeding program utilizes new time periods and poundage guides for pullets under both normal and stress conditions.

PURINA BIO-4 LAYING CHOWS

Purina's new Bio-4 Laying Chows are now designed to optimize the hen's ability to lay at or near its genetic capacity by matching the correct biologically formulated ration to the feed intake the hen is experiencing.

BETTER PERFORMANCE

Purina Research studies, based on parallel comparison tests of the new Bio-4 Poultry Chows against our own highly efficient LC Poultry Chow rations, produced the following results:

1. Better feed conversions.
2. Better income potential through lower feed costs per pullet and per dozen eggs.
3. Better opportunity to optimize egg production, size and shell quality.
4. Better precision formulations to the bird's exacting needs.

It's the poultry ration you've been looking for.
